COTTON BOUNTY PLAN ACCEPTED AS COMPROMISE

President Roosevelt And Southern Senators Patch Up Differences

BANKHEAD THINKS PRICE TO STABILIZE AT 9 CENTS

Proposal Would Leave All New Crop In Free Channels Of Trade

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt and southern senators patched up their quarrel over a cotton export subsidy today by agreeing on a bounty of about two cents a pound on both raw cotton and manufactured cotton goods sold abroad.

Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, who served as peacemaker in the dispute that threatened to deadlock senate action on all farm legislation, announced the compromise agreement after a secret conference of the senate cotton bloc.

He said the subsidy would be used in an endeavor to sell [illegible] this year's cotton crop and cotton outside the government's loan stocks.

President Roosevelt had suggested a subsidy to reduce the more than 11,000,000 bales of staple piled up under government loans, but southern senators contended this might lower the market for this year's crop.

"The revised program is a practical operation of the cotton export subsidy announced by the president," Bankhead said.

"The present plan will leave all new crop cotton in free channels of trade," Bankhead said. "I feel certain that the domestic price for this season will be stabilized at around nine cents a pound."

This price level, he added, would cause growers to market their new crop instead of putting it up as collateral for government loans of about eight cents a pound.

Being directed primarily at moving the new crop into world channels, the compromise plan would leave unsolved the question of what to do with the huge quantities of cotton piled up under government loans.

STANLEY HEADS LOUISIANA BAR

Body Adopts Resolution Condemning Persecution Of Minorities

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 22—(AP)—Eugene Stanley, former Orleans parish district attorney, was elected president of the Louisiana State Bar association at the close of its convention today.

Pike Hall of Shreveport was chosen vice-president, and W. W. Young of New Orleans was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The concluding session was featured by adoption of a resolution condemning persecution of minorities and denial of personal rights in totalitarian states, and an address by Frank J. Hogan, Washington, D. C., president of the American Bar association.

Mr. Hogan warned against "a whittling away of some of the bill of rights of the United States constitution.

"This has been going on under Democratic and Republican administrations," he said. "It is the duty of lawyers to stand against this whittling process."

Mr. Hogan contended that lawyers have not lost the confidence of the American people, and declared that the president of the United States, six members of the cabinet, 30 of the 48 governors, 71 of the 98 United States senators, and 258 of the 435 representatives are lawyers.

Every attorney should have three outstanding qualities, he said, listing them as "utter fidelity to the cause of a client, without fear of criticism, a genuine desire to see justice administered under the law, and a burning passion for human liberty."

The resolution adopted read in part, "The Louisiana State Bar association, as an organization of lawyers dedi-

2,000 STUDENTS TO TAKE TO AIR

Mass Experiment May Become Model For Nationwide Flying Program

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 22—(AP)—Nearly 2,000 high school students—boys and girls—will take to the air here next week in a unique chapter in aeronautical education.

With national attention centering on a defense movement to train college students to fly, this mass experiment may become a model for a nationwide program [illegible] younger.

The high school program was developed by Thomas H. Beck of Crowell Publishing company of New York and Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc.

Its announced purpose is to educate the nation's youth to modern air development and to direct youthful interests [illegible] as a career.

The project is designed to give the students a [illegible] school course, then actual flying experience aboard a modern air liner. It will be the first time all [illegible] virtually all the youths.

The project was endorsed by school authorities, the Civil Aeronautics authority, and the department of interior.

During the past week pilots and members of the air line's flying personnel have lectured in school rooms.

On Monday the students will start a series of half-hour flights from the municipal airport in a fully-manned Douglas 21-passenger plane. On radio ear-phones they will hear flight orders to the pilot and the sound of the radio beam.

The flights will continue until all students have had their allotted period aloft.

John W. Vale, educational director of the air line, asserted the reaction among students had been "astonishing."

Airport offices have been deluged with telephone calls for information on ships, engines, and in many cases advanced technical questions, he added.

ROOSEVELT BARELY ESCAPES COLLISION

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt narrowly escaped an automobile collision today as he motored, without police escort, back from a Virginia trip.

The incident occurred near Fort Myer, Va., at the outskirts of the capital. The president's car had stopped at an intersection, then started nosing ahead when a motorist shot across at high speed within a few feet of the Roosevelt car.

Secret service men, traveling in another car behind the president, waved and shouted at the driver but he failed to halt.

Because Mr. Roosevelt was traveling as a private citizen (he had made a visit to his son, Franklin, Jr., at Charlottesville, Va.) he requested that the usual police motorcycle escort not be used.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22—(AP)—The southern regional research laboratory at New Orleans, ready for use some time next year, will seek more extended use for the south's greatest crops such as cotton, sweet potatoes and peanuts.

That was announced today to the final session of the Louisiana Academy of Sciences convention here by Colonel H. P. Newton, technical assistant to Dr. F. J. Lynch, laboratory director.

"The public must not expect results too quickly," Newton said. "Research has moved slowly and the laboratory staff will have to work as hard and fast as it can to show any appreciable results. You may rest assured that our work will be directed toward means of finding markets in industry for the things the farmer grows."

He said a small technical staff of project leaders in formulating a research program is being assembled so there will be no lost motion when the laboratory, created by congress in 1937, is completed.

Democrats And Republicans Get Revealing Glimpses Of How Struggles Over 1940 Nominations Are Shaping Up

Senator Taft's Chances Strongly Influenced By Several Speeches

By Kirke L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—Republicans and Democrats alike got new and revealing glimpses this week of how the struggles within their parties over the 1940 presidential nominations are shaping up.

A "young Democrat" rally gave President Roosevelt an opportunity to strike back sharply at his party critics in congress and raise a "no compromise" standard over New Deal Democratic trenches. It spurred renewed speculation as to third term implications and further accented the row within Democratic ranks over both recovery policy and control of party machinery next year.

Under management of a Republican congressional steering committee, a series of "march to 1940" dinners got off to a delayed start with Senator Robert Taft of Ohio in the spotlight. The speech to this assembly, coupled with his two "off-the-record" addresses within the week, gave opportunity for an extraordinary gathering of party leaders, state and national, and also an important cross section of American newspaper publishers and editors to see him in action and weigh his 1940 availability.

What their consensus was is not of record. However, Taft, who was hailed at the time of his election last year as a potential Republican nominee was subjected to a more critical and grueling test than has been faced by any other possible 1940 candidate, excepting always President Roosevelt.

In part at least, it was accident that contrived Taft's triple appearance in less than a week and each time before a political minded and highly critical audience. But for a hotel strike in Washington, the Republican dinner would have been held some weeks ago. Its postponement and Taft's acceptance of an invitation to address the Gridiron dinner last Saturday "off the record" brought those two events close together. His third speech, also "off the record," was last night before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

President Roosevelt's renewed advice to dissenting Democrats to conform to New Deal policies or get out of the party made his letter to the young Democrat rally the major political topic of the week. It brought defiant rejoinders from some of the dissenters. That it intensified the battle between the president and party oppositionists for domination of the 1940 Democratic convention goes without saying.

Yet the unparalleled experience of Senator Taft attracted almost as much political attention as did the new Democratic [illegible]. Veterans of politics could [illegible] when a much-talked-of potential candidate for president ever was put through his political paces [illegible] before like audiences almost at the outset of his presidential [illegible].

There can be no doubt that Senator Taft's 1940 chances were strongly influenced. By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, April 22—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler was engaged today in a bold strategic move in a diplomatic game to checkmate President Roosevelt in preparation for a momentous address next Friday before the reichstag.

The man of surprises and secrets changed his customary tactics by making a series of public moves—that is, moves which were bound to come to the attention of the public in foreign countries.

He asked two pointed questions of a number of nations included in the list of 31 named by President Roosevelt in his appeal to Hitler and Premier Mussolini for pledges of non-aggression.

Hitler asked Europe's smaller nations whether they felt themselves menaced by Germany and whether they had advance knowledge of the Roosevelt move.

As seen by his followers, the fuehrer thus posed painstaking research and questioning, on which a considered opinion could be based, against President Roosevelt's action which these followers considered impulsive, secret in its inception and lacking in psychological understanding of the European situation.

(Reports from outside Germany indicated that carefully worded negative answers to the questionnaire were sent or drafted for transmission to

WPA FUNDS FOR PARISH OKAYED

$71,633 Allotted For Maintenance And Creation Of Sewing Rooms

A WPA project to maintain and operate sewing rooms throughout Ouachita parish, with an allotment of $71,633, has been approved in Washington, it was announced yesterday by J. Lloyd Warren, president of the Ouachita parish police jury, sponsor of the project.

Mr. Warren was advised of the approval in a telegram from Senator Allen J. Ellender, as follows: "Pleased to advise your project No. 30,472 for maintenance and operation parishwide sewing rooms has been designated as acceptable for inclusion in WPA program. Project now eligible for operation at discretion state administrator. Allotment $71,633."

Mr. Warren expressed pleasure at the success of the police jury in obtaining the appropriation. He said federal funds for operation of the sewing rooms had recently been curtailed, thus making it necessary for the parish to spend ever-increasing appropriations for maintenance of the projects. Now the rooms will be operated at maximum efficiency, he said.

Work includes making cloth toys, rag rugs and other household articles, using scrap materials. The products will be distributed free of charge to charitable institutions or to the needy, it was said.

The project will provide employment for many women throughout the parish, it was announced.

Proposal Would Leave All New Crop In Free Channels Of Trade

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and southern senators patched up their quarrel over a cotton export subsidy today by agreeing on a bounty of about two cents a pound on both raw cotton and manufactured cotton goods sold abroad.

Senator Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, who served as peacemaker in the dispute that threatened to deadlock senate action on all farm legislation, announced the compromise agreement after a secret conference of the senate cotton bloc.

He said the subsidy would be used in an endeavor to sell first this year's cotton crop and cotton outside the government's loan stocks.

President Roosevelt had suggested a subsidy to reduce the more than 11,000,000 bales of staple piled up under government loans, but southern senators contended this might lower the market for this year's crop.

"The revised program is a practical operation of the cotton export subsidy announced by the president," Bankhead said.

"Our present plan will leave all new crop cotton in free channels of trade," Bankhead said. "I feel certain that the domestic price for this season will be stabilized at around nine cents a pound."

This price level, he added, would cause growers to market their new crop instead of putting it up as collateral for government loans of about eight cents a pound.

Being directed primarily at moving the new crop into world channels, the compromise plan would leave unsolved the question of what to do with the huge quantities of cotton piled up under government loans.

Pike Hall of Shreveport was chosen vice-president, and W. W. Young of New Orleans was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The concluding session was featured by adoption of a resolution condemning persecution of minorities and denial of personal rights in totalitarian states, and an address by Frank J. Hogan, Washington, D. C., president of the American Bar association.

Mr. Hogan warned against "a whittling away of some of the bill of rights of the United States constitution.

P.-T. A. MEETING COMES TO CLOSE

Dr. Charles Knudson Of George Peabody College Is Chief Speaker Saturday

The fourth and final general session of the 16th annual convention of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association was held in the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium Saturday at 9:30 a.m., with a large attendance.

The chief speaker was Dr. Charles Knudson, of George Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., who took for his theme: "In Defense of Youth." He declared that the seven million students in secondary schools should be given vocational training and prepared for their life work properly and that the task is too great for the states of the south to perform unaided and that the federal government should step in and see that needed finances are obtained.

His address was one of the outstanding ones of the entire convention and was listened to with deepest attention.

He stated at the outset that he obtained much of his information from the findings of the American Youth commission. This commission, he said, has pointed out fundamental needs as follows:

1. The need for equalized educational opportunities.
2. The need for employment.
3. The need for economic security.

AIR FORCE LOSS HEAVY AS FOUR AIRPLANES FALL

NATION CONTINUES DRIVE FOR STRONGER DEFENSE

Increase Ordered In Small Fighting Ships And Auxiliary Vessels

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—France, pushing her defense preparations at top speed, suffered a heavy blow today with an overnight series of air force crashes involving the deaths of 20 fliers and the loss of four war planes.

The air ministry began a far-flung investigation of the crashes.

Air Minister Guy La Chambre assigned two of his highest assistants, Lieutenant-Colonel Sylvestre Tavera and Flight Commander Gabriel David, to conduct inquiries at Tours and Beauvais, where two of the crashes occurred. An air officer in French Morocco was ordered to investigate a third crash, near El Aioun.

La Chambre has been struggling for months to raise France's plane strength to a level somewhere near that of Germany and Italy.

All four planes lost were French-made. A large number of war planes purchased in the United States still are undergoing tests to adapt them for French service and fuel.

Preliminary reports indicated no sabotage was involved in the accidents.

Meanwhile France went ahead with defense steps. The government ordered work rushed in a new naval base at Mers-El-Kebir, on the Allegrain coast opposite Spain, and, fol-

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace tonight endorsed President Roosevelt's plan for world peace, quoting Thomas Jefferson as saying that "continued peace depends not merely on our own justice and prudence but on that of others also."

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual Jefferson dinner of the National Democratic club, Wallace discussed national affairs and then turned to "what is happening beyond our borders."

KILLER OF FATHER MUST STAY IN JAIL

WIGGINS, Miss., April 22.—(AP)—Seventeen-year-old Oyt Bond today faced a long wait in jail under charges of killing his father and burning down his home.

District Attorney R. C. Cowan said that although murder and arson charges were filed today the boy would have to stay in jail until the next grand jury meeting in July because a murder charge is unbailable in Mississippi.

County Attorney Wyatt C. Batson said the boy, complaining "there had been no family harmony lately and I thought this was my chance to get even," related in a signed confession that he returned from a party Thursday midnight, entered the bedroom of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bond, and battered them with a chair post.

The mother, beaten unconscious, revived and escaped from the flaming house. The father's chared body, the skull fractured, was found in the ashes.

Officers said the boy couldn't remember whether he had set the building afire.

Mrs. Bond, slowly recovering, said that when her son entered the bedroom she thought he was "coming in to kiss us good-night as he did every night."

Man Of Secrets Seeks To Attract Attention Of Other Countries

Rumania Replies She Does Not See How Anyone Could Feel Secure

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, April 22.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler was engaged today in a bold, strategic move in a diplomatic game to checkmate President Roosevelt in preparation for a momentous address next Friday before the reichstag.

The man of surprises and secrets changed his customary tactics by making a series of public moves—that is, moves which were bound to come to the attention of the public in foreign countries.

He asked two pointed questions of a number of nations included in the list of 31 named by President Roosevelt in his appeal to Hitler and Premier Mussolini for pledges of nonaggression.

Hitler asked Europe's smaller nations whether they felt themselves menaced by Germany and whether they had advance knowledge of the Roosevelt move.

As seen by his followers, the fuehrer thus posed painstaking research and questioning, on which a considered opinion could be based, against President Roosevelt's action which these followers considered impulsive, secret in its inception and lacking in psychological understanding of the European situation.

(Reports from outside Germany indicated that carefully worded negative answers to the questionnaire were sent or drafted for transmission to

$71,633 Allotted For Maintenance And Creation Of Sewing Rooms

A WPA project to maintain and operate sewing rooms throughout Ouachita parish, with an allotment of $71,633, has been approved in Washington, it was announced yesterday by J. Lloyd Warren, president of the Ouachita parish police jury, sponsor of the project.

Mr. Warren was advised of the approval in a telegram from Senator Allen J. Ellender, as follows: "Please to advise your project No. 30,472 for maintenance and operation parishwide sewing rooms has been designated as acceptable for inclusion in WPA program. Project now eligible for operation at discretion state administrator. Allotment $71,633."

Mr. Warren expressed pleasure at the success of the police jury in obtaining the appropriation. He said federal funds for operation of the sewing rooms had recently been curtailed, thus making it necessary for the parish to spend ever-increasing appropriations for maintenance of the projects. Now the rooms will be operated at maximum efficiency, he said.

Work includes making cloth toys, rag rugs and other household articles, using scrap materials. The products will be distributed free of charge to charitable institutions or to the needy, it was said.

The project will provide employment for many women throughout the parish, it was announced.

Democrats And Republicans Get Revealing Glimpses Of How Struggles Over 1940 Nominations Are Shaping Up

Senator Taft's Chances Strongly Influenced By Several Speeches

By Kirke L. Simpson

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Republicans and Democrats alike got new and revealing glimpses this week of how the struggles within their parties over the 1940 presidential nominations are shaping up.

A "young Democrat" rally gave President Roosevelt an opportunity to strike back sharply at his party critics in congress and raise a "no compromise" standard over New Deal Democratic trenches. It spurred renewed speculation as to third term implications and further accented the row within Democratic ranks over both recovery policy and control of party machinery next year.

Under management of a Republican congressional steering committee, a series of "march to 1940" dinners got off to a delayed start with Senator Robert Taft of Ohio in the spotlight. The speech to this assembly, coupled with his two "off-the-record" addresses within the week, gave opportunity for an extraordinary gathering of party leaders, state and national, and also an important cross section of American newspaper publishers and editors to see him in action and weigh his 1940 availability.

What their consensus was is not of record. However, Taft, who was hailed at the time of his election last year as a potential Republican nominee, was subjected to a more critical and grueling test than has been faced by any other possible 1940 candidate, excepting always President Roosevelt.

In part at least, it was accident that contrived Taft's triple appearance in less than a week and each time before a political minded and highly critical audience. But for a hotel strike in Washington, the Republican dinner would have been held some weeks ago. Its postponement and Taft's acceptance of an invitation to address the Gridiron dinner last Saturday "off the record" brought those two events close together. His third speech, also "off the record," was last night before the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

President Roosevelt's renewed advice to dissenting Democrats to conform to New Deal policies or get out of the party made his letter to the young Democrat rally the major political topic of the week. It brought defiant rejoinders from some of the dissenters. That it intensified the battle between the president and party oppositionists for domination of the 1940 Democratic convention goes without saying.

Yet the unparalleled experience of Senator Taft attracted almost as much political attention as did the new Democratic internal flareup. Veterans of politics could recall no time when a much-talked-of potential candidate for president ever was put through his political paces in like fashion and before like audiences almost at the outset of his presidential boom.

'Young Democrat' Dinner Gives Roosevelt Opportunity To Strike Back

There can be no doubt that Senator Taft's 1940 chances were strongly influenced. Although only one of his addresses reached the public—that in which he directly charged the Roosevelt administration with "ballyhooing the foreign situation" to cover up domestic policy failures—party leaders and newspaper editors from most of

SHIPPERS OFFER COTTON PROGRAM

Recommends Three-Point Legislative Plan To Afford Immediate Relief

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 22.—(AP)—Southern cotton shippers today recommended a three-point legislative program with the expressed belief it would "afford immediate relief from the cotton situation."

Resolutions adopted at the 24th annual meeting of the Southern Cotton Shippers' association advocated legislation calling for:

"Adjustment payments readily available to producers at time of sale as an alternative for pegged price loans;

"As an emergency measure until the present burdensome loans are disposed of, a minimum allotment for production of 11,000,000 bales annually;

"The release back to the producers from the present loan stocks at a price which will enable them to sell not less than 1,500,000 and not more than 2,500,000 bales in any year."

The resolution urged a halt to the "vacillating policy" of legislators in considering "various and sundry plans proposed in Washington daily, most of which are visionary and impracticable."

The association also urged that the secretary of agriculture "promote the establishment and maintenance of a southwide program for control and prevent boll weevil and other insect infestation of cotton fields."

L. E. Montgomery of Greenwood, Miss., was elected president of the association, composed of southern shipping firms and spot broker members. Other officers included: W. S. Carter of New Orleans and T. J. White of Memphis, vice-presidents; D. H. Crump of Memphis, treasurer; Sam G. Loring of Memphis, secretary and general manager.

Directors chosen were: H. S. Chassanoil of Greenwood, F. G. Marble of Leland, Miss., William C. Connell of Clarksdale, Miss., W. S. Carter, J. E. Gould and L. Ferrier of New Orleans, T. J. White, Fred L. Page and E. D. Hazlehurst of Memphis.

NO MONEY FACED BY COAL MINERS

Most States Agree Unemployment Insurance Won't Be Paid Strikers

(By Associated Press)

Officials of eight soft coal-producing states yesterday ruled tentatively against payment of unemployment insurance benefits to miners who are or may become idle as a result of the deadlock in negotiations for a new labor contract.

Only one state—Pennsylvania, a major producer and stronghold of the United Mine Workers (C. I. O.)—announced that benefits definitely would be paid. Others seemed undecided. In several states, where officials said the law prohibited payments, U. M. W. officials planned appeals from their decisions.

With the work-stoppage in its third week in the eight-state Appalachian region and a shutdown threatened May 5 in 14 outlying states, the soft-coal shortage grew more acute. Small industrial plants with low coal reserves particularly were apprehensive.

Decisions against paying job insurance to miners, of whom there are 338,000 in the Appalachian area and some 150,000 elsewhere, were reported from Illinois, West Virginia, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado, Iowa, Arkansas and Indiana.

Unemployment compensation officials in these states generally said state laws prohibited payments to workers idle because of "strikes" or "labor disputes" or to workers who refused offers of work. Only in Iowa was it said flatly, however, that miners "absolutely will not be paid" if they lose their jobs in a labor dispute.

The miners contend the shutdown was result not from a strike but a work-stoppage caused in the Appalachian area by expiration of a contract and elsewhere by cancellation of contracts on 15 days' notice as provided by the contracts themselves. Operators at the contract negotiations in New York themselves have not called the stoppage a strike.

HOOVER FAVORS TAKING REFUGEES

Urges Congress To Admit 20,000 Children From Germany Into U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover joined a long list of notables today in urging congress to admit 20,000 refugee children from Germany to homes in this country.

A joint congressional committee considering the legislation heard by telegram from the only living former president that he "strongly favors" the proposal.

"No harm and only good can come to a nation by such humane action," Hoover said in the message read by Clarence E. Pickett, of Philadelphia, one of the sponsors of the legislation.

Shortly afterward spokesmen for patriotic organizations opened an attack upon the refugee bill as a violation of immigration standards and as threatening to add to unemployment and relief problems.

Their testimony clashed directly with that of Dorothy Thompson, writer and lecturer; Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York City; and Dean Dudley D. Carroll of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Dean Carroll said that "as a southerner, I feel the south has suffered because it has not been in the tide of immigration."

He said "fine immigrants from Europe" had avoided the south because of industrial and racial problems and this had caused a "stagnation."

"An infusion of new blood would be one of the greatest blessings for the south," he added.

Miss Thompson, modishly-dressed and speaking earnestly, said the refugee bill was "the first intelligently-planned immigration measure in American history."

As a former resident of Germany and Austria, she knew, she said, that the children would come "from the finest stock." Because they would be 14 years or younger, she said they would easily fit into citizenship and customs of this country.

Aside from humanitarian motives, Miss Thompson said "hard boiled" realism pointed to wisdom of the proposal because of the declining birth rate in this country and increasing number of aged persons demanding public help and pensions.

"Someone will have to pay for it," she said. "This country needs energetic young people."

John Thomas Taylor, speaking for the American Legion in opposition to the bill, said the veterans' group favored stopping all immigration for a 10-year period.

He said that under existing laws, it would be possible for refugee children to bring their families to this country after they had grown older and had established themselves here.

HOPKINS LIKELY TO GAIN POWER

May Be Given Voice In Administration Of Some Federal Labor Activities

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—A proposal that Secretary Hopkins have a voice in the administration of some federal labor activities was reported today to have been advanced as part of a general program for revitalizing the commerce department.

Friends of Hopkins said they expected that making the commerce department into a more powerful agency would be one objective of forthcoming government reorganization plans and that in this connection it had been suggested that the department supervise the wage-hour administration, now under the labor department, or that it have jurisdiction over the national labor relations board.

The labor board, at present an independent agency, has been criticized by some members of congress, business men and labor groups. Criticism has been directed at the administration of the labor act as well as at the context of the law itself.

There also have been reports that various government lending agencies would be consolidated and put under the guidance of an expanded commerce department.

In addition to changes in the commerce department, other reorganization possibilities reportedly under consideration include:

1. Concentrating conservation and public works activities in the interior department, including fisheries from commerce, biological survey from agriculture, coast and geodetic survey from commerce, government building activities from treasury, public roads bureau from agriculture and possibly others.

2. Grouping around the social security board as a nucleus other welfare agencies, including the public health service from treasury and the bureau of education from interior.

3. Intra-departmental shifts, such as the definitely proposed merger of the treasury's six law enforcement agencies.

In several states, where officials said the law prohibited payments, U. M. W. officials planned appeals from their decisions.

With the work-stoppage in its third week in the eight-state Appalachian region and a shutdown threatened May 5 in 14 outlying states, the soft-coal shortage grew more acute. Small industrial plants with low coal reserves particularly were apprehensive.

Decisions against paying job insurance to miners, of whom there are 338,000 in the Appalachian area and some 150,000 elsewhere, were reported from Illinois, West Virginia, Utah, New Mexico, Colorado, Iowa, Arkansas and Indiana.

Unemployment compensation officials in these states generally said state laws prohibited payments to workers idle because of "strikes" or "labor disputes" or to workers who refused offers of work. Only in Iowa was it said flatly, however, that miners "absolutely will not be paid" if they lose their jobs in a labor dispute.

The miners contend the shutdowns result not from a strike but a work-stoppage caused in the Appalachian area by expiration of a contract and elsewhere by cancellation of contracts on 15 days' notice as provided by the contracts themselves. Operators at the contract negotiations in New York themselves have not called the stoppage a strike.

HOOVER FAVORS TAKING REFUGEES

Urges Congress To Admit 20,000 Children From Germany Into U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover joined a long list of notables today in urging congress to admit 20,000 refugee children from Germany to homes in this country.

A joint congressional committee considering the legislation heard by telegram from the only living former president that he "strongly favors" the proposal.

"No harm and only good can come to a nation by such humane action," Hoover said in the message read by Clarence E. Pickett, of Philadelphia, one of the sponsors of the legislation.

Shortly afterward spokesmen for patriotic organizations opened an attack upon the refugee bill as a violation of immigration standards and as threatening to add to unemployment and relief problems.

Their testimony clashed directly with that of Dorothy Thompson, writer and lecturer; Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York City; and Dean Dudley D. Carroll of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Dean Carroll said that "as a southerner, I feel the south has suffered because it has not been in the tide of immigration."

He said "fine immigrants from Europe" had avoided the south because of industrial and racial problems and this had caused a "stagnation."

"An infusion of new blood would be one of the greatest blessings for the south," he added.

Miss Thompson, modishly-dressed and speaking earnestly, said the refugee bill was "the first intelligently-planned immigration measure in Amercan history."

As a former resident of Germany and Austria, she knew, she said, that the children would come "from the finest stock." Because they would be 14 years or younger, she said they would easily fit into citizenship and customs of this country.

Aside from humanitarian motives, Miss Thompson said "hard boiled" realism pointed to wisdom of the proposal because of the declining birth rate in this country and increasing number of aged persons demanding public help and pensions.

"Someone wlil have to pay for it," she said. "This country needs energetic young people."

John Thomas Taylor, speaking for the American Legion in opposition to the bill, said the veterans' group favored stopping all immigration for a 10-year period.

He said that under existing laws, it would be possible for refugee children to bring their families to this country after they had grown older and had established themselves here.

HOPKINS LIKELY TO GAIN POWER

May Be Given Voice In Administration Of Some Federal Labor Activities

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—A proposal that Secretary Hopkins have a voice in the administration of some federal labor activities was reported today to have been advanced as part of a general program for revitalizing the commerce department.

Friends of Hopkins said they expected that making the commerce department into a more powerful agency would be one objective of forthcoming government reorganization plans and that in this connection it had been suggested that the department supervise the wage-hour administration, now under the labor department, or that it have jurisdiction over the national labor relations board.

The labor board, at present an independent agency, has been criticized by some members of congress, business men and labor groups. Criticism has been directed at the administration of the labor act as well as at the context of the law itself.

There also have been reports that various government lending agencies would be consolidated and put under the guidance of an expanded commerce department.

In addition to changes in the commerce department, other reorganization possibilities reportedly under consideration include:

1. Concentrating conservation and public works activities in the interior department, including fisheries from commerce, biological survey from agriculture, coast and geodetic survey from commerce, government building activities from treasury, public roads bureau from agriculture and possibly others.

2. Grouping around the social security board as a nucleus other welfare agencies, including the public health service from treasury and the bureau of education from interior.

3. Intra-departmental shifts, such as the definitely proposed merger of the treasury's six law enforcement agencies.

FRANKIE PARKER GIVEN TWO YEARS

One-Time 'Airplane Bootlegger' Also Sentenced To Pay Fine Of $10,000

CHICAGO, April 22.—(AP)—Another government victory in an extensive anti-counterfeiting drive which began in New Jersey four years ago was recorded today when Frankie Parker, once known as the "airplane bootlegger," was sentenced to two years in federal prison and fined $10,000 on a charge of conspiring to pass spurious $20 bills.

The dapper 43-year-old survivor of the bootleg wars of prohibition days, convicted April 14 with August Englehardt, received the maximum penalty from Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward, who ruled Parker was inadmissible to bond, despite his announced intention of an appeal. Englehardt was sentenced to concurrent terms of six years and six months on one count of possession of counterfeit money and two years on another count of conspiracy.

Englehardt was brought here from Terminal island, near Los Angeles, where he was serving an 18-month sentence on another counterfeiting charge, and the court ruled the new sentences should also run concurrently with the previous term.

The Chicago trial stemmed from the discovery last January of a cache of $17,800 in counterfeit bills which federal agents dug up from a Chicago golf course and which they said were identical with those produced by a gang headed by "Count" Victor Lustig, a notorious counterfeiter, whose plant at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., was raided in 1935.

Lustic is serving a 20-year sentence at Alcatraz for counterfeiting. Since the raid on his plant 485 persons have been arrested in connection with the case and $3,500,000 in counterfeit money has been recovered.

Parker is now on trial with George (Bugs) Moran, former gang leader, and two others, on state charges of conspiracy to counterfeit and pass travelers' checks.

He was just recovering today from a previous oil well accident in which his side was ruptured.

Unconscious today, he was unable to tell what happened to him at the well.

FORMULATE PLANS FOR COTTON WEEK

Unify Action For Promoting Annual National Observance May 22-27

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 22.—(Special)—A solid front is being presented by cotton forces this year for the first time in history in promoting observance of National Cotton week, May 22-27, agencies cooperating in sponsoring the program declared jubilantly today.

Cotton men ranging from the farmer who grows the staple to the retail merchant who sells the finished product are going forward in the best organized cotton sales event yet launched, officials asserted.

Optimistic expressions are coming from leaders of the National Cotton council, the Cotton Textile institute, the Cotton Consumption council, the National Retail Dry Goods association, the National Association of Food chains, the Wholesale Dry Goods institute, chains affiliated with the Institute of Distribution, and the National Association of Chain Drug stores.

Saul Cohn, president of the dry goods association, pointed out that "a quickening national consciousness of 13 million bales of cotton demanding outlet into the channels of domestic and foreign consumption sets National Cotton week into dramatic relief for 1939.

"The country realizes that something drastic and effective must be done to relieve this huge surplus. National Cotton week can go a long way toward breaking the present jam."

"Cotton week this year offers a real opportunity," declared Henry Matter, executive secretary of the Wholesale Dry Goods institute. "Wholesale dry goods houses will make every effort to promote the sale of cotton goods and to assist 250,000 merchants in utilizing cotton week."

John A. Logan, president of the National Association of Food chains, in pledging his organization's aid, declared that an effort will be made by the 27,000 chain stores to dramatize National Cotton week for ten million daily customers.

In addition to sponsoring National Cotton week, the National Cotton council of America is playing a leading role in sending forth the flying emissary for cotton, Miss Alice Hall, Memphis beauty queen, in connection with the Memphis Cotton Carnival association.

Miss Hall, known as the "Maid of Cotton," [illegible] has begun her air tour, which includes visits to 22 principal cities and the world fairs at both San Francisco and New York City.

Among other things, the News-Star-World candid camera campaign has shown the large number of visitors that do business in Monroe every day. A large share of those who are photographed daily by the cameraman are from neighboring cities, according to the addresses to which pictures are being mailed. Above is one of the many that are getting a thrill out of seeing themselves as others see them. It's not too late; send in that card the cameraman gave you today.

ZIEGLER FAMILY FUND INCREASES

BUSINESS WOMEN ATTEND BANQUET

A program of interest was presented at the Young Women's Christian association at the weekly banquet of the Business and Professional Women's club [illegible] when the principal speaker was Professor William H. Gray, Jr., of the extension department of Southern university. The program chairman was Mrs. Elizabeth Langford.

There were musical numbers rendered by David Jones accompanied at the piano by Rosalind Saunders.

The speaker gave a talk on the "Needs and Desires of the Negro Race." He pointed out that a sympathetic support of the dominating group is desired and needed by negroes and that whites should consider themselves as their brothers' keepers. At no time is anything like race equality to be sought, as each race has his special sphere. He urged that racial prejudice be eliminated as far as possible.

Needs of the race he pointed out were for fair trials in courts, more economic security, the aiding of destitute negroes and the effort to eliminate disease which is easily transferred from the negro race to the white race, improved educational advantages so that the negro may follow trades and such occupations as he is by nature fitted for.

He said that there is a crying need for a reform and industrial school in the state for negroes and that some provision of this nature would do much to reduce crime among members of that race.

'CARNATION DAY' NAMED SATURDAY

Mayor H. H. Benoit has designated Saturday, April 29, as "Carnation day" for the city of Monroe.

Members of the Thompson-Wood-Lee auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans' post are busily engaged in making plans for their annual sale of carnations to obtain funds to aid disabled veterans and their dependents.

The sale of these carnations will be held in downtown Monroe and to aid in emphasizing the importance of the day, Mayor Benoit urges the public to support the auxiliary in this sale.

He said that there is a crying need for a reform and industrial school in the state for negroes and that some provision of this nature would do much to reduce crime among members of that race.

GETS PRISON TERM FOR FAKE DAMAGE ACTION

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 22.—(Special)—Pleading guilty to a charge of false pretense, Jack Herschel, 49, was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary. It was charged that he received $125 from Louis Bryant of the claims department of the Missouri Pacific system after threatening to bring a personal damage suit for an alleged injury o his hip.

Herschel also was accused by Felix O. Cox, Little Rock, special agent of the Association of Casualty and Surety exchanges, of having filed nearly 40 claims against transportation companies throughout the nation in the past four years.

BOOSTER CLUB PROGRAM

A large number attended the April meeting of the Missouri Pacific Booster club at the clubhouse Friday night. The maintenance of way group had charge of the program. Addresses were delivered by Ralph E. Holcombe on "Highway Traffic Safety"; by L. S. Werthmuller, assistant signal engineer, St. Louis, Mo.; E. R. O'Heron, chief booster of the engineering department, St. Louis; Dallas Goss, of Northeast Center, presented the male chorus from that college.

Let's Guard Our Own Liberties

It is quite true that the United States cannot afford to be indifferent to what goes on in the rest of the world. What destroys liberty in any part of the world tends eventually to destroy liberty in the rest of it.

But our concern with such remote events is a matter of degree, ranging from the almost purely theoretical right up to the imminently practical.

Liberty here and now is our first and most immediate concern. Nothing more true was ever said than that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Freedom is not maintained by the mere fact that 150 years ago our fathers won it. Day by day, in the smallest matters, we must ourselves fight for it if we are to keep it. A sorry joke on the United States it would be to find that by the time we had launched a great foreign crusade for liberty, we ourselves lost it.

That is why, though it sometimes seems tiresome, it is necessary to keep drumming away at everything that looks as though it might be an infringement on the liberties of free men.

As never before, the federal government seems to be conscious of this. Most of the highest court decisions of recent years have been on the side of freedom, and the Supreme Court has proved itself a real custodian of the people's liberties in several important cases.

The Department of Justice has set up a division specifically charged with safeguarding civil liberties.

Many states, irritated almost beyond endurance by clumsy and stupid Nazi propaganda, are considering laws to throttle it. Yet every legislator considering such laws must carefully consider: how far may such utterances be shut off without throttling every man's right to say or write what he pleases?

There are acts proposed to punish the "libel of races." Such proposals arise from irritation with the especially nauseous efforts to build up racial hatred. But can such a law be written which does not also infringe on many other kinds of free speech?

After all, propaganda is simply the other fellow's free speech.

No set of ideas, bad or good, has ever been permanently suppressed by law. The bad ones die off of their own foolishness, the good ones survive in spite of any suppression.

America's one best defense, in fact its ultimate only defense, against "subversive" ideas is to face the facts, roll up our sleeves, and make life in the United States so much better than it is anywhere else in the world that nobody will listen to agitators.

SALARIES FOR WIVES

It isn't a new idea. But a Maryland wife has brought it up again.

She writes to her representative in the state legislature asking a law providing that all men pay salaries to their wives.

"You would be surprised," she writes, "at the number of men who do not. Some wives never get a cent—not even clothes—but work very hard."

No, we wouldn't be surprised. Probably it is an exception for a wife to be paid regularly anything approximating a "salary."

It might be a good idea. But unfortunately it is one of those things wherein the remedy is clearly not at law. We are so used to facing any difficulty and immediately concluding that a new law is the answer, that we seldom think whether such a law would be enforceable.

Besides, the people who would sit on the scale committee would face a terrifying problem. For obviously a good wife is beyond price, even an average-good one would be entirely beyond the means of any husband, while a bad one would be overpaid at ten cents a century.

QUITE PROPER

Recently, for being a party to the smuggling in of jewelry on which the duty would have been seven hundred dollars, a radio comedian was fined ten thousand dollars, sentenced to a year and a day, and given such a tongue lashing by the judge that it made front pages all over the United States. We are properly severe in our attitude toward any person who defrauds our federal government.

Now if we will become just as severe toward those persons who plunder public treasuries, steal elections, squander tax money and in other ways defraud the people, we shall make our democracy really begin to work—for us instead of for politicians.

REMINDER FOR MOTORISTS

It is to be hoped that the call of the open road during the delightful spring days just ahead will not result in a reversal of the nation's automotive safety record. From month to month official reports have shown an encouraging drop in highway fatalities. The annual toll of almost 40,000 deaths is being slowly but surely reduced.

To every motorist, looking ahead to a spring and summer of outdoor recreation, this should come as both a challenge and an opportunity. The final conquest of sudden death would be an achievement of major significance for all the families in America.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—One of the important contributing reasons for the shutdown in the eastern soft coal producing area, with its threat of a full-dress strike, is the rivalry between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Neither the wage question nor the hour question is keeping the operators and the miners apart. The sole important point at issue is John Lewis' insistence that the new contract either provide a closed shop for the United Mine Workers of America or omit the customary penalty clauses.

These penalty clauses are provisions that the union may be fined if it engages in a strike in violation of its contract.

As Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins pointed out the other day, the United Mine Workers practically have a closed shop in the Appalachian area now. They don't have it in their contract, but the effect is much the same—which is to say that practically everybody belongs to the union, the check-off obtains, and so on.

Is Lewis Fearful?

Why, then, the insistence on the closed shop or abolition of the penalty clauses?

The answer, as well-informed people here see it, is that Lewis fears raiding by the American Federation of Labor.

If he can get a closed shop, of course, he need fear no raids. Or if he can remove the penalty clauses, his union then has a potent weapon to meet any threat of a raid; that is, it can threaten to strike in case it suspects any given mine operator of flirting with a rival mine union.

The principal rival of the United Mine Workers, of course, is the A. F. of L.-chartered Progressive Miners union. It is strong in the Illinois field, but so far has not cut much figure in the Appalachian area.

The story in Washington is that its organizers would not in the least mind an opportunity to establish themselves in the vast Appalachian field—and that at least some of the operators would not mind giving them that chance.

No Shortage, Operators Insist

In addition, there have been reports that craft-union setups for the soft coal region have been tentatively planned as a means of cutting in on Lewis' preserves.

In any case, there you have the explanation for Lewis' current demands. It is pointed out, just incidentally, that William Green's A. F. of L. war chest is nice and full these days and that the United Mine Workers' treasury is somewhat less robust.

Meanwhile, mine operators' representatives continue to express doubt that there will be a strike. At least, they say, if one does take place it will be short. They deny reports that serious coal shortages are threatened.

Railroads have an average of from 32 to 35 days' supply of coal on hand. Stocks on sidings are plentiful. There are 65,000 loaded cars at Newport News, for example.

Furthermore, they say that in West Virginia a strike would redound to the advantage of the A. F. of L. For, in West Virginia they say, state relief funds are low and idle miners could not get on the relief rolls. A period of idleness of any length, they suggest, would probably cause many miners to get their jobs back by going into a rival union.

Labor Peace Still Looms

Oddly enough, with all of this optimism is expressed in official quarters about the prospects for peace between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. on a national basis. During the past 10 days or so, it is said in administration circles, genuine progress toward a meeting of minds has been made and virtual agreement "on one or two important matters" has been had.

Madame Secretary Perkins, by the way, recently took occasion to deny the current reports that manufacturers have been putting pressure on the A. F. of L. to prevent a settlement.

The labor split, she pointed out, is disastrous where it touches a manufacturer. Every manufacturer she knows, she added, is anxious for peace.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Once upon a time there were a number of little boys who, like Peter Pan, refused to grow up. Even after they had donned long pantaloons, and learned to cuss and smoke tobacco, they stubbornly insisted on distorting all the realities of the factual world in which they lived into sentimental balderdash and flitter-fill-up. Eventually, of course, they brought their romantic misconceptions to Hollywood, where they soon became movie producers.

They made pictures about gangsters . . . and pirates of big business . . . and newspaper reporters . . . and prostitutes. And their gangsters were all just good-hearted, mischievous boys who had been pushed into a life of crime against their better instincts and needed only the love of a good woman to redeem them; their Ladies of the Street were all noble-hearted girls who in their misfortune preserved their innate sweetness while awaiting redemption in the love of a good man; their big business pirates, despite a crusty exterior, were all lovable Samaritans when redeemed by the prattle of a child. The newspaper reporters —being a class that no one gives a hang about anyway—were all just drunken bums.

Judging from the mail I've been receiving, the rest of America is getting more than a bit fed up with the formulae of Hollywood mythology. The rest of America, having been matured by depression, war scares, political chicanery, brutal kidnapings and vice exposes, would like to take its facts straight for a change. Perhaps Hollywood should throw the romantic illusions overboard and try to keep pace.

Memories that bless and burn: When Barbara Lamarr received at least $500 worth of orchids from an unwanted admirer—and gave them all to the extra girls on her set. When Janet Gaynor enrolled in a secretarial school after months of fruitless knocking at studio gates—two days later she won her first real break and started to climb to stardom. When Wallace Reid hired a dozen extras, dressed them in phony police uniforms and faked a raid on his best pal's house where a blooded poker game was under way.

When Zasu Pitts stipulated time-out periods twice a day so that she could dash home and feed her baby. When Director Larry Trimble, assigned to make a jungle picture, spent the first day reading a magazine in the leopard's cage—he wanted to prove his theory that animals pay no attention to a man who pays them none. When Garbo, far from being a recluse, donned a pair of shorts and posed for publicity stills with the U. S. C. track team. When Jean Harlow won $2,000 in a dice game with a wealthy magazine publisher—in spite of her desperate efforts to balance the accounts.

When early-day Director Jimmy Young (Clara Kimball's husband) used to ease his explosive temper by calling for his hat and jumping on it. When Alice White inadvertantly stepped in front of a roaring wing machine and lost her dressing gown. When Lew Cody, fishing in a small rowboat, hooked a bull sea lion and was towed a mile to sea before he decided to cut the line. When Uncle Earl Laemmle used to call one of his contract players, named Bette Davis, "that little brown wren," and scoffed at her picture chances.

Off hand, I can't think of a more ironic case than that of "Marie Blake," a character actress currently playing in "Give Me a Child." About a dozen years ago, Marie Blake, then well on her way to Broadway stardom, took her stage struck younger sister under her wing, found her a job dancing in a musical comedy chorus, helped fight her battles and coached her until she no longer needs influential aid. And then, as the little sister began to scale the heights, Marie Blake started losing professional prestige. Today, in Hollywood, she's trying for a new career —but she's too proud to use her real name. Blossom MacDonald doesn't want anyone to accuse her of trading on the fame of her "little sister, Jeanette."

"I've been getting a good many rave letters about young Bobs Watson (now starring in "On Borrowed Time") and his amazing performance in "Alexander Graham Bell." Much as I admire him. I'm still more impressed by his mother, Mrs. Coy Watson. She has eight other children—all of them in pictures and, until the last few months when good fortune began showering the family with smiles, Mrs. Watson has had to be a canny manager to make all ends meet. She punctuates the story of her married life by the dates on which she purchased new washing machines and new electric irons—and you can understand why she has had to buy seven machines in 27 years when I tell you that her average weekly wash contains from 38 to 50 shirts! Mrs. Watson, in my opinion, rates an academy award.

Some people are hard to please. Lionel Stander, for instance. Instead of congratulating himself on renting Hedy Lamarr's house, furnished, for a bargain price, he's complaining that he misunderstood. He thought Hedy went with the place.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Lulu Albertino, the woman clown now appearing in the circus at Madison Square Garden, breaks a tradition probably as old as the days of Socrates, far older than Punchinello, recorded in ancient Sanskrit writings when the dead-pan comic was probably much as he is today. But he was always a man. Among all the clowns, Harlequins, Columbines, Pierrots and Pantaloons, all of the same tribe, who came down unmistakably from the mediaeval Commedia Delle' Arte, there was never a woman.

This ancient, unvarying, bonehead, slapstick caricature of the Comedie Humaine has depended upon protesqueries which for some reason women never have attempted and which never have been expected of them.

Miss Albertino had to take this into account. She is a comely clown, in the tradition only in her Pierrot costume. None of the rowdy business for her, and none of the conventional red and black facial make-up. "For a woman is always a woman," in Kipling's line, and her charms are not to be marred or burlesqued. That is, far as the circus is concerned.

The stage is something else again. Fanny Brice, for instance, has done a deal of hilarious clowning, as have Beatrice Lillie, Ethel Merman and a number of others who could be named. As we get it, their art is one of characterization, and having achieved this they can go much farther than could a lady clown in circus caricature and buffoonery.

Circus clowning is essentially an art of pantomime. The stage, with the advantage of the spoken word and closely observable facial expression, makes it possible to achieve hilarious and mischievous exaggeration, at which women may be as good or better than men. But they never have been particularly good as slapstick and, again, there are imposed upon them certain demands of pulchritude and femininity which would cramp their style in the circus rough-and-tumble. The funny hats which women wear so seriously give an instance of these limitations.

A good clown knows he's amusing. I saw a jolly little screwball study on the head of a pretty young thing in Rockefeller Center the other day. Joe Cook would have snatched it for his museum. She was an intelligent looking girl, one hundred per cent feminine. One might have thought somebody was kidding her when they sold her that hat, but one could see she was proud of it and it was plain that other women in the corridor envied her—although they were all close runners-up in daffy headgear.

Lulu Albertino of the circus could use a hat like that nicely, but, of course, she wouldn't. It wouldn't be clubby and for that reason I believe that women clowns will never fit into tanbark tradition—but they may prove attractive and charming embellishments to the ring. The why of this is hard to get at. Perhaps the explanation lies in the words of the man fished out of the Mississippi when he had jumped off the dock. He said there was a woman at the bottom of it—a gag older than Punchinello, by the way, or perhaps even the Mississippi. There is nothing new under the sun but a woman circus clown.

Pagliacci was right. Clowning is somehow inseparable from sadness, and it always has been in classic pantomime. Toto has died, since the circus last came to town. Those of us who remember the old Hippodrome, when it was run by Charles Dillingham, never will forget this supreme artist of clowns, a sad little man, loosing waves and tempests of hilarity with nothing more audible than a queer little chuckle which somehow spoofed the whole stuffed-shirt cosmos in its sly, mischievous irony.

He was Armando Novello, earning $5,000 a week in those days. He was nearly blind and was ill and penniless when he died on December 15 of last year.

"I love children," he used to say. "They are not afraid to laugh."

One nice thing about the circus is that it brings together people who are not afraid to laugh, young and old. The famous Grock, who was the Swiss-born Adrienne Wettach, became a multi-millionaire through his clowning. Two years ago, he retired and bought a villa near Omeglia, Italy, with a palace of 40 rooms. He had dreamed of that all his life. But he is bitterly unhappy, walking alone through the vast, gloomy chambers of his palace. John Stone, the great English clown, hanged himself last October.

For clown lore, read the biography of the great 18th century Italian clown, Grimaldi, edited by Charles Dickens. And note the strange taboos in their tragi-comic art. A loaf of bread, for instance, never can be snatched from another by a clown. That was hitting too close to home for the medieval crowds. And the same taboo holds for clowns today.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"Colin's mother called up this afternoon about his taking you to the dance. She wanted to know the color of your dress so she could get you the right kind of flowers. His father is letting him have the big car so your dress won't be crushed. Isn't that fine?"

"Fine. I'd say it was a mess. If people would only mind their own business for once."

"What in the world? What a way for you to talk. Everybody doing his best to give you a grand time."

"That's just it. Everybody butting into my affairs. I'm not going to the dance with Colin and he knows it. He's dumb if he doesn't."

"What's this? You're not going with Colin? Who, then, I'd like to know."

"If you must know I'm going with Jack. I don't see why I can't go to a dance with the boy I choose instead of having two mothers pick him for me. I think it's perfectly ter-i-ble, and I don't care anyhow."

"Don't cry about it. I'm sure this is all news to me and to Colin's mother, too. We didn't know you didn't like each other any more. You certainly didn't act that way. And the families have been friends for years, before you two were born. It seems to me that you might have taken us into your confidence and not let us put ourselves in such a position."

"You didn't ask me. You just took things for granted. And I'm tired of being taken for granted. That's what Colin did. He never took the trouble to even ask me if I would go with him. He just assumed I would. So I'm not going. He can go with somebody else."

"But we don't even know this Jack. I don't know that we would be willing for you to go with him. Who is he?"

"He's in my class, and he's just as good as Colin."

"Well, we will talk about this later. If you are going with this boy we will have to know more about him, and his family. We do know Colin. And I must say that I think you owed it to us to have informed us about your change of plans."

DON'T USE STRONG ANTISEPTICS IN NOSE SPRAYS

When you have a blocked nose and use a little salt and water as a nose spray or by the use of an eye dropper put some of this salt solution, a quarter-teaspoonful to a glass of water, up into nose, there is usually some relief as the salt solution shrinks the lining of the nose and thus gives more room for air to pass to and from the lungs.

For years, oil containing various substances has been used for the purpose of soothing the lining of the nose, to dry up this lining, or an antiseptic to kill off organisms causing colds or other ailments. As some of these preparations go directly from the nose to the lungs, it has been found that the oil drops sometimes carry with them a large number of harmful organisms which may set up a fat-like type of inflammation there.

The antiseptics used in a watery solution appear to be very helpful in fighting harmful organisms but the solution is often so strong that the lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes become irritated and the nose lining which, in health, can fight off harful organisms, loses its power to do so and these organisms may set up trouble in nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

Drs. Theodore E. Walsh and Paul R. Cannon, Chicago, in Annals of Otology, Rhinology and Laryngology (ear, nose and throat), state that salt solutions of the substances such as ephedrine and neosynephrine which shrink the nose lining "caused no significant degree of damage in bronchial tubes or lungs, when used in normal rabbits."

There was a time when a great many of these blocked noses underwent operation for removal of the turbinate bones or the straightening of the septum that divides the nostrils. As many of these operations failed to give relief and caused loss of smell in some patients, only severe cases now undergo operation.

Blocked noses are very common and mild antiseptics and shrinking substances are helpful, but it is well to remember that a healthy normal nose needs no "treatment" because its lining can resist or fight off harmful organisms. To use strong antiseptics, except when prescribed by a physician to ward off some prevailing epidemic disease, is unwise.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—It will help in understanding the present neutrality debate in Washington to narrow the field down to the main points of conflict.

Congress is agreed, and probably the whole country, that the main purpose of any such legislation is to keep the country out of war. Members of the senate foreign relations committee, now conducting a hearing, as well as their two major witnesses so far, Bernard Baruch and Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, all agree on that.

They all agree also that no one plan so far advanced has all the right answers.

Complete repeal of the legislation, as tentatively favored by Senator Johnson, throws the country back where we were in 1917. Johnson concedes that. As a practical matter as well, it is almost impossible to repeal the whole neutrality legislation. Too much support for some variety of such legislation has been built up in recent years.

The Principal Issues

Then come the major points at issue:

1. Shall the United States, immediately upon the outbreak of war, prohibit American ships to carry war supplies to belligerent nations? The net effect of such legislation would be to permit warring nations to come to the United States with their own ships, buy supplies and get them home if they could. United States ships would be kept out of the war zone. That is the point of Senator Pittman's bill and he concedes its present purpose is to permit such nations as England and France to get supplies while Germany and Italy, blocked up by superior naval powers, could get nothing.

2. Should the president, subject to congressional approval, be permitted to name the aggressor nation in event of war and shut off supplies to such aggressor? The Thomas bill says yes.

3. Must the president be required by legislation to refuse United States [illegible] at war, regardless of whether, as in the case of Japan and China, this means disaster to a weaker nation and the possible strengthening of a potential enemy to the United States? Yes, says the Nye bill.

This [illegible] the purport of each bill, [illegible] there.

How They Line Up

Stimson favors the Thomas bill—No. 2. He [illegible] the feature [illegible] requiring the president to [illegible] consent of congress before [illegible] supplies to an aggressor nation. He [illegible] the president should have [illegible] to act independently [illegible] if he considered it the best means of preserving the security of the United States. Senator Thomas [illegible] of that frame of [illegible] the [illegible] as a means of [illegible] there who [illegible] blanket [illegible].

Baruch favored the Pittman bill—No. 1. He [illegible] it gave advantage to powers [illegible] because they could come to the United States for supplies [illegible] to depend [illegible] United States [illegible]. He agreed [illegible] favored England and France in [illegible] war in Europe [illegible] the up the [illegible] own ships free to [illegible] United States goods. Nevertheless, he said, it was his belief, based on his service as war [illegible] during the World war, that this method of letting nations know in advance [illegible] the United States would take would be the best way to keep the United States from being accused of taking sides in a war. Moreover, it would keep United States ships out of the war zone.

He agreed with Senator Borah that it had the disadvantage of [illegible] United States rights to trade at sea.

As to the Nye bill, it is the "complete hands off" measure.

Its supporters say the United States will be safest when war comes if it simply backs away from the war, let the outcome be what it may. It has solid support of the midwestern isolationists.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

PROBABLY no eminent American ever got his education more oddly than did Daniel Webster. Webster literally "sawed" his way to learning, combining work and study.

He did it in his father's sawmill, where he spent his free days and most of his spare time after school. The mill was located in a dense woods, and young Daniel liked to go there because it offered an ideal spot for quiet study.

So Daniel soon became his father's chief assistant and often his father left him in sole charge of the mill. It was at these times that Daniel got in his best licks at schooling. He would set the saw and "hoist the gate" and while the saw was passing from one end of the log to the other he would reach for a book.

Ordinarily it took from 10 to 15 minutes for the saw to cut through a log from end to end, so Daniel devised a virtual "15 minutes a log" study course, encompassing history, science, religion, almost anything he could obtain at his home and from his parents' New England neighbors. That learning, gained by spurts and jerks, Daniel seemed never to forget. It became the basis of his long and distinguished career. Spurred on still further by his mother's fine inspiration, Webster eventually rose to a lasting position in American history.

Let's Guard Our Own Liberties

It is quite true that the United States cannot afford to be indifferent to what goes on in the rest of the world. What destroys liberty in any part of the world tends eventually to destroy liberty in the rest of it.

But our concern with such remote events is a matter of degree, ranging from the almost purely theoretical right up to the imminently practical.

Liberty here and now is our first and most immediate concern. Nothing more true was ever said than that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Freedom is not maintained by the mere fact that 150 years ago our fathers won it. Day by day, in the smallest matters, we must ourselves fight for it if we are to keep it. A sorry joke on the United States it would be to find that by the time we had launched a great foreign crusade for liberty, we ourselves lost it.

That is why, though it sometimes seems tiresome, it is necessary to keep drumming away at everything that looks as though it might be an infringement on the liberties of free men.

As never before, the federal government seems to be conscious of this. Most of the highest court decisions of recent years have been on the side of freedom, and the Supreme Court has proved itself a real custodian of the people's liberties in several important cases.

The Department of Justice has set up a division specifically charged with safeguarding civil liberties.

Many states, irritated almost beyond endurance by clumsy and stupid Nazi propaganda, are considering laws to throttle it. Yet every legislator considering such laws must carefully consider: how far may such utterances be shut off without throttling every man's right to say or write what he pleases?

There are acts proposed to punish the "libel of races." Such proposals arise from irritation with the especially nauseous efforts to build up racial hatred. But can such a law be written which does not also infringe on many other kinds of free speech?

After all, propaganda is simply the other fellow's free speech.

No set of ideas, bad or good, has ever been permanently suppressed by law. The bad ones die off of their own foolishness, the good ones survive in spite of any suppression.

America's one best defense, in fact its ultimate only defense, against "subversive" ideas is to face the facts, roll up our sleeves, and make life in the United States so much better than it is anywhere else in the world that nobody will listen to agitators.

SALARIES FOR WIVES

It isn't a new idea. But a Maryland wife has brought it up again.

She writes to her representative in the state legislature asking a law providing that all men pay salaries to their wives.

"You would be surprised," she writes, "at the number of men who do not. Some wives never get a cent—not even clothes—but work very hard."

No, we wouldn't be surprised. Probably it is an exception for a wife to be paid regularly anything approximating a "salary."

It might be a good idea. But unfortunately it is one of those things wherein the remedy is clearly not at law. We are so used to facing any difficulty and immediately concluding that a new law is the answer, that we seldom think whether such a law would be enforceable.

Besides, the people who would sit on the scale committee would face a terrifying problem. For obviously a good wife is beyond price, even an average-good one would be entirely beyond the means of any husband, while a bad one would be overpaid at ten cents a century.

QUITE PROPER

Recently, for being a party to the smuggling in of jewelry on which the duty would have been seven hundred dollars, a radio comedian was fined ten thousand dollars, sentenced to a year and a day, and given such a tongue lashing by the judge that it made front pages all over the United States. We are properly severe in our attitude toward any person who defrauds our federal government.

Now if we will become just as severe toward those persons who plunder public treasuries, steal elections, squander tax money and in other ways defraud the people, we shall make our democracy really begin to work—for us instead of for politicians.

REMINDER FOR MOTORISTS

It is to be hoped that the call of the open road during the delightful spring days just ahead will not result in a reversal of the nation's automotive safety record. From month to month official reports have shown an encouraging drop in highway fatalities. The annual toll of almost 40,000 deaths is being slowly but surely reduced.

To every motorist, looking ahead to a spring and summer of outdoor recreation, this should come as both a challenge and an opportunity. The final conquest of sudden death would be an achievement of major significance for all the families in America.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—One of the important contributing reasons for the shutdown in the eastern soft coal producing area, with its threat of a full-dress strike, is the rivalry between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Neither the wage question nor the hour question is keeping the operators and the miners apart. The sole important point at issue is John Lewis' insistence that the new contract either provide a closed shop for the United Mine Workers of America or omit the customary penalty clauses.

These penalty clauses are provisions that the union may be fined if it engages in a strike in violation of its contract.

As Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins pointed out the other day, the United Mine Workers practically have a closed shop in the Appalachian area now. They don't have it in their contract, but the effect is much the same—which is to say that practically everybody belongs to the union, the check-off obtains, and so on.

Is Lewis Fearful?

Why, then, the insistence on the closed shop or abolition of the penalty clauses?

The answer, as well-informed people here see it, is that Lewis fears raiding by the American Federation of Labor.

If he can get a closed shop, of course, he need fear no raids. Or if he can remove the penalty clauses, his union then has a potent weapon to meet any threat of a raid; that is, it can threaten to strike in case it suspects any given mine operator of flirting with a rival mine union.

The principal rival of the United Mine Workers, of course, is the A. F. of L.-chartered Progressive Miners union. It is strong in the Illinois field, but so far has not cut much figure in the Appalachian area.

The story in Washington is that its organizers would not in the least mind an opportunity to establish themselves in the vast Appalachian field—and that at least some of the operators would not mind giving them that chance.

No Shortage, Operators Insist

In addition, there have been reports that craft-union setups for the soft coal region have been tentatively planned as a means of cutting in on Lewis' preserves.

In any case, there you have the explanation for Lewis' current demands. It is pointed out, just incidentally, that William Green's A. F. of L. war chest is nice and full these days and that the United Mine Workers' treasury is somewhat less robust.

Meanwhile, mine operators' representatives continue to express doubt that there will be a strike. At least, they say, if one does take place it will be short. They deny reports that serious coal shortages are threatened.

Railroads have an average of from 32 to 35 days' supply of coal on hand. Stocks on sidings are plentiful. There are 65,000 loaded cars at Newport News, for example.

Furthermore, they say that in West Virginia a strike would redound to the advantage of the A. F. of L. For, in West Virginia they say, state relief funds are low and idle miners could not get on the relief rolls. A period of idleness of any length, they suggest, would probably cause many miners to get their jobs back by going into a rival union.

Labor Peace Still Looms

Oddly enough, with all of this optimism is expressed in official quarters about the prospects for peace between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. on a national basis. During the past 10 days or so, it is said in administration circles, genuine progress toward a meeting of minds has been made and virtual agreement "on one or two important matters" has been had.

Madame Secretary Perkins, by the way, recently took occasion to deny the current reports that manufacturers have been putting pressure on the A. F. of L. to prevent a settlement.

The labor split, she pointed out, is disastrous where it touches a manufacturer. Every manufacturer she knows, she added, is anxious for peace.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, April 22.—Once upon a time there were a number of little boys who, like Peter Pan, refused to grow up. Even after they had donned long pantaloons, and learned to cuss and smoke tobacco, they stubbornly insisted on distorting all the realities of the factual world in which they lived into sentimental balderdash and flitter-fill-up. Eventually, of course, they brought their romantic misconceptions to Hollywood, where they soon became movie producers.

They made pictures about gangsters . . . and pirates of big business . . . and newspaper reporters . . . and prostitutes. And their gangsters were all just good-hearted, mischievous boys who had been pushed into a life of crime against their better instincts and needed only the love of a good woman to redeem them; their Ladies of the Street were all noble-hearted girls who in their misfortune preserved their innate sweetness while awaiting redemption in the love of a good man; their big business pirates, despite a crusty exterior, were all lovable Samaritans when redeemed by the prattle of a child. The newspaper reporters —being a class that no one gives a hang about anyway—were all just drunken bums.

Judging from the mail I've been receiving, the rest of America is getting more than a bit fed up with the formulae of Hollywood mythology. The rest of America, having been matured by depression, war scares, political chicanery, brutal kidnapings and vice exposes, would like to take its facts straight for a change. Perhaps Hollywood should throw the romantic illusions overboard and try to keep pace.

Memories that bless and burn: When Barbara Lamarr received at least $500 worth of orchids from an unwanted admirer—and gave them all to the extra girls on her set. When Janet Gaynor enrolled in a secretarial school after months of fruitless knocking at studio gates—two days later she won her first real break and started to climb to stardom. When Wallace Reid hired a dozen extras, dressed them in phony police uniforms and faked a raid on his best pal's house where a blooded poker game was under way.

When Zasu Pitts stipulated time-out periods twice a day so that she could dash home and feed her baby. When Director Larry Trimble, assigned to make a jungle picture, spent the first day reading a magazine in the leopard's cage—he wanted to prove his theory that animals pay no attention to a man who pays them none. When Garbo, far from being a recluse, donned a pair of shorts and posed for publicity stills with the U. S. C. track team. When Jean Harlow won $2,000 in a dice game with a wealthy magazine publisher—in spite of her desperate efforts to balance the accounts.

When early-day Director Jimmy Young (Clara Kimball's husband) used to ease his explosive temper by calling for his hat and jumping on it. When Alice White inadvertantly stepped in front of a roaring wing machine and lost her dressing gown. When Lew Cody, fishing in a small rowboat, hooked a bull sea lion and was towed a mile to sea before he decided to cut the line. When Uncle Earl Laemmle used to call one of his contract players, named Bette Davis, "that little brown wren," and scoffed at her picture chances.

Off hand, I can't think of a more ironic case than that of "Marie Blake," a character actress currently playing in "Give Me a Child." About a dozen years ago, Marie Blake, then well on her way to Broadway stardom, took her stage struck younger sister under her wing, found her a job dancing in a musical comedy chorus, helped fight her battles and coached her until she no longer needs influential aid. And then, as the little sister began to scale the heights, Marie Blake started losing professional prestige. Today, in Hollywood, she's trying for a new career—but she's too proud to use her real name. Blossom MacDonald doesn't want anyone to accuse her of trading on the fame of her "little sister, Jeanette."

"I've been getting a good many rave letters about young Bobs Watson (now starring in "On Borrowed Time") and his amazing performance in "Alexander Graham Bell." Much as I admire him, I'm still more impressed by his mother, Mrs. Coy Watson. She has eight other children—all of them in pictures and, until the last few months when good fortune began showering the family with smiles, Mrs. Watson has had to be a canny manager to make all ends meet. She punctuates the story of her married life by the dates on which she purchased new washing machines and new electric irons—and you can understand why she has had to buy seven machines in 27 years when I tell you that her average weekly wash contains from 38 to 50 shirts! Mrs. Watson, in my opinion, rates an academy award.

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Lulu Albertino, the woman clown now appearing in the circus at Madison Square Garden, breaks a tradition probably as old as the days of Socrates, far older than Punchinello, recorded in ancient Sanskrit writings, when the dead-pan comic was probably much as he is today. But he was always a man. Among all the clowns, Harlequins, Columbines, Pierrots and Pantaloons, all of the same tribe, who came down unmistakably from the mediaeval Commedia Delle' Arte, there was never a woman.

This ancient, unvarying, bonehead, slapstick caricature of the Comedie Humaine has depended upon protesqueries which for some reason women never have attempted and which never have been expected of them.

Miss Albertino had to take this into account. She is a comely clown, in the tradition only in her Pierrot costume. None of the rowdy business for her; and none of the conventional red and black facial make-up. "For a woman is always a woman," in Kipling's line, and her charms are not to be marred or burlesqued. That is, far as the circus is concerned.

The stage is something else again. Fanny Brice, for instance, has done a deal of hilarious clowning, as have Beatrice Lillie, Ethel Merman and a number of others who could be named. As we get it, their art is one of characterization, and having achieved this they can go much farther than could a lady clown in circus caricature and buffoonery.

Circus clowning is essentially an art of pantomime. The stage, with the advantage of the spoken word and closely observable facial expression, makes it possible to achieve hilarious and mischievous exaggeration, at which women may be as good or better than men. But they never have been particularly good as slapstick and, again, there are imposed upon them certain demands of pulchritude and femininity which would cramp their style in the circus rough-and-tumble. The funny hats which women wear so seriously give an instance of these limitations.

A good clown knows he's amusing. I saw a jolly little screwball study on the head of a pretty young thing in Rockefeller Center the other day. Joe Cook would have snatched it for his museum. She was an intelligent looking girl, one hundred per cent feminine. One might have thought somebody was kidding her when they sold her that hat, but one could see she was proud of it and it was plain that other women in the corridor envied her—although they were all close runners-up in daffy headgear.

Lulu Albertino of the circus could use a hat like that nicely, but, of course, she wouldn't. It wouldn't be clubby and for that reason I believe that women clowns will never fit into tanbark tradition—but they may prove attractive and charming embellishments to the ring. The why of this is hard to get at. Perhaps the explanation lies in the words of the man fished out of the Mississippi when he had jumped off the dock. He said there was a woman at the bottom of it—a gag older than Punchinello, by the way, or perhaps even the Mississippi. There is nothing new under the sun but a woman circus clown.

Pagliacci was right. Clowning is somehow inseparable from sadness, and it always has been in classic pantomime. Toto has died, since the circus last came to town. Those of us who remember the old Hippodrome, when it was run by Charles Dillingham, never will forget this supreme artist of clowns, a sad little man, loosing waves and tempests of hilarity with nothing more audible than a queer little chuckle which somehow spoofed the whole stuffed-shirt cosmos in its sly, mischievous irony.

He was Armando Novello, earning $5,000 a week in those days. He was nearly blind, and was ill and penniless when he died on December 15 of last year.

"I love children," he used to say. "They are not afraid to laugh."

One nice thing about the circus is that it brings together people who are not afraid to laugh—young and old. The famous Grock, who was the Swiss-born Adrienne Wettach, became a multi-millionaire through his clowning. Two years ago, he retired and bought a villa near Oneglia, Italy, with a palace of 40 rooms. He had dreamed of that all his life. But he is bitterly unhappy, walking alone through the vast, gloomy chambers of his palace. John Stone, the great English clown, hanged himself last October.

For clown lore, read the biography of the great 18th century Italian clown, Grimaldi, edited by Charles Dickens. And note the strange taboos in their tragi-comic art. A loaf of bread, for instance, never can be snatched from another by a clown. That was hitting too close to home for the medieval crowds. And the same taboo holds for clowns today.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

"Colin's mother called up this afternoon about his taking you to the dance. She wanted to know the color of your dress so she could get you the right kind of flowers. His father is letting him have the big car so your dress won't be crushed. Isn't that fine?"

"Fine. I'd say it was a mess. If people would only mind their own business for once."

"What in the world? What a way for you to talk. Everybody doing his best to give you a grand time."

"That's just it. Everybody butting into my affairs. I'm not going to the dance with Colin and he knows it. He's dumb if he doesn't."

"What's this? You're not going with Colin? Who, then, I'd like to know."

"If you must know I'm going with Jack. I don't see why I can't go to a dance with the boy I choose instead of having two mothers pick him for me. I think it's perfectly ter-i-ble, and I don't care anyhow."

"Don't cry about it. I'm sure this is all news to me and to Colin's mother, too. We didn't know you didn't like each other any more. You certainly didn't act that way. And the families have been friends for years, before you two were born. It seems to me that you might have taken us into your confidence and not let us put ourselves in such a position."

"You didn't ask me. You just took things for granted. And I'm tired of being taken for granted. That's what Colin did. He never took the trouble to even ask me if I would go with him. He just assumed I would. So I'm not going. He can go with somebody else."

"But we don't even know this Jack. I don't know that we would be willing for you to go with him. Who is he?"

"He's in my class, and he's just as good as Colin."

"Well, we will talk about this later. If you are going with this boy we will have to know more about him, and his family. We do know Colin. And I must say that I think you owed it to us to have informed us about your change of plans."

"I didn't change my plans. Nobody asked me what they were. I was taken for granted and I won't be, that's all. I don't care whether I go to the party or not, but if I can't arrange such things for myself what's the good of them? Who's going to the party anyway? Our mothers, or us? I don't want to hurt anybody's feelings, but I can't help bursting out when the whole affair is taken out of my hands, even the flowers I am to wear, and the car, and the dress, and the boy, and myself, too. I'd rather stay home."

Well, it was all a mistake of course, but you cannot blame young people for wanting something to say about their own good times, their own friendships, their own feelings. Friends are good to have; mothers are invaluable, but one must be one's self. And young people have the right to select their friends. It is fine when they do so with the cooperation and approval of the family, but in any case, they must be allowed to do it.

That Body of Yours

by JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DON'T USE STRONG ANTISEPTICS IN NOSE SPRAYS

When you have a blocked nose and use a little salt and water as a nose spray, or by the use of an eye dropper put some of this salt solution—a quarter-teaspoonful to a glass of water—up into nose, there is usually some relief as the salt solution shrinks the lining of the nose and thus gives more room for air to pass to and from the lungs.

For years, oil containing various substances has been used for the purpose of soothing the lining of the nose, to dry up this lining, or an antiseptic to kill off organisms causing colds or other ailments. As some of these preparations go directly from the nose to the lungs, it has been found that the oil drops sometimes carry with them a large number of harmful organisms which may set up a fat-like type of inflammation there.

The antiseptics used in a watery solution appear to be very helpful in fighting harmful organisms but the solution is often so strong that the lining of the nose, throat and bronchial tubes become irritated and the nose lining which, in health, can fight off harful organisms, loses its power to do so and these organisms may set up trouble in nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

Drs. Theodore E. Walsh and Paul R. Cannon, Chicago, in Annals of Otology, Rhinology and Laryngology (ear, nose and throat), state that salt solutions of the substances such as ephedrine and neosynephrine which shrink the nose lining "caused no significant degree of damage in bronchial tubes or lungs, when used in normal rabbits."

There was a time when a great many of these blocked noses underwent operation for removal of the turbinate bones or the straightening of the septum that divides the nostrils. As many of these operations failed to give relief and caused loss of smell in some patients, only severe cases now undergo operation.

Blocked noses are very common and mild antiseptics and shrinking substances are helpful, but it is well to remember that a healthy normal nose needs no "treatment" because its lining can resist or fight off harmful organisms. To use strong antiseptics, except when prescribed by a physician to ward off some prevailing epidemic disease, is unwise.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—It will help in understanding the present neutrality debate in Washington to narrow the field down to the main points of conflict.

Congress is agreed, and probably the whole country, that the main purpose of any such legislation is to keep the country out of war. Members of the senate foreign relations committee, now conducting a hearing, as well as their two major witnesses so far, Bernard Baruch and Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, all agree on that.

They all agree also that no one plan so far advanced has all the right answers.

Complete repeal of the legislation, as tentatively favored by Senator Johnson, throws the country back where we were in 1917. Johnson concedes that. As a practical matter as well, it is almost impossible to repeal the whole neutrality legislation. Too much support for some variety of such legislation has been built up in recent years.

The Principal Issues

Then come the major points at issue:

1. Shall the United States, immediately upon the outbreak of war, prohibit American ships to carry war supplies to belligerent nations? The net effect of such legislation would be to permit warring nations to come to the United States with their own ships, buy supplies and get them home if they could. United States ships would be kept out of the war zone. That is the point of Senator Pittman's bill and he concedes its present purpose is to permit such nations as England and France to get supplies, while Germany and Italy, blocked up by superior naval powers, could get nothing.

2. Should the president, subject to congressional approval, be permitted to name the aggressor nation in event of war and shut off supplies to such aggressor? The Thomas bill says yes.

3. Must the president be required by legislation to refuse United States military supplies to all nations at war, regardless of whether, as in the case of Japan and China, this means disaster to a weaker nation and the possible strengthening of a potential enemy to the United States? Yes, says the Nye bill.

This somewhat harshly simplifies the purport of each bill, but the essence is there.

How They Line Up

Stimson favored the Thomas bill—No. 2. He disliked the feature in requiring the president to have consent of congress before shutting off supplies to an aggressor nation. He believed the president should have authority to act independently in that direction if he considered it the best means of preserving the security of the United States. Senator Thomas himself was of that frame of mind, but injected the requirement for congressional approval as a means of abating opposition of those who disliked giving the president such blanket authority.

Baruch favored the Pittman bill—No. 1. He conceded that it gave advantage to powers with big navies because they could come to the United States for supplies without having to depend on United States ships to carry them. He agreed that it favored England and France in any war in Europe because they could bottle up the totalitarian states, yet have their own ships free to transport United States goods. Nevertheless, he said, it was his belief, based on his service as war industries chairman during the World war, that this method of letting nations know in advance what position the United States would take would be the best way to keep the United States from being accused of taking sides in a war. Moreover, it would keep United States ships out of the war zone.

He agreed with Senator Borah that it had the disadvantage of sacrificing United States rights to trade at sea.

As to the Nye bill, it is the "complete hands off" measure.

Its supporters say the United States will be safest when war comes if it simply backs away from the war, let the outcome be what it may. It has solid support of the midwestern isolationists.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

PROBABLY no eminent American ever got his education more oddly than did Daniel Webster. Webster literally "sawed" his way to learning, combining work and study.

He did it in his father's sawmill, where he spent his free days and most of his spare time after school. The mill was located in a dense woods, and young Daniel liked to go there because it offered an ideal spot for quiet study.

So Daniel soon became his father's chief assistant and often his father left him in sole charge of the mill. It was at these times that Daniel got in his best licks at schooling. He would set the saw and "hoist the gate" and while the saw was passing from one end of the log to the other he would reach for a book.

Ordinarily it took from 10 to 15 minutes for the saw to cut through a log from end to end, so Daniel devised a virtual "15 minutes a log" study course, encompassing history, science, religion, almost anything he could obtain at his home and from his parents' New England neighbors. That learning, gained by spurts and jerks, Daniel seemed never to forget. It became the basis of his long and distinguished career. Spurred on still further by his mother's fine inspiration, Webster eventually rose to a lasting position in American history.

Make Serious Inroads Into Nation's Aircraft Markets In Latin America

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—The civil aeronautics authority said today that Italy and Germany "have made serious inroads into our aircraft markets in Latin America."

"German and Italian shipments of aircraft to Chile, Paraguay, Peru and Brazil in 1938 totaled $6,400,000, more than 50 per cent of all the Latin American trade secured by United States exporters during this period," the authority said in a survey of aircraft exports.

"Chile alone imported German and Italian aircraft last year worth 54 times the value of their purchases from the United States. In 1938 American exports of aeronautical products to that country were valued at $64,331, as compared with nearly $2,300,000 from Germany and $1,200,000 from Italy.

"Paraguay purchased aircraft from Italy in the amount of $1,000,000 and $6,162 from the United States.

"American exports to Peru were reported worth $223,490 while corresponding shipments from Italy were $811,355."

Argentina and Brazil were this country's best customers in South America. Shipments to Argentina in 1938 aggregated nearly $6,200,000 and to Brazil about $2,000,000. During the year Mexico purchased $1,200,000 in aircraft and aircraft products from this country.

The United States, however, enjoyed 45.6 per cent of the total world export sales of aircraft in 1938. Its foreign sales of aircraft and parts totaled $68,200,000 of world trade of about $150,000,000. Foreign sales of United States planes in 1937 were $39,400,000, or 45.7 per cent of world trade.

The orient was the United States' best customer in 1938, taking aircraft and accessories valued at $38,500,000.

FIRE PREVENTION

To the Editor:

Fire insurance, fire prevention and fire fighting.

These three subjects are close to the heart of every property owner.

This article has to do with two of the above subjects, though the third subject is closely related to the other two.

Fire prevention first, then fire fighting. The number of fires taking place every year in the United States averages over four hundred thousand, and the cost in lives alone is more than five thousand. The cost of these fires, including actual loss and the cost of protection through insurance, but not including the loss of business, amounts to about seven dollars a head, or a total of nearly eight hundred million dollars. Fires occur annually in approximately 2 per cent of the total number of buildings, and the number of fires in the cities is from five to ten times the number occurring in the cities of Europe. The question of fire prevention, therefore is one of great importance, and has received careful attention and study from the United States bureau of standards.

Fires are caused mainly by three things. First, accidents cause many fires, and while we can not prevent some accidents, we can be prepared for them. Lightning is beyond the control of man. Spontaneous combustion is another cause which may be an accident beyond our control.

Second, fires may be caused by personal carelessness; matches, smoking, some modern devices, kerosene, naphtha or gasoline handled in a careless manner cause many fires.

Third, faulty construction sometimes is the cause of fires. Stovepipes, flues, and chimneys; all cause fires. While it is true we must realize fires are bound to take place and perhaps endanger all that we own, it is comforting to know that there is a fire department ready night and day to come to our assistance when we need it. But what the average citizen does not know is the story behind these men called firemen. In the larger cities firemen are paid good wages and they make fire fighting a business, but in a small town like Dubach, how do they arrange to have a fire department? I was anxious to know the answer to that question myself, so this morning I found out. Fire Chief T. O. Dollar of Dubach, La., gave me the answer.

Seated at his desk in the Electric Light company's office where he presides as manager, I asked him to tell me the story of the Dubach fire department.

He said that for a number of years he had been interested in fire fighting methods, so when he came to Dubach he gave his time without pay to the latest ideas in fighting fires. In 1930 there was not much fire equipment in Dubach, but under the leadership of Chief Dollar, there was rigged up enough material to make two, two-wheeled carts to carry two hundred fifty feet of one and one-half inch hose. That was the fire department. At that time there were two nozzles for the hose, but nothing else. At this time Chief Dollar was a private, but the city officials had their eye on this young man who showed such an interest in his work.

From 1930 until 1933 Chief Dollar said there was no addition to the equipment, but in 1933 the city officials appointed Mr. Dollar chief. It was then that the city purchased a Studebaker car and this was converted into a hose wagon. This Studebaker operated until 1936, at which time the truck now in use was purchased.

Not only does Chief Dollar serve without pay, but in 1936 he took time off to attend the regional fire school at Arcadia. In 1937 he again went to school at Monroe. As he enlarged his knowledge of the latest methods of fire fighting, he passed his information on to the men who help him in the department. Again in 1938 the chief went to school at Farmerville.

By this time he knew what the city needed, but money was scarce, so the chief began to make some of the equipment himself. In 1939 he became a member of the Southwestern and International Association of Fire Chiefs.

While he talked, the chief brought out record books and histories of fires, how much the loss was and how much insurance was carried, etc. etc. Looking throught these books, I was interested to see how neatly they were kept. But it was not enough to talk about fire and apparatus, but he wanted me to see what they had and what they needed, so we went to the fire engine house. There we found the fire truck with its load of hose. I was shown some tools the chief had made himself. Then I learned that each week there is a school of one and one-half hours where many new things are taught the members of the crew; how to place a ladder, how to get in a house without tearing down the door, and how to put out a fire without the use of excessive amounts of water, etc. etc.

I looked the chief over while he talked. Here is a young man who enjoys the respect of all who know him. Manager of the local light company, yet finding time to serve his town just because he is interested in the town. While we sit at home enjoying the comforts of it, perhaps the firemen will have to drive through cold or rain to save a home. Perhaps falling walls or other dangers will be their lot and scarcely ever is there even a "thank you."

This is just a tribute to Chief Dollar and his men who serve you and me and all of us; getting no returns and nothing for the service except that the fact that they have rendered a service. Long may they live!

SCIENCE DEFENDS OWLS AND HAWKS

Called 'Nation's Only Potent Check On Certain Destructive Rodents'

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(AP)—The Louisiana Academy of Sciences today came to the defense of the owl and the hawk, many species of which it said are "nature's only potent check on certain destructive rodents which prey on game birds, destroy crops and disseminate disease."

The academy at its closing business session adopted resolutions pledging its support for the establishment of a national park or wilderness area for the natural preservation of the state's primeval wildlife.

"Without such an area being set aside and properly administered and conserved," the resolutions said, "such forms as the Louisiana black bear, Louisiana panther, black timber wolf, ivory-billed woodpecker, etc., are definitely doomed to extinction."

The resolutions suggested the area bordering the Tensas river in the region of Tallulah as possessing all the desirable features essential to the establishment of a national park for the preservation of these forms.

The association also adopted resolutions calling E. A. McIlhenny of Avery island "one of the nation's greatest conservationists" and expressing the academy's deep appreciation to him for his work.

We rejoice because of those whom we were privileged to baptize last Sunday, five fine people, there are many others of our community who are Baptists who should find their place in the church, and endeavor to make their church, their home and neighborhood what the Lord would have them do. We welcome all our friends to all these services. Our morning prayer:

"Now I get me up to work,
I pray the Lord I may not shirk;
If I should die before the night,

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Probation After Death," is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 23, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me; thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me." (Ps. 138).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "'In the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be.' So we read in Ecclesiastes. As death findeth mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change." (p. 291).

GRACE CHURCH

Services for the second Sunday after Easter are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m., and morning prayer and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Evensong and sermon at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 25, is St. Mark, Evangelist. The Holy Eucharist at 9 a.m., and Friday, April 28, the weekly requiem at 7:30 a.m.

This Sunday is often called "Good Shepherd Sunday" from the gospel. "A picture of Himself drawn by the Master." The figure of the Good Shepherd has always been dear to Christians. It has been a favorite subject in Christian art from the first century catacombs unto the present day and in poetry from the times of the Psalms; and it has been the familiar prayer of hundreds of little children—"Jesus tender Shepherd hear me, bless Thy little lamb tonight." "I am the Good Shepherd." This means more than morally good and faithful. It means attractive, winning and lovable—"The King of Love." "I know My sheep and am known of mine"—personal knowledge and care. "And I lay down My life for the sheep"—sacrificial love. On Easter-day we thought of the great sacrifice on Good Friday that delivered us from sin and death, and "opened unto us the gates of everlasting life." Last Sunday, we remembered that our Lord not only died for us, but rose again for our justification. Today, the church puts Him before us as our great Example. So we pray "we may follow the blessed steps of His most Holy Life." The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

SCIENCE DEFENDS OWLS AND HAWKS

Called 'Nation's Only Potent Check On Certain Destructive Rodents'

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(AP)—The Louisiana Academy of Sciences today came to the defense of the owl and the hawk, many species of which it said are "nature's only potent check on certain destructive rodents which prey on game birds, destroy crops and disseminate disease."

The academy at its closing business session adopted resolutions pledging its support for the establishment of a national park or wilderness area for the natural preservation of the state's primeval wildlife.

"Without such an area being set aside and properly administered and conserved," the resolutions said, "such forms as the Louisiana black bear, Louisiana panther, black timber wolf, ivory-billed woodpecker, etc., are definitely doomed to extinction."

The resolutions suggested the area bordering the Tensas river in the region of Tallulah as possessing all the desirable features essential to the establishment of a national park for the preservation of these forms.

The association also adopted resolutions calling E. A. McIlhenny of Avery island "one of the nation's greatest conservationists" and expressing the academy's deep appreciation to him for his work.

We so think. Hence a most earnest invitation is extended you to worship with us this Lord's day.

The themes of the message today are "Anchors of the Soul" and "The Character of the God We Worship." The first deals with the anchors which will keep us steadfast; the second with the nature of the Lord God, who is and was, and ever shall be.

ACCUSED WIDOW MURDER WITNESS

Will Testify Of 'Close Companionship' With Alleged Slayer Of Husband

NORWALK, O., April 22.—(AP)—A comely widow, accused of plotting her husband's death with the "man across the street," was expected tonight to become a key state witness in prosecuting her engaging neighbor—light-hearted Harold Hastings.

Hastings, a 35-year-old steel worker who wears a perpetual smile, goes on trial Monday. He is charged with first-degree murder in the death of Carl Schlett, 29, run down and killed by a motor car last January.

The victim's widow, Coletta Schlett, 28, will tell of "close companionship" with Hastings prior to her husband's death, a source close to the prosecution said today. She, too, is charged with murder and is scheduled to be tried later.

Prosecutor Rex Bracey asserted a 25-page statement obtained from Mrs. Schlett "will have an important bearing on the case."

"There's plenty of evidence of complicity between them," he said.

Defense Attorney Russell Ramsey meanwhile asserted Hastings had an "iron-clad" alibi. Hastings waived a jury and three judges will try the case.

Hastings, jailed since March 7, said he is "absolutely positive" of acquittal.

"I can prove I wasn't anywhere near the place Schlett's body was found," he said. [illegible]

Headlight glass was found near the body on a storm-swept road. Hastings reported driving his car into the rear of a truck on the night of Schlett's death. The machine was found in a garage, its right front headlight broken.

BORDER ADVENTURE

CHAPTER VII

"What you suggest is foolish, and if you insist on it I shall scream at once, so there!"

"No! No, Betty Mary! You—sh-h-h-h! My glory, Hope!"

"There's a string of 'em. They're moving on at a fast walk."

"Betty Mary—please, for the love of—"

"No! Absolutely no! If you'll both go with me, all right. I think you should, rather than face such a number of them. But to leave just one of you—no!"

"But one border patrol man can arrest a hundred aliens! Why Hope or I, either can stay and—"

"No!"

The emphatic argument—in rapid-fire whisperings—was conducted as Sherry, Hope and Betty Mary crouched in the darkness behind a boulder. They wanted to send her back to safety while perhaps 10 minutes of time remained. But she wouldn't go.

"Then you'll lie right down here flat and not make a sound till morning!" Sheridan commanded.

He wrapped his woolen field blanket around her as she prepared to crouch in safety behind the great rock.

"Don't you make a single noise, no matter what happens!" they repeated, and then all at once she was alone.

It was unnecessary for the two officers to discuss their own plans, even though a woman had come to disturb them. Twenty-four hours earlier they had agreed on points of attack if and when aliens should come up San Felipe canyon. They would separate, as usual, Hope going right and Sherry left. They would suffer the enemy to pass by Sherry unseen, then Hope would challenge. If there was resistance, Sherr would be in position to make a flank attack. Rapid firing from two quarters invariably impressed the enemy, the officers had learned. It sounded like a strong force even though the officers numbered just two men.

By sound rather than by sight Sheridan knew that there must be at least a dozen horses coming, and of course as many men. He crouched now behind a thorny shrub, listening to the creak of leather and the breathing of animals laboring up the canyon slope. Of course they lacked even a trail and the sound of hoofs on rocks made added noises. Soon the caravan was close enough for Sherry to see its bulky, moving forms, but any people in it were entirely silent. They must realize, Sherry knew, that this was the precarious part of their journey. Here, or near here, they would be intercepted by officers if ever they were going to be. Sherry waited for Hope's challenge.

"Halt!"

The challenge came. Ringing; clear.

"Manos arriba!" Hope continued, shouting in Spanish. "The first man to move will be shot. This is the border patrol!"

Crack!

A shot came instantly from the caravan. Then half a dozen more. Evidently the men had been riding with weapons in hand, perhaps even cocked, here in the dangerous American canyon. The fire was directed wildly at the sound of Hope Kildare's voice.

Then suddenly there was a dimming confusion of noises. Riders dismounting, lest frightened horses fall and tumble down steep rocky slopes. Snorts and stampings; a boulder rolling; a horse squealing; men shouting excitedly. More shots came quickly, too. Hope had not yet answered the shots with his own guns.

When there was a momentary lull—"Los federales aqui!" cried Sherry, roaring it loudly from within a few yards of the foreigners. "You have heard the command! We are officers of the United States. You are under arrest!"

His sudden warning from so near served to unnerve the aliens, as the officers had planned; but it did not cause them to surrender, and this verified the fact they were being smuggled over by Luis Barro. Barro dealt heavily in Chinese, Russians, and others who spoke little or no Spanish, and even the Mexican aliens he smuggled invariably were told what to expect if the patrol accosted them.

A babble of voices mingled with other noises in the canyon now. More shots broke into the bedlam.

"Let 'em have it!" Hope Kildare shouted and Sherry instantly heard and saw the flash of Hope's gun. He knew Hope wouldn't be in that spot a second later—he would fire and jump aside, lest the flash reveal him as a target—but he knew Hope's deadly rifle and pistol would stampede the caravan's horses and men.

"Lordy, I'm glad Hope's on my side!" Sherry grinned to himself there in the darkness, crouching. He lifted his own repeating rifle. Crack . . . crack . . . crack . . . crack . . . it spoke in deadly, powerful staccato, then Sherry himself jumped aside.

He heard new screamings. He had shot at moving forms of horses. It was a hellish thing to do; he'd almost as soon crack down on a man as a horse, he was thinking. But maybe a general rush would impress the enemy and cause them to surrender to what they thought was a superior force. In any event it was a wild business, fighting here in the dark. Guns and shouts and screams echoed off the other canyon wall, bounced back and gained new volume.

"Are you all right, Hope? Sheridan?" screamed Betty Mary then.

"Ahn-n-n-nh!" groaned Sherry. But he couldn't go to her now. "Yes! Lay low!"

All he could do was shout at her, and resume shooting. He knew now that he would have to shoot to kill men. Men were shooting at him, and at his friend Hope. And up there a ways was a foolish—but adorable—girl. Again Sherry lifted his powerful rifle.

Betty Mary never knew how long the battle lasted.

It seemed to her that she lay in her blanket for centuries. When she could stand it no longer she got up and called and had a reassuring answer. Then for another century she crouched on hands and knees, head down as if she were a Mohammedan at prayer.

She heard men calling, screaming, shouting, between the shots. She was scared, badly. She soon realized, from his voice, that Sheridan Starr was trying to cut off the men's escape back to Mexico by working down canyon behind them and firing fast. His tactics sent the aliens scattering up hill to the eastward, some within a few yards of her as she huddled there in terror.

She stood up beside the rock, and when she did so she instantly saw Hope Kildare silhouetted near her on the east ridge, fighting hand-to-hand with somebody.

She knew it was Hope because he wore the unmistakable stiff-brimmed hat of the border patrol, much like an army hat, and she was close enough to see his familiar form. In that instant, too, she saw a second alien top the ridge and pause right behind him.

When this second man raised a rifle—probably empty now—to crash club-like down on Hope Kildare's skull, some latent power brought life to Betty Mary Jordan. Without consciously willing it at all, she unholstered her own pistol, raised it and fired.

SCIENCE DEFENDS OWLS AND HAWKS

Called 'Nation's Only Potent Check On Certain Destructive Rodents'

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(AP)—The Louisiana Academy of Sciences today came to the defense of the owl and the hawk, many species of which it said are "nature's only potent check on certain destructive rodents which prey on game birds, destroy crops and disseminate disease."

The academy at its closing business session adopted resolutions pledging its support for the establishment of a national park or wilderness area for the natural preservation of the state's primeval wildlife.

"Without such an area being set aside and properly administered and conserved," the resolutions said, "such forms as the Louisiana black bear, Louisiana panther, black timber wolf, ivory-billed woodpecker, etc., are definitely doomed to extinction."

The resolutions suggested the area bordering the Tensas river in the region of Tallulah as possessing all the desirable features essential to the establishment of a national park for the preservation of these forms.

The association also adopted resolutions calling E. A. McIlhenny of Avery island "one of the nation's greatest conservationists" and expressing the academy's deep appreciation to him for his work.

D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. The superintendent, Mr. Gable, is anxious to have a fine group on time for the children's meeting which will precede the regular class activity. The monthly teachers and officers meeting will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 and a splendid session will be enjoyed at that time.

The Baptist Training groups will assemble at the usual time, 6:30 p.m., for their program and a greater number than ever is expected as a result of the fine conference of last Friday evening. The B. T. U. director, Mr. Cobb, is sending out a special call for those who have ability as leaders for these groups; you may be the one to whom the call is intended. Come, work and pray with us.

The pastor will speak at the morning worship hour upon the subject, "The Believer's Assurance," and at the evening hour on "The Price of a Soul." We rejoice because of those whom we were privileged to baptize last Sunday, five fine people; there are many others of our community who are Baptists who should find their place in the church and endeavor to make their church, their home and neighborhood what the Lord would have them do. We welcome all our friends to all these services. Our morning prayer:

"Now I get me up to work,
I pray the Lord I may not shirk;
If I should die before the night,
I pray the Lord my work's all right."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Probation After Death," is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 23, 1939.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me; thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me." (Ps. 138).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "'In the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be.' So we read in Ecclesiastes. As death findeth mortal man, so shall he be after death, until probation and growth shall effect the needed change." (p. 291).

GRACE CHURCH
Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the second Sunday after Easter are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m., and morning prayer and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Evensong and sermon at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. Tuesday, April 25, is St. Mark, Evangelist. The Holy Eucharist at 9 a.m., and Friday, April 28, the weekly requiem at 7:30 a.m.

This Sunday is often called "Good Shepherd Sunday" from the gospel. "A picture of Himself drawn by the Master." The figure of the Good Shepherd has always been dear to Christians. It has been a favorite subject in Christian art from the first century catacombs unto the present day and in poetry from the times of the Psalms; and it has been the familiar prayer of hundreds of little children—"Jesus tender Shepherd hear me, bless Thy little lamb tonight." "I am the Good Shepherd." This means more than morally good and faithful. It means attractive, winning and lovable—"The King of Love." "I know My sheep and am known of mine"—personal knowledge and care. "And I lay down My life for the sheep"—sacrificial love. On Easter-day we thought of the great sacrifice on Good Friday that delivered us from sin and death, and "opened unto us the gates of everlasting life." Last Sunday, we remembered that our Lord not only died for us, but rose again for our justification. Today, the church puts Him before us as our great Example. So we pray "we may follow the blessed steps of His most Holy Life." The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate.

Our revival meeting, which began one week ago today, continues to increase in interest and attendance. The Rev. H. B. Hysell of the Parker Memorial church in New Orleans, came to us Monday evening and has been bringing soul-stirring messages twice each day. Rev. W. L. Doss, Jr., our presiding elder, opened up our meeting last Sunday at 11 o'clock, and the pastor had charge of the services at the evening hour. A very fine interest has been manifested from the beginning, and it is believed that we shall have a great victory by the close.

The evangelistic services will be of special interest today when the evangelist will speak to the entire Sunday school at 10:15 a.m. The school will meet at the usual time, 9:45, in regular places for the offering and record of attendance, and all assemble in the church to hear the message by Rev. It may even be taken and thrown into the air, but it will fall limply back to the ground. The tug on the little heart is gone. For a soul there may come a time when the tug of the Holy Spirit upon the heart may pass forever."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

Realizing the anxious moments through which we are passing and believing in the reality of religion to the stability of character and the strength of will, our worship plans are made to the nurture and cultivation of our souls. The purpose behind every hymn sung and meditations given is the consciousness of God, God the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost. Can man know Him? Can man appropriate God to his spiritual growth? We so think. Hence a most earnest invitation is extended you to worship with us this Lord's day.

The themes of the message today are "Anchors of the Soul" and "The Character of the God We Worship." The first deals with the anchors which will keep us steadfast, the second with the nature of the Lord God, who is and was, and ever shall be.

Are you a member of the church school? There is a class for you. All the classes meet in the church buildings, save the Frank P. Stubbs Memorial Bible class, which gathers in the Paramount theater. The hours of study are 9:40 and 9:45 o'clock a.m.

A hearty welcome awaits you!

need for adequate school training, stating that in terms of the fundamental needs of all human beings, there is a tendency of humans to move away from insecurity to security; from failure to success; from the dull monotony to zestful experiences; from being unwanted by society to a state of being admired, respected and looked up to.

When it is considered, the speaker said, that there are seven million children in secondary schools the problem encountered is more serious than that met with in the elementary schools. He stated that it is an established fact that the rank and file of these students will become not all physicians, lawyers and ministers or that they will follow higher brackets of life but rather that the majority will become farmers, mechanics, day laborers and the like.

He asserted that the south has more to educate and less to educate with than other sections of the country and yet the south is spending a larger percentage of its total tax income for education than is the case in other sections of the country. He expressed the opinion that equalized education cannot come without federal financial aid. It remains, in his opinion, he said, to develop a program, federally aided, that will be suited more nearly to the fundamental needs of youth in the social and economic society in which this group forms so large and important a part.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Paul A. Blanchard, president, with Miss Mary Bains, fifth vice-president, presiding. Music was by the Ouachita Parish Glee club, Mrs. George Moffett, director.

The initial address was by Miss Marian Telford, Chicago, of the national congress of safety, in which she discussed "Safety for the Family."

A report of the legislative committee was rendered by C. Girard Davidson, chairman.

Incoming officers were installed by Mrs. W. L. Mabrey, secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Resolutions of thanks were adopted after presentation by Mrs. Earl L. Bradsher, and final report of the credential committee was made by Mrs. R. L. McHenry, after which adjournment was taken.

The following resolution was adopted by the convention:

National Congress

Whereas, the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association is a branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers,

Therefore be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled pledges its support to the objectives and policies of the national congress as set forth in its resolutions and by-laws.

Schools:

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled petitions the governor to appoint the committee, as provided for by the Louisiana legislature in 1938, for the study of the Louisiana schools with a view to incorporating 12 years into the public school system.

Be it further resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association reaffirms its belief in the value of kindergartens and endorses the extension of kindergartens and urges its local branches to cooperate with school authorities in efforts to provide this educational advantage for the children.

Be it further resolved, that every Parent-Teacher unit have as part of the program of one meeting a discussion of legislative measures which affect or provide revenue for finances of public education in the state and that objection be made to the diversion of the severance tax funds from public school use.

Be it further resolved, that the association endorses senate bill 1305, known as the federal aid to education bill—the purpose of which is "to assist states and territories in providing more effective programs of public education."

Safety:

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled reaffirms its stand on the need for safety education, and safety legislation and endorses the following program to provide for safety upon the highways:

The support of a driver's license law for the state of Louisiana, similar to the better laws already prevailing in many other states.

Power given by appropriate legislation to the state superintendent of education, cooperating with the state highway commission, to enforce and improve the general standards for school bus equipment and for qualifications of drivers of school buses.

Cooperation with state department of education, school officials and teachers in the institution of courses of study in traffic safety and in the proper use and care of automobiles; these courses are to be offered in the high schools and should receive regular school credits.

The necessary legislation to eliminate the hazard of livestock at large upon the state highways.

A determination of the individual members of the associations to drive in accordance with traffic regulations, and to keep their cars at all times in good condition both to prevent accidents and to encourage their children and others to become safety conscious.

Juvenile Protection

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled goes on record as being unqualifiedly in favor of the ratification of the child labor amendment, and that the members use all of their personal influence both individually and collectively toward influencing this legislation.

Be it further resolved, that the association recommends that the legislature proceed with the establishment of a state training school for delinquent negro children.

Health And Recreation

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled reaffirms its interest in health and physical educational programs for all school children and recommends the construction of permanent and adequate gymnasia and play grounds at all permanent high schools and large elementary schools in the state, so that an adequate health and physical education program may be carried out to meet the needs of all the children in the schools.

Be it further resolved, that the association recommends the construction of permanent and adequate auditoriums at all permanent high schools and large elementary schools in the state, so that educational programs may be carried out to meet the needs of all the children in the schools.

Be it further resolved, that the association endorses plans for building swimming pools in the larger high schools of the state, particularly with the view toward using these swimming pools as laboratories for health and physical education.

Be it further resolved, that the association goes on record as requesting the further organization of parish-wide health units and adequate personnel to have health programs for all the children of all the people.

Be it further resolved, that the association requests that the state superintendent of education recommend to parish superintendents and boards of education that open school grounds after school hours for recreation of the children of the various communities provided that adequate supervisors for the recreational centers can be received.

Marriage

Be it resolved by the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled that the appropriate committees of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association and the local associations make a study of the laws of Louisiana controlling marriage and family relations with the purpose of developing an intelligent public opinion favoring the revision and the strengthening of these laws by the legislature at the next regular meeting. The phases that should be considered include: 1. A better method of enforcing age requirements for marriage; 2. The prevention of hasty and unwise marriage, probably best attained through a delay of five days between the application for a marriage license and its issuance; and 3. Stricter and more enforceable laws preventing the marriage of those having venereal or other incurable and infectious diseases and those having serious and incurable mental defects.

Alcohol And Narcotics

Be it resolved by the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled that each local Parent-Teacher association should develop an educational program for themselves upon the effects of alcohol and narcotics so that they may cooperate with the schools in the education of children of the development of attitudes towards and knowledge of the injurious effects of alcohol and narcotics, including marihuana.

Be it further resolved that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association requests the administrators and teachers of the public schools to develop a more effective program in the schools for education in the problem of alcohol and narcotics as required by law.

Be it further resolved that the association urges the proper officers of state and local governments strictly to enforce the laws controlling the sale of narcotics and alcohol, especially to prevent their illegal sale to children, and for this purpose the members of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association pledge their cooperation with such officers.

Miscellaneous

Be it resolved that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled hereby expresses its commendation and approval of the valuable and far reaching program of the National Youth administration and urges the congress of the United States to provide adequate and increased funds for this program to be administered under its own organization.

Be it further resolved that this convention transmit certified copies of this resolution to the president of the United States, and vice-president, the members of congress from Louisiana, and the Honorable Aubrey Williams, administrator of National Youth administration.

Special

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled endorses joint resolution No. 64 of the house and senate of U. S. A., whereby a limited number of refugee children from Europe may be admitted to the United States during the years 1939 and 1940.

GOING, GOING, GONE—FLO LEEDS' 'PAST'

COTTON BOUNTY PLAN ACCEPTED

of it to Great Britain and other nations for tin, rubber and other products this country lacks.

Under his plan, the trades would be accompanied by an agreement to hold the stocks as war reserves unless the world price climbed to a figure to be agreed on before the trade.

Administration circles heard with interest a report published in the London Sunday Dispatch that Great Britain had opened negotiations for purchase of the bulk of the surplus. It was said at the state department that nothing was known of this here. Officials said it was possible, however, that Ambassador Kennedy had been approached at London.

Bankhead said the compromise export plan would be attached to the annual agricultural appropriations bill now pending before a senate committee so that funds would be available to carry it out.

The program would prohibit use or release of any of the cotton now stored under loans until after January 1. Bankhead said this would "give growers ample time to move the present crop."

Export bounties on cotton not under loan could be paid after July 1, start of the new fiscal year for which the agricultural appropriations are available.

While Bankhead said the subsidy would be about 2 cents a pound, he said arrangements would be made so that it could be paid either in cash or cotton. The secretary of agriculture, he said, could buy "free market cotton" if he wished to make payments in kind.

The program would permit subsidies on up to 7,000,000 bales of exports annually. A bale is 500 pounds. Bankhead said 7,000,000 bales was a long-time average of exports and the total was limited to this to avoid complaints "that we are trying to raid foreign markets."

Because foreign mills would buy cotton for less than those in this country, Bankhead said it might be necessary to restrict imports of cotton goods or increase duties on these. He said the president and tariff commission now had authority to do this.

democracies, in pleading for the cause of peace, should make crystal clear their resolve to be fully prepared against every danger. For the democracies, the cause of peace and the cause of preparedness go hand in hand."

Speaking of the nation's farmers, Secretary Wallace said:

"This week they have won their fight. The supreme court of the United States, in upholding the constitutionality of the marketing quota provisions of the agricultural adjustment act of 1938, has placed the seal of final approval upon the economic democracy the farmers have fought so long to build.

"For the first time since the World war, the farmers have in Washington a sympathetic congress, a sympathetic president and a sympathetic supreme court that has gone back to the constitution itself as a basis for its decisions."

DEMOCRATS AND G. O. P. STRUGGLE

the states heard his off-the-record talks as well. Their judgment on his capacity and party leadership stature will go far to determine his political fate next year.

In one case—his Gridiron dinner appearance—Senator Taft was matched against President Roosevelt. Political Washington hummed for days with talk of what happened then although neither speech, under Gridiron rules, was publishable. In his other off-the-record address, Taft was matched against Thomas E. Dewey, young New York prosecutor, also accounted among the Republicans' most available men for 1940. Thus Taft faced his most formidable rivals within and without his own party in quick succession.

The events of the week could have foreshadowed a triumph or a tragedy for the Ohio senator. Whatever his political role in 1940, he can back date it to April 15 to 21 this year.

Soybeans, a crop of increasing importance in the United States, yielded farmers a cash income of $31,933,000 in 1938 against $28,030,000 in 1937.

CHANGES TACTICS TO END SECRECY

Berlin from The Hague, Berne, Brussels, Helsingfors, Kaunas, Stockholm and other capitals of Germany's smaller neighbors.

(In the cases where states already have guarantees from Germany, the replies were said to point to these guarantees.

(Rumania, however, was reported in London to have informed Germany that she "does not see how anyone could feel secure in Europe at the present time.")

Officials in Poland, which like Rumania has received a pledge of aid from Britain and France in event of attack on her independence, insisted they had not been consulted.

The Balkan states generally were described as silent but in their capitals their replies were expected to be conciliatory notes.

While uncovering his hand to foreign nations by his questionnaire, Hitler, however, did not take the German public into his confidence.

Not a word was printed in the German press or broadcast about the activity of German diplomacy abroad. Even government spokesmen professed to know about it only through reading foreign dispatches.

Inquiring foreign correspondents were told Germany was concerned merely about knowing who started the whole talk about nations being endangered.

German ambassadors and ministers therefore were instructed, according to a man who knows well the mind of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, to find out whether any of the 31 nations listed by Roosevelt might have furnished the president with a basis for his action.

This informant said he presumed the instructions had been general for envoys to all 31 states but he was unwilling to assert this as a positive fact.

In any event, it was held that Hitler could be sure in advance of a formidable array of replies with which he could conjure in his reichstag speech.

QUESTIONNAIRES GIVEN ORALLY TO NATIONS

LONDON, April 22.—(AP)—Germany's inquiries among some smaller European nations as to whether they feared Nazi aggression were regarded here tonight as an attempt by Reichsfuehrer Hitler to support a contention that President Roosevelt's peace plea was uninvited and unwelcome.

German officials refused to say who received the questionnaire but some diplomats expressed belief it was sent only to those countries from which Germany was almost certain to receive the replies the fuehrer wanted.

The questions, asked orally by the German ministers in various capitals, inquired whether the countries considered themselves menaced by Germany and whether they had asked President Roosevelt's intervention or knew in advance of his plea for at least ten years of assured non-aggression. All whose answers were known replied in the negative to the second question.

It has been indicated in Berlin that President Roosevelt's plea would be rejected by Hitler when he addresses a specially called session of the reichstag next Friday. His axis partner, Premier Mussolini of Italy, already has called it "absurd."

Reliable reports said Rumania had given Hitler an answer that "startled" German officials in Bucharest, replying that she "does not see how anyone could feel secure in Europe at the present time."

The Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, Lithuania, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, however, all were understood to have given the fuehrer more or less conciliatory negative answers.

Included also in Germany's list of questioned nations were said to be the Baltic states, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Spain and Portugal.

The smaller states of southeast Europe remained silent on their answers but it was deemed virtually certain in Budapest that Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria would answer in the negative.

Poland, Germany's big neighbor to the east, and France, her western neighbor, were understood not to have been questioned.

The foreign office in Warsaw said Poland had received no questionnaire and in Athens Greek authorities gave no clue to how Greece responded.

Although Britain was not queried, steps were taken to explain British views of the questionnaire to at least part of the German people.

A German-speaking announcer of the official British Broadcasting corporation explained in detail why it was believed that the small nations to whom Hitler addressed his questions scarcely could be expected to answer that they did feel threatened by Germany or that they welcomed President Roosevelt's plea.

Aside from that, however, Britain was expected to take no action.

ANOTHER UNEASY WEEK IS ENTERED BY EUROPE

(By Associated Press)

Europe entered today another uneasy week in which Adolf Hitler was expected to say "no" to President Roosevelt's appeal for a 10-year peace agreement.

The theme of the fuehrer's answer before the reichstag next Friday was indicated by a poll of Europe's smaller nations which brought a chorus of carefully-phrased negative responses to his query:

"Are you afraid of Germany, did you know in advance of Mr. Roosevelt's move and did you invite it?"

In Washington the chief financial expert of the commerce department said dangerous inflation perils appeared to lay ahead in Germany's domestic path.

The dangers were pointed out in an analysis prepared for Secretary Hopkins of the March 20 decision of the Nazi government to pay part of its bills with tax anticipation certificates.

Elsewhere on the Washington scene, some influential Republicans in the senate had under way a movement for a "compromise" of the current neutrality controversy which would leave the present law unchanged.

The 25 per cent "countervailing" duties on German imports, announced by the United States following the German coup in Czecho-Slovakia, became effective today.

Jockeying for dominant positions continued, meanwhile, on both sides of the Rome-Berlin and London-Paris lineup.

Venetian conferences between the Italian and Yugoslav foreign ministers over the week-end were expected by sources close to both parties to result in a Yugoslav expression of friendship with Rome and Berlin.

Informed Italian sources predicted the Balkan state would be drawn closer to the axis by agreeing to a non-aggression accord with Hungary, an axis satellite and an old Yugoslav foe.

A new batch of French decree laws, announced Friday, will bring France an additional 13,000,000,000 francs ($343,200,000) in revenue, much of which will be allotted the air force.

London officials went to the country for the week-end while the movement of British ships in the Mediterranean indicated preparations for concentrating a large part of Britain's naval power around the Suez canal and also to guard the Mediterranean western gateway at Gibraltar.

British officials were confident that a British-French-Russian agreement soon would be reached, but some doubts were raised in London diplomatic circles.

SUBSTITUTE CREWS SAIL OIL TANKERS

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(AP)—Esso Baton Rouge and Esso Baytown, oil tankers whose crews yesterday joined the strike called by the National Maritime union, a C. I. O. affiliate, sailed from the Standard Oil company docks tonight with substitute crews.

Four tankers remained tied up at the docks north of the city. They are the Hasley, the Esso Houston, the Esso Baltimore and the Thomas E. Pratt. Crews on all four struck.

The six tankers are operated by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. The refinery of Standard Oil of Louisiana operates here.

AIR FORCE LOSS HARD ON NATION

lowing a series of decrees approved yesterday, ordered an increase in small fighting ships and auxiliary naval vessels.

Mers-El-Kebir, a few miles west of Oran, is of particular strategic value because warships could operate from there in the narrow western section of the Mediterranean bounded by the Spanish and Spanish Moroccan coasts.

The new naval vessels, construction of which will begin within a year, include 18 submarine chasers, 12 dredges, one floating dock and 12,140 tons of other small warships.

Publication in today's official journal of yesterday's decrees imposing a one per cent sales tax for armament disclosed that much of the 13,000,000,000 francs $343,200,000) to be raised will be allotted to the air force.

The series of air crashes began late yesterday with the fall of a Farman "221" four-motored bomber in French Morocco, killing six. At Beauvais a Potez "540" twin-motored ship disappeared during the night only a short distance from the airport. A milkman found the wreckage today, the crew of five dead.

The third crash near Tours occurred when two Marcel Bloch "210" twin-motored bombers, flying at the head and tail of a squadron of four, collided. Four men in the first plane and five in the second were killed.

LOUISIANA AIR CAVALCADE ENDS

Four-Day Tour Concluded At New Orleans Without Mishap Or Injury

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—(AP)—The Louisiana air cavalcade ended its four-day 1939 tour here today without a mishap or injury to planes or fliers.

Fifty-four planes flew into Shushan airport from Baton Rouge, where the fliers had lunch, and were given a banquet tonight by the Harry P. Williams branch of the National Aeronautics association in one of the hangars. A dance followed.

All of the planes in the tour, which began Wednesday at Alexandria, were privately owned and flown by civilians.

Captain T. V. Herndon, state governor of the N. A. A., which sponsored the air cavalcade with the Louisiana Aeronautical commission, said there were planes from nine states in the third annual tour.

Captain Herndon and Douglas O. Langstaff of New Orleans, state director of aviation, had charge of the cavalcade, which made stops at Natchitoches, Monroe, Shreveport, Many, Lake Charles, Bogalusa and Lafayette.

The fliers, several of whom were women, and their passengers were greeted at the airport here by Finance Commissioner Jess S. Cave for the city.

BUSTER SIMMONS

During the past few weeks Buster Simmons has stepped up among the leaders in the big Holsum Bread Worlds Fair Contest. Since the contest has only a few more weeks to go, competition among the Holsum Bread Salesmen has become very keen as a number of the salesmen are bunched around first place and much depends on the next few weeks sales. Buster has promised his many customers and friends a close race and says he is trying to show his appreciation to all his boosters by not only giving his customers the best loaf of bread but also the freshest bread in town. He says Holsum Bread is hours fresher.

ACCUSED WIDOW MURDER WITNESS

Will Testify Of 'Close Companionship' With Alleged Slayer Of Husband

NORWALK, O., April 22.—(AP)—A comely widow, accused of plotting her husband's death with the "man across the street," was expected tonight to become a key state witness in prosecuting her engaging neighbor—light-hearted Harold Hastings.

Hastings, a 35-year-old steel worker who wears a perpetual smile, goes on trial Monday. He is charged with first-degree murder in the death of Carl Schlett, 29, run down and killed by a motor car last January.

The victim's widow, Coletta Schlett, 28, will tell of "close companionship" with Hastings prior to her husband's death, a source close to the prosecution said today. She, too, is charged with murder and is scheduled to be tried later.

Prosecutor Rex Bracey asserted a 25-page statement obtained from Mrs. Schlett "will have an important bearing on the case."

"There's plenty of evidence of complicity between them," he said.

Defense Attorney Russell Ramsey meanwhile insisted Hastings had an "iron-clad" alibi. Hastings waived a jury and three judges will try the case.

Hastings, jailed since March 7, said he is "absolutely positive" of acquittal.

"I can prove I wasn't anywhere near the place Schlett's body was found," he said. "I'm not worried."

Headlight glass was found near the body on a snow-swept road. Hastings reported driving his car into the rear of a truck on the night of Schlett's death. The machine was found in a garage, its right front headlight broken.

DEAN NELKEN WILL SPEAK AT TECH ON AGRICULTURE DAY

RUSTON, La., April 22.—(Special)—S. W. Nelken, dean of the vocational education department at Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the Agriculture day celebration at Louisiana Tech Saturday, April 29. This is the first event of its kind to be held at Tech.

The speaker will open the afternoon program at 1:30 o'clock when he will speak from a platform to be erected for the occasion at the rodeo grounds at the Tech farm. Special "hill billy" music will be played at the rodeo to give "color" to the occasion. The same kind of music will be played between dances at the ball Saturday night, according to H. C. Lovett, acting head of the agriculture department. The Tech Collegians, college student orchestra, will furnish the regular dance music.

Besides the rodeo and dance, special exhibits of farm machinery, farm produce, pure-bred stock and chickens, home furnishings and flowers will be on display.

"Everything will be free and open to the public except the dance," Mr. Lovett said. A special invitation, however, has been extended to all farmers in north Louisiana to attend Agriculture day at Tech and to bring their families with them.

"We want to extend to our farmer friends an invitation to take part in and enjoy the Agriculture day shows," Mr. Lovett said. "We want to recognize the work being done by the 'dirt farmer' in this section of the state."

Special emphasis will be given to the individual displays to be made and contributed by farmers who reside in north Louisiana.

BANDED PIGEON FOUND AT CLARKS

CLARKS, La., April 22.—(Special)—A pigeon wearing a metal band attached to its right leg marked AU 38 y 65, came down in the yard of Mrs. Mayo Iles, at Clarks Thursday morning. The bird, completely exhausted, was unable to fly more than three feet from the ground when it was picked up. As there are no pigeons in this neighborhood, it is believed this pigeon is lost.

After it regains sufficient flying strength the bird will be released unless there is some further communication concerning it. Of beautiful markings and tame, the pigeon has received unusual attention in this vicinity.

The inspection service is free—absolutely without obligation. Just communicate with Terminix of Louisiana, the telephone number of which is 1341.

Neon Sign Mfg. Co. Signs Effective

Signs that sell—that's the kind made right here in Monroe by Neon Sign Manufacturing Company, 504-506 Walnut street, a firm that not only engages in the manufacture of electrical signs of every kind, but in electrical contracting, as well.

If you are engaged in business, you ought to have a sign. And the place to get that sign is Neon Sign Manufacturing Company. The firm will design you one that will tell the world where you are located and the kind of enterprise you are engaged in.

The firm specializes in building colorful and arresting Neon sign displays, but it is equipped to make electric signs of any kind. Moreover, it leases signs and engages in sign maintenance.

In addition to that, however, it engages in every phase of commercial and residential electrical wiring and installations. It is equipped to handle the electrical work on the largest of construction projects, but, at the same time, gives careful attention to minor repair jobs. If any of your household appliances fail to function, call Neon Sign Manufacturing Company. Or if your lights fail to function, do the same. The telephone number of the firm is 3510.

If Radiator Of Your Car Fails, Motor Suffers

The radiator is an integral part of your automobile and requires at least a little attention. If it fails to function, the motor, the most expensive part of your car, suffers.

That's why United Electric Service, Inc., 308 North Third street, which offers a number of specialized automotive services, maintains a radiator department. It is the work of this department to restore out-of-order radiators to full usefulness.

By having your radiator cleaned periodically—especially in the spring, before hot weather—you not only save your motor from its greatest enemy, heat, but you keep your oil consumption at a minimum.

Grease from the water pump and rust from the motor block is what gets a radiator. If they don't clog it and cause it to cease functioning entirely, they form a film that insulates the water from the metal of the tubes and reduces the efficiency of the radiator. It is the metal of the tubes, which are in contact with the air, that cool the water of the radiator; but the water must come directly in contact with the metal for the radiator to give maximum efficiency.

When a radiator is cleaned and repaired by the radiator department of United Electric Service, it provides the motor with the amount of water it was designed to supply.

Steel-Flexes Cut Oil Consumption In Auto Motors

Elastic Steel-Flex piston rings will definitely reduce the oil consumption of your automobile motor if it is using more than it should. Distributed in northeast Louisiana by Hearn Piston Ring Sales, 06 North Second street, Elastic Steel-Flex rings are designed expressly to correct oil pumping.

The Elastic Steel-Flex isn't just a conventional expander. It is more than that. While designed to eliminate oil pumping, it is flexible enough to reduce cylinder wall wear to a minimum.

After scores of tests on the toughest cases, Continental Piston Ring company of Memphis, Tenn., manufacturers of Elastic Steel-Flex rings, developed a ring that does the job and does it right. At high speed or low speed—even in tapered cylinders—the Elastic Steel-Flex ring flexes freely, gives maximum unit pressure and controls oil without drag or wear.

Tell your mechanic to use Elastic Steel-Flex rings when he suggests that your motor needs new rings.

Besides Elastic Steel-Flex rings, Hearn Piston Ring Sales distributes Lasco brake lining and Arrow Head pistons and pins. Moreover, it rebores cylinders and fits pins and gives personal service to Monroe and West Monroe garages on piston ring and brake lining installations.

Little Club Place For Baseball Fans

The place to go before and after those ball games at Casino park is the Little Club, located nearby at 2800 DeSiard street. Patrons of the club are allowed to park their automobiles in the spacious grounds of the establishment during the course of the games. This enables them to avoid the traffic congestion following the contests.

Many availed themselves of this free convenience during last season. All patrons of the club are invited to utilize it this year.

For the convenience of its patrons, the Little Club has enlarged its bar and has employed a bartender who knows how to mix 'em like you want 'em. He is familiar with all the latest concoctions as well as the old favorites.

The bar, however, is only a part of the Little Club. It operates a sandwich shop and a night club. The facilities of the latter, where there is dancing every night except Sunday, are free to its patrons. There is no cover charge.

The Little Club is a place where you can have a big time on a small outlay. It fosters fun to the fullest but will not tolerate rowdyism of any kind.

Firestone Has Retreaded And Recapped Tires

Even if you can't afford new tires, there is no reason why you shouldn't travel around on good, serviceable rebuilt tires. You can get those kind of tires at Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store, corner of Washington and North Third streets.

It has a complete stock of both recapped and retreaded tires—tires rebuilt at fully equipped Firestone plants in Shreveport, New Orleans and Memphis by factory-trained tire men. All retreading and recapping is done by and under the supervision of men who have been thoroughly trained by Firestone.

These tires are available at a considerable saving and a liberal trade-in will be given you on your old tires. However, if you wish, you can have your own smooth tires retreaded or recapped. The cost is extremely moderate.

Due to the fast schedules maintained by truck lines operating in and out of Monroe, Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store is in a position to give exceptionally prompt service on retreading and recapping jobs. All such jobs are fully guaranteed, because only perfect tire carcasses are accepted for retreading or recapping. No tires with injured fabric are retreaded or recapped.

Numberless motorists, particularly motor truck operators, have found Firestone retreading and recapping invaluable. While costing much less than new tires, recapped and retreaded tires, when the work is done by Firestone, give virtually as much service.

need for adequate school training, stating that in terms of the fundamental needs of all human beings, there is a tendency of humans to move away from insecurity to security; from failure to success; from the dull monotony to zestful experiences; from being unwanted by society to a state of being admired, respected and looked up to.

When it is considered, the speaker said, that there are seven million children in secondary schools the problem encountered is more serious than that met with in the elementary schools. He stated that it is an established fact that the rank and file of these students will become not all physicians, lawyers and ministers or that they will follow higher brackets of life but rather that the majority will become farmers, mechanics, day laborers and the like.

He asserted that the south has more to educate and less to educate with than other sections of the country and yet the south is spending a larger percentage of its total tax income for education than is the case in other sections of the country. He expressed the opinion that equalized education cannot come without federal financial aid. It remains, in his opinion, he said, to develop a program, federally aided, that will be suited more nearly to the fundamental needs of youth in the social and economic society in which this group forms so large and important a part.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Paul A. Blanchard, president, with Miss Mary Bains, fifth vice-president, presiding. Music was by the Ouachita Parish Glee club, Mrs. George Moffett, director.

The initial address was by Miss Marian Telford, Chicago, of the national congress of safety, in which she discussed "Safety for the Family."

A report of the legislative committee was rendered by C. Girard Davidson, chairman.

Incoming officers were installed by Mrs. W. L. Mabrey, secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Resolutions of thanks were adopted after presentation by Mrs. Earl L. Bradsher, and final report of the credential committee was made by Mrs. R. L. McHenry, after which adjournment was taken.

The following resolution was adopted by the convention:

National Congress

Whereas, the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association is a branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers,

Therefore be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled pledges its support to the objectives and policies of the national congress as set forth in its resolutions and by-laws.

Schools:

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled petitions the governor to appoint the committee, as provided for by the Louisiana legislature in 1938, for the study of the Louisiana schools with a view to incorporating 12 years into the public school system.

Be it further resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association reaffirms its belief in the value of kindergartens and endorses the extension of kindergartens and urges its local branches to cooperate with school authorities in efforts to provide this educational advantage for the children.

Be it further resolved, that every Parent-Teacher unit have as part of the program of one meeting a discussion of legislative measures which affect or provide revenue for finances of public education in the state and that objection be made to the diversion of the severance tax funds from public school use.

Be it further resolved, that the association endorses senate bill 1305, known as the federal aid to education bill—the purpose of which is "to assist states and territories in providing more effective programs of public education."

Safety:

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled reaffirms its stand on the need for safety education, and safety legislation and endorses the following program to provide for safety upon the highways:

The support of a driver's license law for the state of Louisiana, similar to the better laws already prevailing in many other states.

Power given by appropriate legislation to the state superintendent of education, cooperating with the state highway commission, to enforce and improve the general standards for school bus equipment and for qualifications of drivers of school buses.

Cooperation with state department of education, school officials and teachers in the institution of courses of study in traffic safety and in the proper use and care of automobiles; these courses are to be offered in the high schools and should receive regular school credits.

The necessary legislation to eliminate the hazard of livestock at large upon the state highways.

A determination of the individual members of the associations to drive in accordance with traffic regulations, and to keep their cars at all times in good condition both to prevent accidents and to encourage their children and others to become safety conscious.

Juvenile Protection

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled goes on record as being unqualifiedly in favor of the ratification of the child labor amendment, and that the members use all of their personal influence both individually and collectively toward influencing this legislation.

Be it further resolved, that the association recommends that the legislature proceed with the establishment of a state training school for delinquent negro children.

Health And Recreation

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled reaffirms its interest in health and physical educational programs for all school children and recommends the construction of permanent and adequate gymnasia and play grounds at all permanent high schools and large elementary schools in the state, so that an adequate health and physical education program may be carried out to meet the needs of all the children in the schools.

Be it further resolved, that the association recommends the construction of permanent and adequate auditoriums at all permanent high schools and large elementary schools in the state, so that educational programs may be carried out to meet the needs of all the children in the schools.

Be it further resolved, that the association endorses plans for building swimming pools in the larger high schools of the state, particularly with the view toward using these swimming pools as laboratories for health and physical education.

Be it further resolved, that the association goes on record as requesting the further organization of parish-wide health units and adequate personnel to have health programs for all the children of all the people.

Be it further resolved, that the association requests that the state superintendent of education recommend to parish superintendents and boards of education that open school grounds after school hours for recreation of the children of the various communities provided that adequate supervisors for the recreational centers can be received.

Marriage

Be it resolved by the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled that the appropriate committees of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association and the local associations make a study of the laws of Louisiana controlling marriage and family relations with the purpose of developing an intelligent public opinion favoring the revision and the strengthening of these laws by the legislature at the next regular meeting. The phases that should be considered include: 1. A better method of enforcing age requirements for marriage; 2. The prevention of hasty and unwise marriage, probably best attained through a delay of five days between the application for a marriage license and its issuance; and 3. Stricter and more enforceable laws preventing the marriage of those having venereal or other incurable and infectious diseases and those having serious and incurable mental defects.

Alcohol And Narcotics

Be it resolved by the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled that each local Parent-Teacher association should develop an educational program for themselves upon the effects of alcohol and narcotics so that they may cooperate with the schools in the education of children of the development of attitudes towards and knowledge of the injurious effects of alcohol and narcotics, including marihuana.

Be it further resolved that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association requests the administrators and teachers of the public schools to develop a more effective program in the schools for education in the problem of alcohol and narcotics as required by law.

Be it further resolved that the association urges the proper officers of state and local governments strictly to enforce the laws controlling the sale of narcotics and alcohol, especially to prevent their illegal sale to children, and for this purpose the members of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association pledge their cooperation with such officers.

Miscellaneous

Be it resolved that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled hereby expresses its commendation and approval of the valuable and far reaching program of the National Youth administration and urges the congress of the United States to provide adequate and increased funds for this program to be administered under its own organization.

Be it further resolved that this convention transmit certified copies of this resolution to the president of the United States, and vice-president, the members of congress from Louisiana, and the Honorable Aubrey Williams, administrator of National Youth administration.

Special

Be it resolved, that the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association in convention assembled endorses joint resolution No. 64 of the house and senate of U. S. A., whereby a limited number of refugee children from Europe may be admitted to the United States during the years 1939 and 1940.

of it to Great Britain and other nations for tin, rubber and other products this country lacks.

Under his plan, the trades would be accompanied by an agreement to hold the stocks as war reserves unless the world price climbed to a figure to be agreed on before the trade.

Administration circles heard with interest a report published in the London Sunday Dispatch that Great Britain had opened negotiations for purchase of the bulk of the surplus. It was said at the state department that nothing was known of this here. Officials said it was possible, however, that Ambassador Kennedy had been approached at London.

Bankhead said the compromise export plan would be attached to the annual agricultural appropriations bill now pending before a senate committee so that funds would be available to carry it out.

The program would prohibit use or release of any of the cotton now stored under loans until after January 1. Bankhead said this would "give growers ample time to move the present crop."

Export bounties on cotton not under loan could be paid after July 1, start of the new fiscal year for which the agricultural appropriations are available.

While Bankhead said the subsidy would be about 2 cents a pound, he said arrangements would be made so that it could be paid either in cash or cotton. The secretary of agriculture, he said, could buy "free market cotton" if he wished to make payments in kind.

The program would permit subsidies on up to 7,000,000 bales of exports annually. A bale is 500 pounds. Bankhead said 7,000,000 bales was a long-time average of exports and the total was limited to this to avoid complaints "that we are trying to raid foreign markets."

Because foreign mills would buy cotton for less than those in this country, Bankhead said it might be necessary to restrict imports of cotton goods or increase duties on these. He said the president and tariff commission now had authority to do this.

WALLACE BACKS ROOSEVELT PLAN

democracies, in pleading for the cause of peace, should make crystal clear their resolve to be fully prepared against every danger. For the democracies, the cause of peace and the cause of preparedness go hand in hand."

Speaking of the nation's farmers, Secretary Wallace said:

"This week they have won their fight. The supreme court of the United States, in upholding the constitutionality of the marketing quota provisions of the agricultural adjustment act of 1938, has placed the seal of final approval upon the economic democracy the farmers have fought so long to build.

"For the first time since the World war, the farmers have in Washington a sympathetic congress, a sympathetic president and a sympathetic supreme court that has gone back to the constitution itself as a basis for its decisions."

the states heard his off-the-record talks as well. Their judgment on his capacity and party leadership stature will go far to determine his political fate next year.

In one case, his Gridiron dinner appearance, Senator Taft was matched against President Roosevelt. Political Washington hummed for days with talk of what happened then although neither speech, under Gridiron rules, was publishable. In his other off-the-record address, Taft was matched against Thomas E. Dewey, young New York prosecutor, also accounted among the Republicans' most available men for 1940. Thus Taft faced his most formidable rivals within and without his own party in quick succession.

The events of the week could have foreshadowed a triumph or a tragedy for the Ohio senator. Whatever his political role in 1940, he can back date it to April 15 to 21 this year.

Soybeans, a crop of increasing importance in the United States, yielded farmers a cash income of $31,933,000 in 1938 against $28,039,000 in 1937.

Berlin from The Hague, Berne, Brussels, Helsingfors, Kaunas, Stockholm and other capitals of Germany's smaller neighbors.

(In the cases where states already have guarantees from Germany, the replies were said to point to these guarantees.

(Rumania, however, was reported in London to have informed Germany that she "does not see how anyone could feel secure in Europe at the present time.")

Officials in Poland, which like Rumania has received a pledge of aid from Britain and France in event of attack on her independence, insisted they had not been consulted.

The Balkan states generally were described as silent but in their capitals their replies were expected to be conciliatory notes.

While uncovering his hand to foreign nations by his questionnaire, Hitler, however, did not take the German public into his confidence.

Not a word was printed in the German press or broadcast about the activity of German diplomacy abroad. Even government spokesmen professed to know about it only through reading foreign dispatches.

Inquiring foreign correspondents were told Germany was concerned merely about knowing who started the whole talk about nations being endangered.

German ambassadors and ministers therefore were instructed, according to a man who knows well the mind of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, to find out whether any of the 31 nations listed by Roosevelt might have furnished the president with a basis for his action.

This informant said he presumed the instructions had been general for envoys to all 31 states but he was unwilling to assert this as a positive fact.

In any event, it was held that Hitler could be sure in advance of a formidable array of replies with which he could conjure in his reichstag speech.

QUESTIONNAIRES GIVEN ORALLY TO NATIONS

LONDON, April 22.—(P)—Germany's inquiries among some smaller European nations as to whether they feared Nazi aggression were regarded here tonight as an attempt by Reichsfuehrer Hitler to support a contention that President Roosevelt's peace plea was uninvited and unwelcome.

German officials refused to say who received the questionnaire but some diplomats expressed belief it was sent only to those countries from which Germany was almost certain to receive the replies the fuehrer wanted.

The questions asked [illegible] the German ministers [illegible] inquired whether the [illegible] considered themselves menaced by Germany and whether they had asked President Roosevelt's intervention or knew in advance of his plea for at least ten years of assured nonaggression. All whose answers were known replied in the negative to the second question.

It has been indicated in Berlin that President Roosevelt's plea would be rejected by Hitler when he addresses a specially called session of the reichstag next Friday. His axis partner, Premier Mussolini of Italy, already has called it absurd.

Reliable reports said Rumania has given Hitler an answer that startled German officials in Bucharest, replying that she does not see how anyone could feel secure in Europe at the present time.

The Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, Lithuania, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, however, all were understood to have given the fuehrer more or less conciliatory negative answers.

Included also in Germany's list of questioned nations were said to be the Baltic states, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Spain and Portugal.

The smaller states of southeast Europe remained silent on their answers but it was deemed virtually certain in Budapest that Hungary, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria would answer in the negative.

Poland, Germany's big neighbor to the east, and France, her western neighbor, were understood not to have been questioned.

The foreign office in Warsaw said Poland had received no questionnaire and in Athens Greek authorities gave no clue to how Greece responded.

Although Britain was not queried, steps were taken to explain British views of the questionnaire to at least part of the German people.

A German-speaking announcer of the official British Broadcasting corporation explained in detail why it was believed that the small nations to whom Hitler addressed his questions scarcely could be expected to answer that they did feel threatened by Germany or that they welcomed President Roosevelt's plea.

Aside from that, however, Britain was expected to take no action.

ANOTHER UNEASY WEEK IS ENTERED BY EUROPE

(By Associated Press)

Europe entered today another uneasy week in which Adolf Hitler was expected to say "no" to President Roosevelt's appeal for a 10-year peace agreement.

The theme of the fuehrer's answer before the reichstag next Friday was indicated by a poll of Europe's smaller nations which brought a chorus of carefully-phrased negative responses to his query:

"Are you afraid of Germany, did you know in advance of Mr. Roosevelt's move and did you invite it?"

In Washington the chief financial expert of the commerce department said dangerous inflation perils appeared to lay ahead in Germany's domestic path.

The dangers were pointed out in an analysis prepared for Secretary Hopkins of the March 20 decision of the Nazi government to pay part of its bills with tax anticipation certificates.

Elsewhere on the Washington scene, some influential Republicans in the senate had under way a movement for a "compromise" of the current neutrality controversy which would leave the present law unchanged.

LOUISIANA AIR CAVALCADE ENDS

Four-Day Tour Concluded At New Orleans Without Mishap Or Injury

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—(P)—The Louisiana air cavalcade ended its four-day 1939 tour here today without a mishap or injury to planes or fliers.

Fifty-four planes flew into Shushan airport from Baton Rouge, where the fliers had lunch, and were given a banquet tonight by the Harry P. Williams branch of the National Aeronautics association in one of the hangars. A dance followed.

All of the planes in the tour, which began Wednesday at Alexandria, were privately owned and flown by civilians.

Captain T. V. Herndon, state governor of the N. A. A., which sponsored the air cavalcade with the Louisiana Aeronautical commission, said there were planes from nine states in the third annual tour.

Captain Herndon and Douglas O. Langstaff of New Orleans, state director of aviation, had charge of the cavalcade, which made stops at Natchitoches, Monroe, Shreveport, Many, Lake Charles, Bogalusa and Lafayette.

The fliers, several of whom were women, and their passengers were greeted at the airport here by Finance Commissioner Jess S. Cave for the city.

During the past few weeks Buster Simmons has stepped up among the leaders in the big Holsum Bread Worlds Fair Contest. Since the contest has only a few more weeks to go, competition among the Holsum Bread Salesmen has become very keen as a number of the salesmen are bunched around first place and much depends on the next few weeks sales. Buster has promised his many customers and friends a close race and says he is trying to show his appreciation to all his boosters by not only giving his customers the best loaf of bread but also the freshest bread in town. He says Holsum Bread is hours fresher.

SOX TAKE FOURTH STRAIGHT FROM EL DORADO

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

OKAY SO FAR

It's too early, of course, to tell just what's going to happen in the Cotton States league this season but so far the sample has been very satisfactory, from a Monroe standpoint.

At this writing (before Saturday night's game), the White Sox have won three games in good style. The Sox looked ragged afield Friday night but they came from behind on two occasions and the punch was there when the chips were down.

It might be well to call attention to one encouraging fact: The boys have been bunching their hits. In two of the games, Monroe was outhit, yet won. Thursday night the club got but three hits, yet won 4-3. True, the Sox benefitted by several passes and an error or two, but the blows were there when needed. Friday night El Dorado made 12 hits to 10 for Monroe, but the Sox won 9-7. In the opener at El Dorado Wednesday Monroe made 15 runs on 11 hits. That's really taking advantage of the opportunities.

So far, the club looks good enough to take care of itself in this company. A reinforcement here or one there may be needed in due time but Manager Doug Taitt has more than a fine nucleus around which to fashion his first division club.

Murrell Jones looks like a great prospect at first base. He stretches far and wide in all directions and in the first three games he undoubtedly has prevented several errors on throws to first. Naturally, he needs polishing up a bit on ground balls but this is his first year in professional baseball and Taitt says he's the best looking prospect he's seen break in in many a year. As soon as he gets over his stagefright, Jonesy should start pounding that apple, and the scouts will start swarming in. If even one simon-pure clicks in his first year it will mean money in the bank for the owners.

Most of the others have been playing good ball. Frank Hargrove, the youngster sent here by Dallas as a first baseman, has been shooed into the outer pasture and has been rapping that ball. Bill McClain, another kid farmed out by the Texas club, has been performing up to advance notices, and his fielding has been particularly satisfactory. That was the only question about his ability to make the grade.

The youngsters are hustling, and their example has instilled new life in the lads who already had clinched their jobs. So far, the Sox have come through in the clutch admirably, and that's what wins ball games.

BASEBALL'S CENTENNIAL

That's the title of a new poem written by L. H. Addington, publicity director for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and it's dedicated to the game that has endured through 100 years and is this year celebrating its centennial.

Baseball has truly earned the tag "The National Pastime" and there's food for thought in Add's ditty. It won't live as long as "Casey At the Bat," of course, but it's well worth reprinting. Here it is:

One hundred years of baseball,
Turn back historic pages;
The game that's now a century old
Has flourished through the ages.

A hundred years of wholesome sport,
Replete with skill and action;
A game that knows no boundary lines
Of race or creed or faction.

A game that's thrilled the rich and poor,
The mighty and the humble;
Each knows the joy of sparkling play,
The tragedy of fumble.

The melting pot of human souls,
Where elbows rub together;
Where banker cheers with tradesman
At the crash of bat and leather.

One hundred years of baseball!
May it thrive a thousand more;
May it show a winning record

DUBACH PLAYS BYRD MONDAY

Plungers Will Try To Make It Two Straight Over Yellow Jackets

DUBACH, La., April 22.—(Special)—The Dubach High school Plungers will be host to the Byrd Yellow Jackets when they meet in the final of a two-game series at Dubach Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the first game, Dubach defeated the Byrdmen, 11 to 9, in Shreveport and the second game is expected to be hard-played, as Byrd will be trying to split the series and Dubach will be trying to make it two straight.

The Plungers have shown much improvement since the north Louisiana rally and they will be at full strength for the first time this season in Monday's game. This week Dubach defeated Byrd, 11 to 9; Bernice, 7 to 6, and Simsboro, 18 to 10, in games played away from here. Beginning Monday, the locals meet Byrd, Louisiana Tech freshmen and Clarks High school at Dubach.

Pat Manning has returned to first base for the first time this season and in the Simsboro game collected four safe blows in five trips, including two doubles. He has been absent from the team due to scholastic difficulties. Payne will return to his regular catching duties, which is expected to strengthen that department considerably and allow Jenkins to go to second to bolster that department. Payne has been out, due to a broken finger received during the last part of the football season.

The Plungers have lost only one high school game this year on their regular schedule. Farmerville defeated the locals, 9 to 1. Dubach lost to Ruston, 6 to 3, at the north Louisiana rally, and the Tech freshmen have been victorious twice by wide margins.

With the return of Payne and Manning, the Dubach team is expected to be much improved both on offense and defense. The locals have won the state championship in class B baseball for the last two years and will go to Baton Rouge May 4, 5 and 6 to defend their title.

A new grandstand has been completed for the local high school through donations by G. L. Trammell, E. B. Tatum and the Louisiana Power and Light company.

S. A. A. U. MEET SLATED MAY 13

Track Event At Orleans To Attract Louisiana, Mississippi Athletes

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—(AP)—The Southern A. A. U. track and field championships at New Orleans Saturday, May 13, will give Louisiana State university and Tulane a good warming up for the Southeastern conference meet a week later.

L. DiBenedetto, chairman of the A. A. U. track and field committee, said these colleges would enter full teams among the more than 100 athletes entered from Louisiana and Mississippi.

Southwestern Louisiana institute and Louisiana Normal, other colleges in the S. A. A. U., will take part previously in the district Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association championships at Natchitoches, La., on May 6.

Meanwhile DiBenedetto said the best A. A. U. meet of recent years would be held at Loyola stadium because of the fine entries and the fact that the main meet would be strictly a senior event this year instead of a junior and a senior day.

Most of the teams were boasting of fine athletes, including Billy Brown, J. C. Duvall, Frank Hurch, Jake Waterer, Ed Woncatt and others from L. S. U.; Millard White, Tulane's prospective candidate for the Olympics; Randall Stelly, Southwestern's two-miler, and Louisiana Normal's Burnell Webb, a 9.6 sprinter.

The best performers in the southern championships are to enter the National A. A. U. tournament July 3 and 4 at Lincoln, Neb.

PANAMA AL BROWN STOPS JARAMILLO

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Panama Al Brown, former world bantamweight champion, who still is recognized in Europe as titleholder, celebrated his return to New York tonight by stopping young Cristobal Jaramillo of Puerto Rico in the fourth round of their eight-round bout at Rockland palace.

It was Brown's first fight in America in six years. He weighed 126¾; Jaramillo, 124¾.

The veteran held off Jaramillo's headlong rushes with long, accurate left jabs for the first three rounds. In the fourth he downed the Puerto Rican with a hard right to the jaw, and when Jaramillo got up Al put over another right that almost drove him through the ropes. At this point Referee Al Reich called a halt. The time was 1:24.

LON ALSO STARS AT BAT AGAINST LOOP CHAMPIONS

Larry French Pitches Well Except For One Inning; Root Blasted

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—(AP)—Pitching a brilliant 4-hit shutout against the Chicago Cubs wasn't enough for Lon Warneke today.

Lon Warneke

The lean son of Arkansas made himself practically the whole show by smashing out two hits, one of them a double with the bases loaded, as the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Cubs, 9 to 0.

Plainly disgusted after two of his teammates had failed in the pinch, Warneke strode to the plate in the second inning and slammed the ball up against the fence in left-center field to drive in three runs, more than he really needed to win.

Except for that one slip against Warneke, southpaw Larry French checked the Cardinals during his seven innings on the mound. He was removed for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

The Cardinals went on a batting spree against the veteran Charlie Root, who replaced him. Mickey Owen led off with the Red Birds' first homer of the year and, before the inning was over, six runs had crossed the plate. Terry Moore hit a double with the bases loaded. Warneke also figured in the rally, getting a single and scoring a run.

GIANTS NOSE OUT BEES

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—The New York Giants handed the Boston Bees their first setback of the season today, 6 to 5. It was a see-saw game decided by the timely hitting of Frank Demaree and the good relief pitching of Bill Lohrman.

The former Chicago outfielder had three hits for a perfect batting day and knocked in the final and deciding Giant run in the sixth after Zeke Bonura doubled to score Ott.

DiMaggio Seen As Best All-Around Ball Player

New York Yankee Ball Hawk's Fielding And Hitting Both Superb

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Every time you see Joe DiMaggio take that effortless swing of his or race back against the boards to rob some luckless batter of a triple, you can't help getting a sneaking feeling that here, perhaps, is the greatest all-around ball player there has been.

There undoubtedly have been scores of them with more color, many who would run the bases more spectacularly, a select few like Babe Ruth and Jimmie Foxx who hit the ball a little further when they connected squarely, but I wonder if there has been one who could do everything quite so well.

Some of the old-timers who saw Tris Speaker in his prime say the "Grey Eagle" was a better ball hawk, but it doesn't seem possible. Speaker, they say, knew more than DiMaggio does at this stage about playing for different batsmen, hence had a quicker jump on the ball.

Possibly true, but DiMaggio starts so terrifically fast at the crack of the bat and goes so unerringly to the right spot that it couldn't make much difference. He roams centerfield and hunks of right and left fields with such deadly skill that he is bound to be a downright mental hazard to opposing batters. His throwing arm is a slingshot.

As for Joe's batting, the possibilities are limitless. I don't doubt we'll see him hit .400 almost any season now, with about 40 homeruns into the bargain. Opposing pitchers this year will walk him purposely to get at Lou Gehrig nearly as often as they used to walk Ruth. They've virtually quit giving him a ball to hit at in the tight spots.

If the Yankees were to lose DiMaggio tomorrow they would be no better than an event bet in my book to beat out the Boston Red Sox. He and Red Ruffing and Bill Dickey are the backbone of the three-time world champions. These are the three who take the heart out of the opposition.

Ruffing is a far greater pitcher than is generally realized. At 36 he still is so overpoweringly big and fast and smart that any team he faces is half-licked before he throws a ball. You often read that a pitcher "toyed" with the opposition, but Red can come nearer doing just that day after day than any man in the game. The Red Sox will be slow shaking off the plastering he gave them in the opener.

Dickey, of course, is baseball's top catcher, the perfect workman behind the plate and one of the most feared sluggers in either league. The Yankees might think they have a full-fledged replacement for him in Buddy Rosar, but don't you believe it.

DiMaggio, by the way, finally has begun to thaw out the Yankee fans. They were down on him much of last season because of his protracted hold-out and the failure of the team to get going without him, but he is making them forget that.

When he emerges from the stadium now in late afternoon there is the same swarm of youngsters awaiting him that used to surround the Bambino, and they yell just as lustily. His appearance at the plate brings a splitting cheer in place of last year's razzberries. Joe is beginning to smile again.

T. M. DORSETT TAKES STUYVESANT HANDICAP

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—El Chico didn't come to the races today, but in his absence another Kentucky Derby and Preakness candidate, Joe W. Brown's long-striding T. W. Dorsett, drew the fancy of a crowd of 18,000 by a driving victory in the Stuyvesant handicap six furlongs at Jamaica.

Trainer Matt Brady, who had insisted only 48 hours earlier that Chico would go in today's feature sprint, didn't please the crowd any too well by unexpectedly scratching the little Derby contender and letting him work out a mile on Belmont park's main track this morning instead.

Favored at 7-5 in the field of eight, T. M. Dorsett covered the three-quarter mile in 1:12 1-5 to collect the $3,925 winner's share of the purse. Star Runner, saving the place spot by a neck from A. G. C. Sage's Entracte, returned 2-1.

MONARCHS, GIANTS PLAY WEDNESDAY

Strong Negro Baseball Clubs To Clash At Casino Park At Eight P. M.

The Kansas City Monarchs and the Chicago American Giants, two of the strongest teams in negro baseball, will meet at Casino park Wednesday night, starting at 8 o'clock. The Monarchs defeated the Memphis Red Sox, 5 to 2, recently in a game here.

The Giants and the Monarchs boast several outstanding stars of negro baseball, both narrowly winning the pennant last year. They have been training in the south this spring, the Giants at Jacksonville, Fla., and the Monarchs at New Orleans. Each spring the two clubs play a five-game series on the way north.

Andy Cooper, manager of the Monarchs, and Jim Taylor, manager of the Chicago American Giants, were both star players in their day, and both have been connected with the league since its start. Cooper for years was the outstanding left hander of the league, while Candy Jim Taylor was a third sacker and always one of the great hitters in negro baseball.

Few ball players even in the major leagues have played baseball in as many countries as Cooper. He has played winter ball many winters in Cuba, also Mexico, South America and twice was selected as manager for a negro club that played in Japan.

In the Monarch lineup will be several new players. Behind the bat the club will have two young catchers James Hardy and Lionel Decuir. The club claims the fastest outfield in the league. In left field is Williard Brown, fast and the leading home run hitter of the league. Brown hit 43 home runs in the league last season. In center is Turkey Stearnes, one of the best known ball players in the league. In right field is Henry Milton, one of the smallest players in the league, but a hard hitter and the leading base runner of the circuit.

28 ROUNDS OF BOXING PLANNED AT LOCAL ARENA

First Professional Boxing Card In Several Years Slated Monday

Twenty-eight rounds of boxing are scheduled for tomorrow night when Gus Kallio, former world's middleweight wrestling champion, promotes his initial fistic card in the Monroe Wrestling arena.

It will be the first professional boxing card here since Charles Bruscato promoted boxing for a time in the old Roosevelt stadium, and Promoter Kallio apparently has contacted some stellar mittmen for the four-bout card.

The main event, slated for 10 rounds, will bring together Grady Flynn, 164, of Greenwood, Miss., and Buck Ferguson, 168, of Kansas City, Mo. Flynn is rated as one of the best in his class in the south, according to Promoter Kallio, and is a rugged battler. Little is known here of Ferguson, but the matchmaker states he is being sent here highly recommended.

The eight-round semi-final will bring into action "Red" Taylor, Arcadia lightweight, and Doug Gibson of Charlotte, N. C. Gibson is a classy type of fighter that should be a crowd pleaser, according to advance notices, while Taylor, a natural left-hander with a hard right, is of the more aggressive type.

A pair of heavyweights and a couple of welterweights will take care of the preliminaries.

Bob Ladlow, 190, of Bentonia, Miss., will meet George Vallas, 185, of Vicksburg, in a six-round preliminary; the four-round curtain raiser will bring together Walter "Bulldog" Brady, former Neville High school battler of Monroe, and Jimmy Orr, stellar Vicksburg mittman.

The boxing card was arranged by Promoter Kallio at "the fans' request," and if the show proves a success he will continue promoting boxing through the summer. Promoter Kallio has been commissioned by the state athletic commission to promote both boxing and wrestling here. He has already been handling programs involving grapplers for several weeks.

LAFAYETTE, FORTIER ENTERED IN TOURNEY

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(Special)—Lafayette High school and Fortier High school of New Orleans are the first entries in the third annual state high school golf tournament to be held over the Louisiana State university course next Friday and Saturday.

Each school entered two-man teams in the quest for the team title and the individual crown. Woodrow Fournier and Junius Hebert will represent Lafayette, while Fortier sent in the names of Leo Miller and Ben Brill.

The tournament will be decided on the basis of 36 holes of medal play, 18 holes Friday and 18 holes Saturday. Prizes will be given the school whose team of two makes the lowest score and to the individuals who make the lowest and the second lowest scores.

Ben Downing, of Monroe, won the first two individual titles, successfully defending his championship last April with a 77-70—147. Warren Easton's team of John Stahl and Marc Labaro won the team crown in 1938 with 319.

MONROE SWAMPS LIONS, 21-6, TO SWEEP SERIES

Visitors Commit 11 Errors As Locals Romp To Victory On 18 Hits

PLAY BUCKS TODAY

Manager Doug Taitt travels with his Sox to Greenville today for the first game of the season with the Buckshots this afternoon. Either John Yelovic or Kenneth "Red" Andrews will start against the Greenville club, Manager Taitt announced.

For the benefit of local fans who may want to go to Greenville for the single game this afternoon, Manager Jimmy Powell last night wired Manager Taitt that there had been a "washout" at the Greenville ferry, and that the local club and fans should come to Greenville via Vicksburg.

Local club officials last night announced the sale of Pitcher Bill Howell, recently returned here by Syracuse, to the Richmond club of the Piedmont league. The Sox will also have two new outfielders on hand in the next couple of days, Foster Smith from Richmond and Chester Cooper from Anniston of the Southeastern loop. Both Smith and Cooper will come to Monroe on option. Cooper played with Fulton, Ky., in the Kitty league league last year, hitting .324.

way to the lopsided Monroe score, although the Sox came through with their steadiest hitting of the season in rapping three El Dorado hurlers for 18 hits.

Close playing by the Sox limited the visitors to six runs, despite the fact that the Lions got nine hits and 11 free passes.

The Lions were chalked for 11 errors, four coming in the first inning, when the Sox got only one hit and scored four times, and four more coming in the eighth, when Monroe, again with one hit, scored four more runs.

The Sox' biggest inning was the fifth, when they knocked out five hits, scored six runs and benefitted by one error.

Kelton Maxfield, left-handed hurler obtained by Monroe from Opelousas of the Evangeline league, pitched the Sox to victory and limited the invaders to eight hits, although his wildness resulted in 11 bases on balls. The southpaw did himself proud at bat, however, getting a triple, a double and a single in four times at bat, and scoring three runs.

Johnny Conway, shortstop, still had his batting eye working last night. He singled four times in six times at bat and scored twice. Frank Hargrove, Hackney and Robert Link also hit triples for the Sox.

Link, Conway and McClain, first three to come to bat for Monroe in the initial frame, were all safe as the result of errors. Link scored on an error, Conway scored on the error that put McClain on base and McClain scored on Hackney's hit past shortstop. Hackney scored when Tone let Oleks' throw of Pruitt's drive get through him at second. The ball bounded into the outfield and Hackney beat the throw in to the plate.

Maxfield doubled, went to third on

THINGS WORTH KNOWING!

DEAN NELKEN WILL SPEAK AT TECH ON AGRICULTURE DAY

RUSTON, La., April 22.—(Special)—S. W. Nelken, dean of the vocational education department at Louisiana State Normal college at Natchitoches, has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the Agriculture day celebration at Louisiana Tech Saturday, April 29. This is the first event of its kind to be held at Tech.

The speaker will open the afternoon program at 1:30 o'clock when he will speak from a platform to be erected for the occasion at the rodeo grounds at the Tech farm. Special "hill billy" music will be played at the rodeo to give "color" to the occasion. The same kind of music will be played between dances at the ball Saturday night, according to H. C. Lovett, acting head of the agriculture department. The Tech Collegians, college student orchestra, will furnish the regular dance music.

Besides the rodeo and dance, special exhibits of farm machinery, farm produce, pure-bred stock and chickens, home furnishings and flowers will be on display.

"Everything will be free and open to the public except the dance," Mr. Lovett said. A special invitation, however, has been extended to all farmers in north Louisiana to attend Agriculture day at Tech and to bring their families with them.

"We want to extend to our farmer friends an invitation to take part in and enjoy the Agriculture day shows," Mr. Lovett said. "We want to recognize the work being done by the 'dirt farmer' in this section of the state."

Special emphasis will be given to the individual displays to be made and contributed by farmers who reside in north Louisiana.

Firestone Has Retreaded And Recapped Tires

Even if you can't afford new tires, there is no reason why you shouldn't travel around on good, serviceable rebuilt tires. You can get those kind of tires at Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store, corner of Washington and North Third streets.

It has a complete stock of both recapped and retreaded tires—tires rebuilt at fully equipped Firestone plants in Shreveport, New Orleans and Memphis by factory-trained tire men. All retreading and recapping is done by and under the supervision of men who have been thoroughly trained by Firestone.

These tires are available at a considerable saving and a liberal trade-in will be given you on your old tires. However, if you wish, you can have your own smooth tires retreaded or recapped. The cost is extremely moderate.

Due to the fast schedules maintained by truck lines operating in and out of Monroe, Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store is in a position to give exceptionally prompt service on retreading and recapping jobs. All such jobs are fully guaranteed, because only perfect tire carcasses are accepted for retreading or recapping. No tires with injured fabric are retreaded or recapped.

Numberless motorists, particularly motor truck operators, have found Firestone retreading and recapping invaluable. While costing much less than new tires, recapped and retreaded tires, when the work is done by Firestone, give virtually as much service.

YANKEES STOPPED, 3 TO 1, BY WASHINGTON

LEONARD ALLOWS BUT SIX BINGLES TO WIN FOR NATS

Victors Bunch Three Of Four Hits Off Hildebrand To Triumph

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—Somebody had to be the first to stop the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators accepted the opportunity today, bunching three of their four hits in the third inning for a 3 to 1 victory.

Two veterans, Emil (Dutch) Leonard, the Senators' knuckle-ball artist, and Oral Hildebrand, obtained by the Yankees during the winter from the St. Louis Browns, faced each other in a sparkling pitching duel.

Leonard kept half a dozen hits scattered, no more than one to an inning, to richly deserve his triumph. He had trouble, however, with Tommy Henrich, who tripled in the third to score Red Rolfe. Henrich also had a double and a base on balls.

Hildebrand was even more flashy than his opponent except for the disastrous third, which Rick Ferrell opened by singling. Leonard advanced him to second with a sacrifice and George Case was walked. Then Sam West doubled Ferrell home and big Taft Wright lifted a mighty triple against the fence in right-center scoring Case and West.

BROWNS BEST WHITE SOX

CHICAGO, April 22.—(AP)—Buck Newsom picked up where he left off last year and struck out 10 White Sox today to give the St. Louis Browns a 5-1 victory over the Chicagoans as they finally got their league season under way.

Newsom, a 20-game winner with a seventh place club in 1938, minimized seven hits, all but one of which came after two were out. Harlond Clift's second-inning homer off Ted Lyons, who was starting his 17th season for the Sox, was followed by three runs in the fourth on George McQuinn's single, Myril Hoag's double and Rookie Johnny Berardino's single. McQuinn's third hit, a double, led to the other run in the eighth.

THREE RECORDS SHATTERED AT KANSAS RELAYS

Shot-Put, Pole Vault And Medley Relay Marks Broken At Meet

By Harold Claassen

LAWRENCE, Kans., April 22.—(AP)—Elmer Hackney, Kansas State's strongman shot-putter, bet a teammate a quart of ice cream he could break the record on his final toss today. Then he heaved the pellet 52 feet, 1 1-2 inches for one of the three new marks established at the windswept 17th annual University of Kansas relays.

Beefus Bryan, the Texas skylark, cleared the pole vault bar at 14 feet, 2 inches on his first trial for a new record in that event. He and Don Bird, of the host Kansas team, battled all the way up the ladder and Bird scraped off the bar with his chest on his third trial.

Wayne and Blaine Rideout, the ground-covering twins from North Texas Teachers, collaborated with two teammates to amputate more than 17 seconds from the record in the college distance medley relay. Wayne took the baton for the three-fourths mile leg with a lead of about 70 yards. He extended it to 180 before turning the stick over to Brother Blaine who ankled a 4:13 mile to finish fully 220 yards ahead of his nearest rival.

The Texans finished in 10:06.9, seven and two-tenths seconds better than Missouri did in winning the university section on the strength of a 4:12 mile by "Lonesome John" Munski. The old college record was 10:24.1, set by Wichita university in 1931.

A fourth mark was established by the crowd, which numbered 12,000.

The throng saw the great Glenn Cunningham register a hollow victory—his first in three years in the Cunningham Mile. The time, of almost high school caliber, was 4:29.2. Chuck Fenske, his only opponent, took the lead at the outset and was still a stride ahead with but 220 yards to go when Glenn forged to the front in the final 100 yards. The Kansan, whose record of 4:12.7 was set in 1934, led by a yard.

Michigan State's star sprinter, Wilbur Greer, pulled a leg muscle in his "rubber" encounter with Mozel Ellerbee, national collegiate champion from Tuskegee institute, in the 100-yard dash, and the dusky speedster sneaked just inches ahead of the limping Greer in the final strides.

Even the south wind, blowing at a seven-mile pace at the time, couldn't push Fred Wolcott of Rice over the 120-yard hurdles fast enough to create a new record. Wolcott, running with a leg injury, was seven yards in the lead at the finish with the time 14.3.

The Rice sprinters retained their championship in the 440-yard relay, and Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. and M. won four of the seven foursomes in the university division. Missouri and Michigan State were the only northern teams to break the domination of the southwest.

HURLS NO-HITTER

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., April 22.—(AP)—Righthander Johnny Davis hurled a no-hit game as Santa Cruz high school defeated Monterey High 13-0, yesterday. The sophomore fanned 13 and walked none.

Tests have been made in which a plane equipped with floats for landings in water has been safely landed on land with no noticeable injury to the floats. In an emergency, it is possible for the plane to take off from land with very little damage.

'BEST SINCE 1924'

Fluitt Hundley, above, of Monroe, has been a luminary of the Louisiana State university baseball team all season, according to reports received here, and has been rated by W. I. Spencer, Baton Rouge sports columnist, as the best second baseman at L. S. U. since 1924. Spencer writes concerning Hundley: "He has been a revelation to us, turning in the best second-basing job an L. S. U. man ever produced since I began following them in 1924. He has been a tremendous factor in the success of the best L. S. U. team that has come down the pike in 15 years." Fluitt has been out of the Tiger lineup recently with a pulled muscle.

Experiment Proves Fish Favor Rising Barometer

Water Laboratory Established To Study Habits Of Finny Ones

By Brainerd C. Snider
(NEA Service Special Correspondent)

LINCOLN, Ill., April 22.—The perfect fishing hole—a 3.65 acre water laboratory—in which fish are plenteous and obliging, has been established by the Lincoln Sportsmen's club, whose members aided in inauguration of the nationwide tests that established the barometer as the true fishing index.

Here bass reared under non-competitive natural feeding conditions are taken at designated intervals by fly and bait casters in the interest of science and sport.

The only chore exacted of the laboratory anglers before placing fish on stringers is bertillon measurement. Weight, length and scale samples are recorded for study of age and growth determination by the Illinois Natural History survey.

In addition to this piscatorial fingerprinting, barometric readings are logged for a further study of why fish refuse to strike on a falling barometer and to what extent they react at varying depths during stationary periods of atmospheric pressure.

In cleaning up this small experimental lake, poison removed 325 pounds of fish per acre. Two-thirds were rough fish—buffalo, shad, quillbacks, suckers, carp and gar.

So stunted were the starved gamefish that of 1,480 crappies none was of legal size.

The renovated waters were planted by the natural history survey with proper aquatic growth for various depths, and were heavily stocked with breeder bass and bluegills.

Crappies were omitted as competitors for the same fare as bass.

Even feed for the food for fish was introduced. Soybean meal, to nourish the minute crustacea that furnish life for minnows, is dumped regularly in the waters.

Initial tests by Dr. David H. Thompson, chief zoologist, indicated that young bass grew eight inches in four months.

Microscopic examination of scale samples revealed adult fish, properly fed, may be fattened as readily as corn-fed hogs.

Scores of fishermen in the United States and Canada joined last year in the Lincoln barometer fishing tests to prove the sport is best on a high or rising barometer.

More than 500 fishing days have been reported confirming the theory as 94 per cent efficient.

It was ascertained that when an unfluctuating period sets in under low pressure some fish may be taken by sinking the bait deep.

A barometer that had risen for 12 hours to 30.20 enabled John R. Parker and three companions to set a dolphin record in the Gulf Stream below Miami Beach on March 5. In 49 minutes they boated 42 dolphin ranging from three to four feet. A few days before they took but one fish in eight hours on a falling barometer.

Ice fishing tests during the winter indicated air pressure is intensified through an ice hole. Roy Johnson of Cumberland, Wis., found all good catches came on a high barometer.

Texas fishermen are including barometers among tackle box equipment.

Perry M. Hargrove, checking fishing parties for 90 fall days within a 100-mile radius of Dallas, found fish refused to bite on 10 days only. The barometer was falling each of these days. On 80 high pressure days, virtually all hands took fish.

Now that fishing has gone scientific in a new way it becomes increasingly apparent that a barometer is as essential a part of a fisherman's equipment as rod, reel, lures and the well-known bottle of bait.

REGULATION GAME WILL END MAROON GRID DRILLS

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., April 22.—(AP)—A regulation game April 29 between teams picked from the football squad will terminate spring practice at Mississippi State college.

Head Coach Allyn McKeen said today that he and his assistants would make a "careful division" of players for the game which was to be followed by a banquet for students, faculty and alumni.

McKeen said spring drills were satisfactory but refused to forecast fall prospects except to say "the fellows will be in there playing."

"The attitude of the players during the time they have been under my supervision," McKeen said, "has been all anyone could ask for."

The regulation game will end five weeks of spring practice which began soon after McKeen, Murray Warmoth and Bowden Wyatt were selected to coach the Maroons.

Alsay Addison, 18, who has only one arm, was a star on the 1939 basket ball team of Holden high school in Louisiana.

BULLDOGS TAKE SECOND TILT BY 18 TO 1 SCORE

Ahern, Badger Shortstop, Wallops Homer To Save Team From Blanking

RUSTON, La., April 22.—(Special)—Scoring practically at will, Louisiana Tech's ball-bleeding Bulldogs routed the Spring Hill college Badgers of Mobile, Ala., 18-1, here this afternoon, sweeping a two-game stand.

With Lawrence Hinton, ace varsity portsider for the Canines, going the full route and allowing only five scattered blows, the Bulldogs had easy going all the way. They picked on the offerings of three Spring Hill pitchers for 15 base knocks, all of them singles except a double by Dick Willett in the second stanza.

The Badgers came out of their hole only once all afternoon to do any real damage to the Techmen. Leading off in fifth inning for the Alabamians, Ahern, Spring Hill shortstop, caught one of Hinton's fast balls on the nose and rode it over the right field barrier for his team's lone tally.

The Bulldogs scored one run in the first inning and another in the second, two in the third and two more in the fifth. But the real rout started in the lucky seventh, being continued into the eighth. Ten men went to bat in the stretch inning for the Canines. Hits by Sumrall, Young and Willett and walks given to Williamson, Hinton, Burt and Caston accounted for five runs before the side was retired.

Breaking loose again in the eighth, the Bulldogs chalked up seven more runs when 14 of their number paraded to the platter.

Credit for the loss was shunted to Minton, who started for the Badgers.

NEWCOMERS WILL WRESTLE IN CITY

Promoter Kallio Books Buck Davidson And Sim Valley For Mat Program

Two newcomers to the wrestling wars of the south, Buck Davidson of Indiana and Sim Valley of Idaho, have been carded by Promoter Gus Kallio for the weekly wrestling program Wednesday night at the Monroe Wrestling arena.

Davidson will oppose Carl von Bromberg, the rugged German, in the main event and Valley will meet Ned Taylor of Washington state in the semi-final bout.

Each of the newcomers has established a reputation in his section of the country, Davidson in the north central states and Valley in the northwest.

Little regarding the specialty work of the two grapplers was available to Pomoter Kallio in his telegrams to other sections of the country, but each of them has been wrestling in main events of cities far larger than Monroe.

Kallio expects to receive further details of their prowess through the mails by Monday night. Meanwhile, he was assured that each of the newcomers is a formidable opponent for his Wednesday night adversary.

3-SPORT MAN NAMED TECH'S BEST

Joe Williams of Winnsboro, a senior at Louisiana Tech, has been selected by the student council of the college as the year's best all-around athlete at Tech. He will be presented a trophy, donated by the R. and A. Jewelry company of Monroe, at the annual class day during the Tech commencement week activities, the award being pictured at the upper left. Williams is shown above as a player of baseball, basketball and football.

CASTILLO DEFENDS CROWN THIS WEEK

Southeastern Golf Tournament Starts Thursday At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22.—(Special)—Henry Castillo, slender, Spanish-born co-captain of Louisiana State university's golf team and one of the outstanding young golfers in the nation, will defend his Southeastern conference title at the annual tournament over the L. S. U. Country club course next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Outstanding golfers from Tulane, Alabama and several other conference colleges will attempt to unseat Castillo from the throne he ascended as a sophomore here last April.

Visiting teams also will be after the conference team title which Louisiana State has won for the past two seasons. The Tigers set a new team record in 1938 with a total score of 598 for 36 holes, defeating Georgia, Alabama, Tulane and Georgia Tech.

The team championship will be decided on the basis of 36 holes Thursday morning and afternoon, when 16 players will qualify for the championship flight. The individual champion will be selected in four 18-hole rounds Friday and Saturday.

Each college can enter as many as six players with the four low scorers counting as the team score.

Louisiana State dominated the conference tournament last spring, but other colleges hope to end at least part, if not all, of that domination this time.

Castillo blazed around the course to win the medal with a three-under-par 141 as Louisiana State qualified all six entries for the championship flight.

Castillo dethroned Vincent D'Antoni, of Tulane, the defending champion, in the semi-finals despite D'Antoni's par 72. Then the slender Tampa, Fla., boy went on to defeat Bert McDowell, his teammate and now co-captain of the Tiger golfers, for the title in an all-L. S. U. finals.

L. S. U.'s team will have a busy week. The Tigers will play three dual matches before the tournament gets under way. Opening with Rice at L. S. U. Sunday afternoon, they will take on Alabama Tuesday and Tulane Wednesday. The Alabama engagement replaces a scheduled match with the University of Florida.

Captain Everett M. Rupert heads Alabama's list of entrants in the tournament. Others are Ed Hudson, Bill Burke, Ellis, Taylor, Thomas Nicols and Bill Walker.

In addition to Co-Captain Castillo and McDowell, L. S. U.'s entries will include Lee Ramsel, Warren Renfrow and Emile Zachariah.

D'Antoni, Harry L. Deas, Maurice J. Picheloup, III, and Jack Daray, Jr., will represent Tulane.

DOUBLE-HEADER TRACK MEET HELD

Georgia Tech Wins Over Clemson, While Auburn Overwhelms Georgia

ATLANTA, April 22.—(AP)—In the first double-header intercollegiate track meet ever staged in the south, Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets and Auburn's Plainsmen today rolled up one-sided victories during an afternoon of mediocre performances.

Georgia Tech, winning 11 first places out of the 15 events, swamped the Clemson Tigers of the Southern conference, 84 to 47, while Auburn walked off with 12 first places out of 14 events to overwhelm the Georgia Bulldogs, 88 to 38.

Slender Bob Dickinson and husky Chester Bulger paced their Auburn teammates to victory by winning three first places each. Dickinson scored firsts in the 100-yard, 220-yard dashes and in the broad jump. Bulger won three field events, the shot put, and the discus and javelin throws. Dickinson's time of 21.8 seconds for victory over Georgia's Oliver Hunnicutt in the 220-yard dash was the best single performance of the afternoon.

Captain Jim Swanner of the Auburn squad ran two fine races to take first places in both the 880-yard and mile runs. He beat out Georgia's diminutive Henry Fredericksen in both of these events. Chuck Morgan of Auburn nosed out Vassa Cate, Georgia's star timber-topper, by inches in the 120-yard high hurdles.

The meets were run off simultaneously on Grant field, Georgia Tech's home grounds.

I-Told-You-So's Piling Up In Bailiwick Of Chicago Nationals

By Earl Hilligan

CHICAGO, April 22.—(AP)—While James A. (Rip) Collins is piling up basehits in far-off Los Angeles, the I-told-you-so's are piling up in this bailiwick of the team which sold him "down the river"—the Chicago Cubs.

When Collins was sold to the Angels of the Pacific Coast league, Cub fans voiced resentment, principally on these grounds: (1) that Collins was a peppery, popular ball player and (2) that his experience and fielding ability should have prompted the Cubs to keep him on the roster, even though young Phil Cavarretta was to be given a crack at the regular first base job.

To date, the Cubs have played one league contest. Defeating St. Louis yesterday, Cavarretta had two hits in four trips for a flying start. But many Cubs fans don't think he'll come close to keeping up that pace and point to his .239 batting average in 92 games last season.

Collins, meanwhile, has been setting the coast league on fire. Reported to be the highest salaried player in the circuit, he had a batting average through his first 21 games of .392, based on 29 hits in 74 trips, and leads the league in homers, with seven.

When the Cubs announced his sale, Owner P. K. Wrigley stated that "we can get him back when we have to." That appears to have been a rather optimistic remark. Under baseball law, any major league club releasing a player outright to a minor league team cannot get him back until he goes through the draft, which will be held at the winter meetings next December. Any other team, however, could buy Collins provided Los Angeles wanted to sell.

Collins was one of the most colorful players the Cubs have had in recent seasons. His batting mark in 1938 was only .267, but his hitting in September played a big part in the Cubs successful pennant drive.

SOX TAKE FOURTH STRAIGHT FROM EL DORADO

Warneke Hurls Cardinals To 9-0 Victory Over Cubs

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

OKAY SO FAR

It's too early, of course, to tell just what's going to happen in the Cotton States league this season but so far the sample has been very satisfactory, from a Monroe standpoint.

At this writing (before Saturday night's game), the White Sox have won three games in good style. The Sox looked ragged afield Friday night but they came from behind on two occasions and the punch was there when the chips were down.

It might be well to call attention to one encouraging fact: The boys have been bunching their hits. In two of the games, Monroe was outhit, yet won. Thursday night the club got but three hits, yet won 4-3. True, the Sox benefitted by several passes and an error or two, but the blows were there when needed. Friday night El Dorado made 12 hits to 10 for Monroe, but the Sox won 9-7. In the opener at El Dorado Wednesday Monroe made 15 runs on 11 hits. That's really taking advantage of the opportunities.

So far, the club looks good enough to take care of itself in this company. A reinforcement here or one there may be needed in due time but Manager Doug Taitt has more than a fine nucleus around which to fashion his first division club.

Murrell Jones looks like a great prospect at first base. He stretches far and wide in all directions and in the first three games he undoubtedly has prevented several errors on throws to first. Naturally, he needs polishing up a bit on ground balls but this is his first year in professional baseball and Taitt says he's the best looking prospect he's seen break in in many a year. As soon as he gets over his stagefright, Jonesy should start pounding that apple, and the scouts will start swarming in. If even one simon-pure clicks in his first year it will mean money in the bank for the owners.

Most of the others have been playing good ball. Frank Hargrove, the youngster sent here by Dallas as a first baseman, has been shooed into the outer pasture and has been rapping that ball. Bill McClain, another kid farmed out by the Texas club, has been performing up to advance notices, and his fielding has been particularly satisfactory. That was the only question about his ability to make the grade.

The youngsters are hustling, and their example has instilled new life in the lads who already had clinched their jobs. So far, the Sox have come through in the clutch admirably, and that's what wins ball games.

BASEBALL'S CENTENNIAL

That's the title of a new poem written by L. H. Addington, publicity director for the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and it's dedicated to the game that has endured through 100 years and is this year celebrating its centennial.

Baseball has truly earned the tag "The National Pastime" and there's food for thought in Add's ditty. It won't live as long as "Casey At the Bat," of course, but it's well worth reprinting. Here it is:

One hundred years of baseball,
Turn back historic pages;
The game that's now a century old
Has flourished through the ages.

A hundred years of wholesome sport,
Replete with skill and action;
A game that knows no boundary lines
Of race or creed or faction.

A game that's thrilled the rich and poor,
The mighty and the humble;
Each knows the joy of sparkling play,
The tragedy of fumble.

The melting pot of human souls,
Where elbows rub together;
Where banker cheers with tradesman
At the crash of bat and leather.

One hundred years of baseball!
May it thrive a thousand more;
May it show a winning record
When posterity asks the score.

DUBACH PLAYS BYRD MONDAY

Plungers Will Try To Make It Two Straight Over Yellow Jackets

DUBACH, La., April 22.—(Special)—The Dubach High school Plungers will be host to the Byrd Yellow Jackets when they meet in the final of a two-game series at Dubach Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the first game, Dubach defeated the Byrdmen, 11 to 9, in Shreveport and the second game is expected to be hard-played, as Byrd will be trying to split the series and Dubach will be trying to make it two straight.

The Plungers have shown much improvement since the north Louisiana rally and they will be at full strength for the first time this season in Monday's game. This week Dubach defeated Byrd, 11 to 9; Bernice, 7 to 6, and Simsboro, 18 to 10, in games played away from here. Beginning Monday, the locals meet Byrd, Louisiana Tech freshmen and Clarks High school at Dubach.

Pat Manning has returned to first base for the first time this season and in the Simsboro game collected four safe blows in five trips, including two doubles. He has been absent from the team due to scholastic difficulties. Payne will return to his regular catching duties, which is expected to strengthen that department considerably and allow Jenkins to go to second to bolster that department. Payne has been out, due to a broken finger received during the last part of the football season.

The Plungers have lost only one high school game this year on their regular schedule. Farmerville defeated the locals, 3 to 1. Dubach lost to Ruston, 6 to 3, at the north Louisiana rally, and the Tech freshmen have been victorious twice by wide margins.

With the return of Payne and Manning, the Dubach team is expected to be much improved both on offense and defense. The locals have won the state championship in class B baseball for the last two years and will go to Baton Rouge May 4, 5 and 6 to defend their title.

A new grandstand has been completed for the local high school through donations by G. L. Trammell, E. B. Tatum and the Louisiana Power and Light company.

S. A. A. U. MEET SLATED MAY 13

Track Event At Orleans To Attract Louisiana, Mississippi Athletes

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—(AP)—The Southern A. A. U. track and field championships at New Orleans Saturday, May 13, will give Louisiana State university and Tulane a good warming up for the Southeastern conference meet a week later.

L. DiBenedetto, chairman of the A. A. U. track and field committee, said these colleges would enter full teams among the more than 100 athletes entered from Louisiana and Mississippi.

Southwestern Louisiana institute and Louisiana Normal, other colleges in the S. A. A. U., will take part previously in the district Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association championships at Natchitoches, La., on May 6.

Meanwhile DiBenedetto said the best A. A. U. meet of recent years would be held at Loyola stadium because of the fine entries and the fact that the main meet would be strictly a senior event this year instead of a junior and a senior day.

Most of the teams were boasting of fine athletes, including Billy Brown, J. C. Duvall, Frank Hurch, Jake Watterer, Ed Woncatt and others from L. S. U.; Millard White, Tulane's prospective candidate for the Olympics; Randall Stelly, Southwestern's two-miler, and Louisiana Normal's Burnell Webb, a 9.6 sprinter.

The best performers in the southern championships are to enter the National A. A. U. tournament July 3 and 4 at Lincoln, Neb.

PANAMA AL BROWN STOPS JARAMILLO

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Panama Al Brown, former world bantamweight champion, who still is recognized in Europe as titleholder, celebrated his return to New York tonight by stopping young Cristobal Jaramillo of Puerto Rico in the fourth round of their eight-round bout at Rockland palace.

It was Brown's first fight in America in six years. He weighed 126¾; Jaramillo, 124¾.

The veteran held off Jaramillo's headlong rushes with long, accurate left jabs for the first three rounds. In the fourth he downed the Puerto Rican with a hard right to the jaw, and when Jaramillo got up Al put over another right that almost drove him through the ropes. At this point Referee Al Reich called a halt. The time was 1:24.

LON ALSO STARS AT BAT AGAINST LOOP CHAMPIONS

Larry French Pitches Well Except For One Inning; Root Blasted

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—(AP)—Pitching a brilliant 4-hit shutout against the Chicago Cubs wasn't enough for Lon Warneke today.

Lon Warneke

The lean son of Arkansas made himself practically the whole show by smashing out two hits, one of them a double with the bases loaded, as the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Cubs, 9 to 0.

Plainly disgusted after two of his teammates had failed in the pinch, Warneke strode to the plate in the second inning and slammed the ball up against the fence in left-center field to drive in three runs, more than he really needed to win.

Except for that one slip against Warneke, southpaw Larry French checked the Cardinals during his seven innings on the mound. He was removed for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

The Cardinals went on a batting spree against the veteran Charlie Root, who replaced him. Mickey Owen led off with the Red Birds' first homer of the year and, before the inning was over, six runs had crossed the plate. Terry Moore hit a double with the bases loaded. Warneke also figured in the rally, getting a single and scoring a run.

GIANTS NOSE OUT BEES

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—The New York Giants handed the Boston Bees their first setback of the season today, 6 to 5. It was a see-saw game decided by the timely hitting of Frank Demaree and the good relief pitching of Bill Lohrman.

The former Chicago outfielder had three hits for a perfect batting day and knocked in the final and deciding Giant run in the sixth after Zeke Bonura doubled to score Ott.

DiMaggio Seen As Best All-Around Ball Player

New York Yankee Ball Hawk's Fielding And Hitting Both Superb

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Every time you see Joe DiMaggio take that effortless swing of his or race back against the [illegible] less batter of a triple [illegible] getting a sneaking feeling [illegible] perhaps, is the greatest all-around ball player there has been.

There undoubtedly have been scores of them [illegible] who would run the bases more spectacularly, a select few like Babe Ruth and Jimmie Foxx who hit the ball a little further when they connected squarely, but [illegible] been one [illegible] everything quite so well.

[illegible] "Gee [illegible] but [illegible] they say, know more than DiMaggio does at the stage [illegible] difference between [illegible] or [illegible] on the ball.

[illegible] DiMaggio [illegible] terrifically fast [illegible] the bat and gets [illegible] right spot that [illegible] difference. He [illegible] banks of [illegible] such [illegible] be a [illegible] posing batters. His throwing arm is a slingshot.

As for Joe's batting, the [illegible] ties are [illegible] see him hit [illegible] now, with [illegible] bargain. Opposing pitchers [illegible] will walk him [illegible] to get at Lou Gehrig [illegible] as often as they used to walk Ruth. They [illegible] giving him a ball to hit at in the tight spots.

If the Yankees were to lose DiMaggio tomorrow they would [illegible] than an even bet [illegible] out the Boston Red Sox. He and Red Ruffing and Bill Dickey are the backbone of the three-time world champions. They [illegible] take the heart out of the opposition.

Ruffing is a [illegible] pitcher than is generally realized. At 36 he still is so overpoweringly big and fast and smart that any team he faces is half-licked before he throws a ball. You often read that a pitcher "toyed" with the opposition, but Red can come nearer doing just that day after day than any man in the game. The Red Sox will be slow shaking off the plastering he gave them in the opener.

Dickey, of course, is baseball's top catcher, the perfect workman behind the plate and one of the most feared sluggers in either league. The Yankees might think they have a full-fledged replacement for him in Buddy Rosar, but don't you believe it.

DiMaggio, by the way, finally has begun to thaw out the Yankee fans. They were down on him much of last season because of his protracted holdout and the failure of the team to get going without him, but he is making them forget that.

When he emerges from the stadium now in late afternoon there is the same swarm of youngsters awaiting him that used to surround the Bambino, and they yell just as lustily. His appearance at the plate brings a splitting cheer in place of last year's razzberries. Joe is beginning to smile again.

T. M. DORSETT TAKES STUYVESANT HANDICAP

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—El Chico didn't come to the races today, but in his absence another Kentucky Derby and Preakness candidate, Joe W. Brown's long-striding T. W. Dorsett, drew the fancy of a crowd of 18,000 by a driving victory in the Stuyvesant handicap six furlongs at Jamaica.

Trainer Matt Brady, who had insisted only 48 hours earlier that Chico would go in today's feature sprint, didn't please the crowd any too well by unexpectedly scratching the little Derby contender and letting him work out a mile on Belmont park's main track this morning instead.

Favored at 7-5 in the field of eight, T. M. Dorsett covered the three-quarter mile in 1:12 1-5 to collect the $3,925 winner's share of the purse. Star Runner, saving the place spot by a neck from A. G. C. Sage's Entracte, returned 2-1.

First Professional Boxing Card In Several Years Slated Monday

Twenty-eight rounds of boxing are scheduled for tomorrow night when Gus Kallio, former world's middleweight wrestling champion, promotes his initial fistic card in the Monroe Wrestling arena.

It will be the first professional boxing card here since Charles Bruscato promoted boxing for a time in the old Roosevelt stadium, and Promoter Kallio apparently has contacted some stellar mittmen for the four-bout card.

The main event, slated for 10 rounds, will bring together Grady Flynn, 164, of Greenwood, Miss., and Buck Ferguson, 16[illegible], of Kansas City, Mo. Flynn is rated as one of the best in his class in the south, according to Promoter Kallio, and is a rugged battler. Little is known here of Ferguson, but the matchmaker states he is being sent here highly recommended.

RAYVILLE ENTERS 5 IN STATE MEET

Leading Point Winners For Hornets To Compete At Baton Rouge

RAYVILLE, La., April 22.—(Special)—The Rayville Hornets will enter five performers in the state track meet at Baton Rouge Friday. These five men have been leading point winners on the Hornet team. The Rayville team has entered four big meets and two dual meets this season. The Hornets won both dual meets, defeating the Wisner Bulldogs and the Delhi Bears. They finished third in the following meets: Haynesville relays, Bolton meet, and north Louisiana meet at Ruston. In the Ouachita relays at Monroe; the Hornets finished second.

The Rayville entries in the state meet are: J. C. Wall mile run; Homer Rudy, 100 yard and 220 yard dashes; Binford Dear, 440 yard run; Herman Russell, broad jump and hop, step and jump; Dick Nunnally high jump. These boys have won points in every meet and are among the best performers in this section in these events.

J. C. Waller has won all of his mile races this season. His best time was 4:45 at the Bolton meet. This rates as one of the best miles run in high school circles this season and he has a good chance to win at Baton Rouge. Homer Rudy and Binford Dear have both run the 440 under 54 seconds, which is good time for high school boys. Rudy will be switched to the shorter dashes at the state meet, since he has been improving in both the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard dash. Dear will run the 440 and has an excellent chance to place. Russell and Nunnally have been showing steady improvement in their specialties and should be able to place in the state finals.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Scoopatrade: As good a bet as any is that Jock Sutherland will wind up just where he started—at Pitt. (Don't ask any more questions right now.) . . . One St. Louis book (Carroll's) makes El Chico, Johnstown and Technician Derby co-favorites at 4-1. Another (Burke's) puts Johnstown on top at 4-1 and quotes the other two at 5-1. . . . The word is going around that Ohio State is coming up with another of its great teams this fall. . . . Look for pyrotechnics—and plenty of them—when the Pacific Coast conference gets that report on proselytizing in June.

They're Dodgers.

The Dodgers were invited to be guests of honor at a big blowout in Flatbush. . . . They didn't show up.

Mail box: Julian Black: They're telling strange stories about why you're supposed to be mad at Bob Pastor's manager. . . . Bill Terry: Mayor Hague didn't tell you it was the first division or else for Jersey City this year, did he? . . . Clark Griffith: Moe Berg says you're keeping all those Cubans around to distract attention from a poor ball club.

Today's guest star.

Howard Brickey, Wichita Falls (Tex.) Times: "Word is getting around that it's no longer any use to try to handle Joe Louis with gloves."

Sports cocktail: Burgess Whitehead must figure his comeback is a success for he's leased an apartment for the summer. . . . Lou Nova got in today to start training for Max Baer. . . . That two-day delay in staging the Yankee opener cost the club $50,000. . . . One amateur, now touring the tennis circuit, wired a tournament chairman recently he'd be glad to play in an exhibition match for $2 meal money.

We don't believe it.

Strange line in the baseball news: "DiMaggio was passed to get Gehrig." . . . Quick, Watson, make it a big one.

Quickies: Three cheers for Old Man Mose Grove, who had been given up as a dead 'un. . . . Pat Rosa, sports editor of the New York Post, once ran in the Boston marathon. . . . Paul Waner is betting hats he'll wind up with a .340 batting mark. . . . N. Y. Mirror says a new hoss racing scandal is coming up. . . . Red Ruffing is shooting for 25 victories this year. . . . Joey Archibald can get $15,000 for putting his feather title on the line against Spider Kelly, European champ, in Belfast in July. . . . Detroit may land Earl Averill yet—with Billy Rogell as the bait.

Pro movement spreads.

The college paper at the U. of Mississippi is advocating the president of the student body be paid. . . . Backs and tackles first, brother.

BE BLUE SCORES UPSET AT NARRAGANSETT PARK

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 22.—(AP)—An upset triumph by the Texan filly Be Blue, making her first start of the year in the $5,000 added Spring Handicap today, marked the opening of New England's 172-day racing season before a 35,000 crowd at Narragansett park.

That surprising daughter of Blue Larkspur, owned by T. H. Heard, Jr., scored by a neck over Felix Spatola's stoutly supported Wise Prince while turning the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5.

The reinstated Don Meade was up on Early Delivery, which showed a length and a half behind Wise Prince.

INMATE NUMBER 16,185 PITCHES NO-HIT GAME

RAHWAY, N. J., April 22.—(AP)—Inmate No. 16,185 turned in a no-hit, no-run performance today as his Rahway reformatory teammates turned in a 1 to 0 victory over the Roselle High school baseball team.

He drove in the game's only run on a long fly to center field to score a runner from third in the opening inning.

Only two high school players reached first. They walked.

PARKER HALL IS NAMED NORRIS TROPHY WINNER

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 22.—(AP)—Linus Parker Hall, University of Mississippi's all-America halfback last fall, was named winner today of the Norris trophy, outstanding award for achievement at Ole Miss.

Hall, a three-sport man, had 69 points to 44 for Jesse Ward and 34 for Bonnie (Country) Graham. The trophy is emblematic of excellence in scholarship and student popularity as well as in athletics.

The PAYOFF

By Harry Grayson

(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Zeke Bonura rounds out a devastating Giant attack.

The pitching may be adequate now that Clydell Castleman is no longer an uncertain quantity.

But the New York Nationals' pennant hopes have skyrocketed principally because of Burgess Whitehead's fine comeback.

The 155-pound second baseman had to demonstrate that his illness and year's layoff had not dulled his technic before he was given a regular contract. That's how doubtful he was.

Whitehead won his contract . . . one for $12,000 . . . in the furnace of spring training, and Bill Terry has good reason to believe that his headaches are over. After trying one second sacker after another in 1938, it is mighty comforting to Terry to see the gentlemanly little North Carolinian at the keystone.

Whitehead's presence gives the Polo Grounders a defense again . . . a second basing combination second to none with Bill Jurges on the other side.

Terry says Whitehead actually has a step more defensive range than he had in the penant-winning years of 1936 and '37, unbelievable as it may seem.

Schumacher Lacks Former Authority

Pitching is now the Giants' only worry.

Carl Hubbell will do little if any until hot weather sets in.

Terry contends that Hal Schumacher's delivery is just about normal, but the splendid young man who submitted to an arm operation doesn't appear to be the Schumey of old.

Schumacher has been mixing his bear-down ball with his palm-ball. Terry is pleased with the results the upstate New Yorker gets from his palm-ball, or slow, soft pitch. It got the Cleveland Indians off balance in exhibition games. They couldn't hit it safely. But they got into Schumey's harder delivery like it was made for them.

Schumacher may have something in that palm-ball. It's a teaser. It's hard to lay a decent piece of wood against it, and the St. Lawrence college products may need the pitch a lot in the future.

Prince Hal really used to pour 'em in.

He's still fast at times, but the old authority seems lacking.

Dodgers Not Funny To Joe McCarthy

The Dodgers were far from being a laughable team to Joe McCarthy as he watched his Yankees drop six out of 10 exhibition games to Brooklyn and get no better than a draw in another.

McCarthy liked the way Pete Coscarart played second base for the Flatbush flock.

"Coscarart handles short hops expertly and when he fumbles a grounder, pounces right on the ball again," observes the world champions' head man.

Averill Still Seen Moving To Detroit

More than one close observer of the baseball market still believes that Earl Averill will go from Cleveland to Detroit before the June 15 major league trading deadline . . . for Billy Rogell and a pitcher.

The Indians, loaded with outfielders, gave up on Lyn Lary and Skeeter Webb can't hit.

BASEBALL, GRID GAME DON'T MIX

Veteran Scout Warns Diamond Aspirants To Stay Off Gridiron

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—(AP)—Collegiate aspirants to big league baseball teams should just watch football—not play it.

That's the advice of Patsy O'Rourke, veteran scout for the Philadelphia National league baseball team.

Most football aces are flops in professional baseball because football tightens muscles until they can't hit, O'Rourke said today.

"What better example would you want than Ray Stoviak?" he asked.

Stoviak joined the Phillies after a brilliant football and baseball career at Villanova college but failed to make the grade on the professional diamond.

"Stoviak was as good looking an outfielder as you'd want to see in his junior year at Villanova," O'Rourke said.

"He could do everything, and above all hit. If he had quit college then nothing could have stopped him making good in the big show. That one additional season at halfback was disastrous. He could still field, and throw—but he couldn't hit."

Football players, O'Rourke explained, use their shoulders for charging and blocking.

"That incessant pounding toughens the shoulders and tightens the muscles," he added. "Once those muscles are tightened they can't hit any more.

"Give them a low ball or one waist high and the natural hitters will sock it. But if they've played too much football you'll generally find the shoulder-high pitches too tough to reach."

Beattie Feathers, star Tennessee back who had a trial with Cincinnati, and Sammy Baugh, ace Texas Christian passer given a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals, were cited by O'Rourke as other examples of those hot on the gridiron but cold on the diamond.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 22.—(AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide came all the way from behind a handicap of eight runs today to win its first Southeastern conference game of the season, defeating Louisiana State, 10 to 9.

The Tide broke a losing streak that had run for five games.

Vic Bradford was the firebrand for Alabama's comeback. He cleaned the packed bases with a triple in the third inning, then knocked in two with a double in the six-run fourth.

Cress, L. S. U. starting hurler, hit a home run with the bases full in the third but wilted himself in the fourth.

an error and stole home for one more Sox run in the second.

Five runners trotted across the plate for Monroe in the third. Hargrove tripled and scored on Hackney's single. Hackney went to second on an error and scored on Hank Taylor's single. Maxfield singled, scoring Taylor. Link tripled, scoring Maxfield, and Conway singled to score Link.

The Sox went scoreless in the fourth, but they came through with six more runs in the fifth. Maxfield was safe on an error, Link and Conway singled, and McClain was issued a base on balls to force in Maxfield. Hargrove singled, scoring Link and Hackney tripled to score Conway, McClain and Hargrove. Pruitt doubled to score Hackney.

One more tally was added by Monroe in the seventh after two were out. Taylor doubled and scored on Maxfield's triple.

The nightmare of Sox runs ended with four more in the eighth. McClain was safe when he forced Conway at second. McClain went to third when Day committed an error on Hargrove's grounder to second and scored as Hackney reached first safely on an error. Pruitt got a base on balls, loading the bases and Hargrove and Hackney scored when Oleks let Jones' drive get through him. On a throw in to catch Hackney at the plate, Pruitt raced for third. Tone, then on the mound for El Dorado, took the throw in and whipped it to third to stop Pruitt, but the throw soared off over Ostenberg's head, way out of reach, and Pruitt scored.

The Lions scored twice in the fourth after Ostenberg and Medak had hit successive singles. Ostenberg scored when Campbell hit into a double play that caught Olson, who had got on with a base on balls, at second. Medak scored on Oleks' single.

The visitors again scored twice in the seventh. Dancisak reached first on a fielder's choice and Pfeifer was safe on Jones' error at first. Ostenberg singled to score Dancisak and Pfeifer.

Bases on balls helped the Lions to their last two runs in the eighth. Oleks, on via a free pass, scored on a single by Tone, after Day, pinch hitting for Gregha, had gotten on by a fielder's choice. Pfeifer got a free pass, loading the bases; and a base on balls to Ostenberg forced in Day with the final Lion run.

of his professional career has been spent at second base.

A couple of years ago, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns put in a draft for Lipscomb and got him from the Atlanta Crackers for $6,000. Nig reported to the Browns in the spring, but couldn't quite make the ripple.

The transformed backstop is a discovery of the late Johnny Dobbs, who picked Nig up in North Carolina when he bought the Charlotte club in 1933. A rew recruit, Lipscomb was put at second base and went through the Piedmont season there. The fans did not always agree that he should be there, but Dobbs never lost faith. The kid proved one of the best keystone men in the league and batted .265.

Next year, he returned for a great season. On September 9, Dobbs was stricken and died while his team was battling out on the field. He did not live to see the final 1934 averages which showed Lipscomb batted .309 and had a splendid year afield. He moved to Atlanta for 1935 and the Crackers have been nursing him ever since.

Good catchers being scarce as they are, Nig will have no trouble landing a berth if he can turn in a good season behind the bat for the Greenies.

Although he's had six years of pro experience, Nig is just 25 years old and still has plenty of time to make his way back to the top as a receiver.

He has a baseball heritage, for his father was quite a diamond performer a quarter of a century ago, playing for Greenville of the old Carolina association.

2 GAMES LISTED IN VALLEY LEAGUE

Games today in the Ouachita Valley baseball league find Ruston's Volunteers at Hodge and the Crossett Millers at Camden.

Larry J. Fox, league president, yesterday announced umpires for the games as Swanson and Davis at Hodge, and Ober and Wilder at Camden.

Pitchers for the day were announced as Still for Hodge, Lewis for Ruston, Collins for Camden, and Hunter for Crossett.

Ruston and Hodge won their opening games, beating Camden and Crossett respectively, but the league standings are due for some changing today with the unbeaten teams tangling while the yet non-victorious aggregations strive for their first win.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—(AP)—Thirteen new wells in Louisiana oil fields, with an initial daily production of 3,533 barrels were listed in the weekly report today of the minerals division of the department of conservation.

Five of the producers were reported from the new Shreveport field in Caddo parish, but the completions were effected between March 16 and April 5, reports on the wells having been delayed. Total initial production of these wells was 2,418 barrels, through fairly large openings ranging up to an inch in diameter.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—The stock market looked like a deserted orphan today as traders left leading issues to shift apathetically for themselves over a slightly irregular route.

Transfers of less than 200,000 shares were the smallest for any session since June 18, last.

Partly inspiring speculative indifference was the desire of both buyers and sellers to keep commitments light over the week-end when, it was recalled, things have previously happened in Europe that jolted the markets one way or the other.

As one commentator put it, "Stocks will probably doze until they hear Der Fuehrer's vibrant voice." Meaning, of course, Hitler's scheduled speech before the reichstag next Friday replying to the president's peace proposals.

With the "choosing up of sides" continuing at a feverish pace abroad, most in Wall Street seemed content to maintain a waiting attitude, although it was still apparent war tension had eased to some extent as a market influence.

Business news, on the whole, was more favorable than otherwise, but pleasing items on this front were more or less obscured by the overseas picture.

Securities at Amsterdam, only important foreign center open today, were exceptionally quiet and a shade uneven.

Bonds and commodities were mixed.

The growing menace of shut-downs in the soft coal industry, as labor contractual negotiations remained at a deadlock again was seen as a market handicap.

Niles-Bement-Pond added over a point in the curb and Lockheed was up fractionally. Electric Bond and Share and American Cyanamid "B" drifted lower.

Sugar

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Sugar futures firmed today as scattered covering and buying encountered limited offerings.

Domestic futures rallied as much as 3 points at one time but sold off near the close. Final bids were 1 higher to 1 lower.

World futures also receded from their highs, final prices running 1 1-2 higher to 1-2 lower with the nearby positions strong. May ended 1.33 1-2 bid.

Overnight sales of several lots of raws were confirmed. One transaction involved 4,000 Cubas in spot position at 2.04 cost and freight, or the equivalent of 2.94 on a duty paid basis. Refiners quoted 4.30-4.40, unchanged from recent levels.

YANKEES STOPPED, 3 TO 1, BY WASHINGTON

LEONARD ALLOWS BUT SIX BINGLES TO WIN FOR NATS

Victors Bunch Three Of Four Hits Off Hildebrand To Triumph

WASHINGTON, April 22 — (AP) — Somebody had to be the first to stop the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators accepted the opportunity today, bunching three of their four hits in the third inning for a 3 to 1 victory.

Two veterans, Emil (Dutch) Leonard, the Senators' knuckle-ball artist, and Oral Hildebrand, obtained by the Yankees during the winter from the St. Louis Browns, faced each other in a sparkling pitching duel.

Leonard kept half a dozen hits scattered, no more than one to an inning, to richly deserve his triumph. He had trouble, however, with Tommy Henrich, who tripled in the third to score Red Rolfe. Henrich also had a double and a base on balls.

Hildebrand was even more flashy than his opponent except for the disastrous third, when Rick Ferrell opened by singling. Leonard sacrificed him [illegible] and George Case was walked. Then Sam West [illegible] Ferrell home and big Taft Wright [illegible] a mighty triple against the [illegible] scoring Case and West.

THREE RECORDS SHATTERED AT KANSAS RELAYS

Shot-Put, Pole Vault And Medley Relay Marks Broken At Meet

By Harold Claassen

LAWRENCE, Kans., April 22 — (AP) — Elmer Hackney, Kansas State's strongman shot-putter, bet a teammate a quart of ice cream he could break the record on his final toss today. Then he heaved the pellet 52 feet, 11-2 inches for one of the three new marks established at the windswept 17th annual University of Kansas relays.

Beefus Bryan, the Texas skylark, cleared the pole vault bar at 14 feet, 2 inches on his first trial for a new record in that event. He and Don Bird of the host Kansas team, battled all the way up the ladder and Bird scraped off the bar with his chest on his third trial.

Wayne and Blaine Rideout, the ground-covering twins from North Texas Teachers, collaborated with two teammates to amputate more than 17 seconds from the record in the college distance medley relay. BULLDOGS TAKE SECOND TILT BY 18 TO 1 SCORE

Ahern, Badger Shortstop, Wallops Homer To Save Team From Blanking

RUSTON, La., April 22—(Special)—Scoring practically at will, Louisiana Tech's ball-blasting Bulldogs routed the Spring Hill college Badgers of Mobile, Ala., 18-1, here this afternoon, sweeping a two-game stand.

With Lawrence Hinton, ace varsity portsider for the Canines, going the full route and allowing only five scattered blows, the Bulldogs had easy going all the way. They picked on the offerings of three Spring Hill pitchers for 15 base knocks, all of them singles except a double by Dick Willett in the second stanza.

The Badgers came out of their hole only once all afternoon to do any real damage to the Techmen. Leading off in fifth inning for the Alabamians, Ahern, Spring Hill shortstop, caught one of Hinton's fast balls on the nose and rode it over the right field barrier for his team's lone tally.

The Bulldogs scored one run in the first inning and another in the second, two in the third and two more in the fifth. But the real rout started in the lucky seventh, being continued into the eighth. Ten men went to bat in the stretch inning for the Canines. Hits by Sumrall, Young and Willett and walks given to Williamson, Hinton, Burt and Caston accounted for five runs before the side was retired.

Breaking loose again in the eighth, the Bulldogs chalked up seven more runs when 11 of their number paraded to the platter.

Credit for the loss was shunted to [illegible] who started for the Badgers.

Experiment Proves Fish Favor Rising Barometer

Water Laboratory Established To Study Habits Of Finny Ones

By Brainerd C. Snider

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LINCOLN, Ill., April 22.—The perfect fishing hole, a 360-acre water laboratory in which fish are plentiful [illegible] has been established [illegible] Lincoln Sportsmen's club whose members aided in the [illegible] of the [illegible] tests that [illegible] barometer as the true fishing index.

Here [illegible] non-competitive natural feeding conditions are [illegible] by fly and bait casters in the interest of science and sport.

The only [illegible] of the lake [illegible] fish [illegible] measurement [illegible] scale samples are [illegible] for study of age and growth [illegible] by the Illinois Natural History Survey.

In addition to this practical fun [illegible] barometric readings are [illegible] study of why fish [illegible] on a falling barometer and to what extent they react at varying [illegible] during stationary periods of atmospheric pressure.

In clearing up its small experimental lake, poison removed 325 pounds of fish per acre. Two-thirds were rough fish, buffalo, shad, quill-back, suckers, carp and gar.

So stunted were the starved game-fish that of 1,480 crappies none was of legal size.

The renovated waters were planted by the natural history survey with proper aquatic growth for various depths, and were heavily stocked with breeder bass and bluegills.

Crappies were omitted as competitors for the same fare as bass.

Even feed for the food for fish was introduced. Soybean meal, to nourish the minute crustacea that furnish life for minnows, is dumped regularly in the waters.

Initial tests by Dr. David H. Thompson, chief zoologist, indicated that young bass grew eight inches in four months.

Microscopic examination of scale samples revealed adult fish, properly fed, may be fattened as readily as corn-fed hogs.

Scores of fishermen in the United States and Canada joined last year in the Lincoln barometer fishing tests to prove the sport is best on a high or rising barometer.

More than 500 fishing days have been reported confirming the theory as 94 per cent efficient.

It was ascertained that when an unfluctuating period sets in under low pressure some fish may be taken by sinking the bait deep.

A barometer that had risen for 12 hours to 30.20 enabled John R. Parker and three companions to set a dolphin record in the Gulf Stream below Miami Beach on March 5. In 49 minutes they boated 42 dolphin ranging from three to four feet. A few days before they took but one fish in eight hours on a falling barometer.

Ice fishing tests during the winter indicated air pressure is intensified through an ice hole. Roy Johnson of Cumberland, Wis., found all good catches came on a high barometer.

Texas fishermen are including barometers among tackle box equipment.

Perry M. Hargrove, checking fishing parties for 90 fall days within a 100-mile radius of Dallas, found fish refused to bite on 10 days only. The barometer was falling each of these days. On 80 high pressure days, virtually all hands took fish.

Now that fishing has gone scientific in a new way it becomes increasingly apparent that a barometer is as essential a part of a fisherman's equipment as rod, reel, lures and the well-known bottle of bait.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 22—(AP)—The Little Rock Travelers kept their Indian sign over Memphis intact today, whipping the Chicks 5 to 1 for their fourth victory in as many starts against the Tribesmen.

Bill Sayles, young righthander, spotted the visitors their lone run in the first inning and then settled down to hold complete mastery over them for the rest of the game, letting up but six widely scattered hits.

REGULATION GAME WILL END MAROON GRID DRILLS

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., April 22—(AP)—A regulation game April 29 between teams picked from the football squad will terminate spring practice at Mississippi State college.

Head Coach Allyn McKeen said today that he and his assistants would make a "careful division" of players for the game which was to be followed by a banquet for students, faculty and alumni.

McKeen said spring drills were satisfactory but refused to forecast fall prospects except to say "the fellows will be in there playing."

"The attitude of the players during the time they have been under my supervision," McKeen said, "has been all anyone could ask for."

The regulation game will end five weeks of spring practice which began soon after McKeen, Murray Warmoth and Bowden Wyatt were selected to coach the Maroons.

Alsay Addison, 18, who has only one arm, was a star on the 1939 basket ball team of Holden high school in Louisiana.

NEWCOMERS WILL WRESTLE IN CITY

Promoter Kallio Books Buck Davidson And Sim Valley For Mat Program

Two newcomers to the wrestling wars of the south, Buck Davidson of Indiana and Sim Valley of Idaho, have been carded by Promoter Gus Kallio for the weekly wrestling program Wednesday night at the Monroe Wrestling arena.

Davidson will oppose Carl von Bromberg, the rugged German, in the main event and Valley will meet Ned Taylor of Washington state in the semi-final bout.

Each of the newcomers has established a reputation in his section of the country, Davidson in the north central states and Valley in the northwest.

Little regarding the specialty work of the two grapplers was available to Promoter Kallio in his telegrams to other sections of the country, but each of them has been wrestling in main events of cities far larger than Monroe.

Kallio expects to receive further details of their prowess through the mails by Monday night. Meanwhile, he was assured that each of the newcomers is a formidable opponent for his Wednesday night adversary.

CASTILLO DEFENDS CROWN THIS WEEK

Southeastern Golf Tournament Starts Thursday At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La., April 22—(Special)—Henry Castillo, slender Spanish-born co-captain of Louisiana State university's golf team and one of the outstanding young golfers in the nation, will defend his Southeastern conference title at the annual tournament over the L. S. U. Country club course next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Outstanding golfers from Tulane, Alabama and several other conference colleges will attempt to unseat Castillo from the throne he ascended as a sophomore here last April.

Visiting teams also will be after the conference team title which Louisiana State has won for the past two seasons. The Tigers set a new team record in 1938 with a total score of 598 for 36 holes, defeating Georgia, Alabama, Tulane and Georgia Tech.

The team championship will be decided on the basis of 36 holes Thursday morning and afternoon, when 16 players will qualify for the championship flight. The individual champion will be selected in four 18-hole rounds Friday and Saturday.

Each college can enter as many as six players with the four low scorers counting as the team score.

Louisiana State dominated the conference tournament last spring, but other colleges hope to end at least part, if not all of that domination this time.

Castillo blazed around the course to win the medal with a three-under-par 141 as Louisiana State qualified all six entries for the championship flight.

Castillo dethroned Vincent D'Antoni, of Tulane, the defending champion, in the semi-finals despite D'Antoni's par 72. Then the slender Tampa, Fla., boy went on to defeat Bert McDowell, his teammate and now co-captain of the Tiger golfers, for the title in an all-L. S. U. finals.

L. S. U.'s team will have a busy week. The Tigers will play three dual matches before the tournament gets under way. Opening with Rice at L. S. U. Sunday afternoon, they will take on Alabama Tuesday and Tulane Wednesday. The Alabama engagement replaces a scheduled match with the University of Florida.

Captain Everett M. Rupert heads Alabama's list of entrants in the tournament. Others are Ed Hudson, Bill Burke, Ellis Taylor, Thomas Nicols and Bill Walker.

In addition to Co-Captain Castillo and McDowell, L. S. U.'s entries will include Lee Ramsel, Warren Renfrow and Ernie Zaenarath.

D'Antoni, Harry L. Deas, Maurice J. Picheloup, III, and Jack Daray, Jr., will represent Tulane.

DOUBLE-HEADER TRACK MEET HELD

Georgia Tech Wins Over Clemson, While Auburn Overwhelms Georgia

ATLANTA, April 22—(AP)—In the first double-header intercollegiate track meet ever staged in the south, Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets and Auburn's Plainsmen today rolled up one-sided victories during an afternoon of mediocre performances.

Georgia Tech, winning 11 first places out of the 15 events, swamped the Clemson Tigers of the Southern conference 81 to 41, while Auburn walked off with 12 first places out of 14 events to overwhelm the Georgia Bulldogs, [illegible]

Slender Bob Dickerson and husky Chester Bulger paced their Auburn teammates to victory by winning three first places each. Dickerson scored firsts in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and in the broad jump. Bulger won three field events, the shot put, and the discus and javelin throws. Dickerson's time of 21.8 seconds for victory over Georgia's Oliver Hunnicutt in the 220-yard dash was the best single performance of the afternoon.

Captain Jim Spencer of the Auburn squad won two title races to take first places in both the 880-yard and mile runs. He beat out Georgia's diminutive Henry Fredericksen in both of these events. Chuck Morgan of Auburn nosed out Vassa Cate, Georgia's star timber-topper, by inches in the 120-yard high hurdles.

The meets were run off simultaneously on Grant field, Georgia Tech's home grounds.

COLLINS SETS COAST AFIRE; CUB FANS SAD

I-Told-You-So's Piling Up In Bailiwick Of Chicago Nationals

By Earl Hilligan

CHICAGO, April 22—(AP)—While James A. (Rip) Collins is piling up basehits in far-off Los Angeles, the I-told-you-so's are piling up in this bailiwick of the team which sold him "down the river"—the Chicago Cubs.

When Collins was sold to the Angels of the Pacific Coast league, Cub fans voiced resentment, principally on these grounds: (1) that Collins was a peppery, popular ball player and (2) that his experience and fielding ability should have prompted the Cubs to keep him on the roster, even though young Phil Cavarretta was to be given a crack at the regular first base job.

To date, the Cubs have played one league contest, defeating St. Louis yesterday. Cavarretta had two hits in four trips for a flying start. But many Cubs fans don't think he'll come close to keeping up that pace and point to his .239 batting average in 92 games last season.

Collins, meanwhile, has been setting the coast league on fire. Reported to be the highest salaried player in the circuit, he had a batting average through his first 21 games of .392, based on 29 hits in 74 trips, and leads the league in homers, with seven.

When the Cubs announced his sale, Owner P. K. Wrigley stated that "we can get him back when we have to." That appears to have been a rather optimistic remark. Under baseball law, any major league club releasing a player outright to a minor league team cannot get him back until he goes through the draft, which will be held at the winter meetings next December. Any other team, however, could buy Collins provided Los Angeles wanted to sell.

Collins was one of the most colorful players the Cubs have had in recent seasons. His batting mark in 1938 was only .267, but his hitting in September played a big part in the Cubs successful pennant drive.

RED SOX WHIP A'S

BOSTON, April 22.—(AP)—Woody Rich, 22-year-old rookie right-hander and an important cog in the Red Sox' pennant plans, held the Athletics to six hits today while making his American league debut with a 5-2 victory.

Rich toyed with most of the A's, forcing six of them to ground to him, but Joe Gantenbein, the opposition's freshman lead-off, whaled him for three hits.

The Sockers provided Rich with eight hits and he made two others himself.

INDIANS SHADE TIGERS

CLEVELAND, April 22.—(AP)—The veteran Willis Hudlin got the credit, but young Johnny Humphries snatched the glory, as the Indians defeated Detroit, 2-1, today for their second consecutive victory.

Hudlin, starting his 12th full season with the Tribe, faltered in the eighth inning after making a strong bid for a shutout. Humphries came to his rescue and left three Tigers on the baselines by retiring Rudy York and Pete Fox on easy pop-ups.

RAYVILLE ENTERS 5 IN STATE MEET

Leading Point Winners For Hornets To Compete At Baton Rouge

RAYVILLE, La., April 22.—(Special)—The Rayville Hornets will enter five performers in the state track meet at Baton Rouge Friday. These five men have been leading point winners on the Hornet team. The Rayville team has entered four big meets and two dual meets this season. The Hornets won both dual meets, defeating the Wisner Bulldogs and the Delhi Bears. They finished third in the following meets: Haynesville relays, Bolton meet, and north Louisiana meet at Ruston. In the Ouachita relays at Monroe; the Hornets finished second.

The Rayville entries in the state meet are: J. C. Wall· mile run; Homer Rudy, 100 yard and 220 yard dashes; Binford Dear, 440 yard run; Herman Russell, broad jump and hop, step and jump; Dick Nunnally high jump. These boys have won points in every meet and are among the best performers in this section in these events.

J. C. Waller has won all of his mile paces this season. His best time was 4:45 at the Bolton meet. This rates as one of the best miles run in high school circles this season and he has a good chance to win at Baton Rouge. Homer Rudy and Binford Dear have both run the 440 under 54 seconds, which is good time for high school boys. Rudy will be switched to the shorter dashes at the state meet, since he has been improving in both the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard dash. Dear will run the 440 and has an excellent chance to place. Russell and Nunnally have been showing steady improvement in their specialties and should be able to place in the state finals.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Scoopagrade: As good a bet as any is that Jock Sutherland will wind up just where he started—at Pitt. (Don't ask any more questions right now.) . . . One St. Louis book (Carroll's) makes El Chico, Johnstown and Technician Derby co-favorites at 4-1. Another (Burke's) puts Johnstown on top at 4-1 and quotes the other two at 5-1. . . . The word is going around that Ohio State is coming up with another of its great teams this fall. . . . Look for pyrotechnics—and plenty of them—when the Pacific Coast conference gets that report on proselytizing in June.

They're Dodgers.

The Dodgers were invited to be guests of honor at a big blowout in Flatbush. . . . They didn't show up.

Mail box: Julian Black: They're telling strange stories about why you're supposed to be mad at Bob Pastor's manager. . . . Bill Terry: Mayor Hague didn't tell you it was the first division or else for Jersey City this year, did he? . . . Clark Griffith: Moe Berg says you're keeping all those Cubans around to distract attention from a poor ball club.

Today's guest star.

Howard Brickey, Wichita Falls (Tex.) Times: "Word is getting around that it's no longer any use to try to handle Joe Louis with gloves."

Sports cocktail: Burgess Whitehead must figure his comeback is a success for he's leased an apartment for the summer. . . . Lou Nova got in today to start training for Max Baer. . . . That two-day delay in staging the Yankee opener cost the club $50,000. . . . One amateur, now touring the tennis circuit, wired a tournament chairman recently he'd be glad to play in an exhibition match for $2 meal money.

We don't believe it.

Strange line in the baseball news: "DiMaggio was passed to get Gehrig." . . . Quick, Watson, make it a big one.

Quickies: Three cheers for Old Man Mose Grove, who had been given up as a dead 'un. . . . Pat Rosa, sports editor of the New York Post, once ran in the Boston marathon. . . . Paul Waner is betting hats he'll wind up with a .340 batting mark. . . . N. Y. Mirror says a new hoss racing scandal is coming up. . . . Red Ruffing is shooting for 25 victories this year. . . . Joey Archibald can get $15,000 for putting his feather title on the line against Spider Kelly, European champ, in Belfast in July. . . . BE BLUE SCORES UPSET AT NARRAGANSETT PARK

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 22.—(AP)—An upset triumph by the Texan filly Be Blue, making her first start of the year in the $5,000 added Spring Handicap today, marked the opening of New England's 172-day racing season before a 35,000 crowd at Narragansett park.

That surprising daughter of Blue Larkspur, owned by T. H. Heard, Jr., scored by a neck over Felix Spatola's stoutly supported Wise Prince while turning the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5.

The reinstated Don Meade was up on Early Delivery, which showed a length and a half behind Wise Prince.

He drove in the game's only run on a long fly to center field to score a runner from third in the opening inning.

Only two high school players reached first. They walked.

The PAYOFF

By Harry Grayson
(NEA Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 22.—Zeke Bonura rounds out a devastating Giant attack.

The pitching may be adequate now that Clydell Castleman is no longer an uncertain quantity.

But the New York Nationals' pennant hopes have skyrocketed principally because of Burgess Whitehead's fine comeback.

The 155-pound second baseman had to demonstrate that his illness and year's layoff had not dulled his technic before he was given a regular contract. That's how doubtful he was.

Whitehead won his contract . . . one for $12,000 . . . in the furnace of spring training, and Bill Terry has good reason to believe that his headaches are over. After trying one second sacker after another in 1938, it is mighty comforting to Terry to see the gentlemanly little North Carolinian at the keystone.

Whitehead's presence gives the Polo Grounders a defense again . . . a second basing combination second to none with Bill Jurges on the other side.

Terry says Whitehead actually has a step more defensive range than he had in the penant-winning years of 1936 and '37, unbelievable as it may seem.

Schumacher Lacks Former Authority

Pitching is now the Giants' only worry.

Carl Hubbell will do little if any until hot weather sets in.

Terry contends that Hal Schumacher's delivery is just about normal, but the splendid young man who submitted to an arm operation doesn't appear to be the Schumey of old.

Schumacher has been mixing his bear-down ball with his palm-ball. Terry is pleased with the results the upstate New Yorker gets from his palm-ball, or slow, soft pitch. It got the Cleveland Indians off balance in exhibition games. They couldn't hit it safely. But they got into Schumey's harder delivery like it was made for them.

Schumacher may have something in that palm-ball. It's a teaser. It's hard to lay a decent piece of wood against it, and the St. Lawrence college products may need the pitch a lot in the future.

Prince Hal really used to pour 'em in.

He's still fast at times, but the old authority seems lacking.

Dodgers Not Funny To Joe McCarthy

The Dodgers were far from being a laughable team to Joe McCarthy as he watched his Yankees drop six out of 10 exhibition games to Brooklyn and get no better than a draw in another.

McCarthy liked the way Pete Coscarart played second base for the Flatbush flock.

Averill Still Seen Moving To Detroit

More than one close observer of the baseball market still believes that Earl Averill will go from Cleveland to Detroit before the June 15 major league trading deadline . . . for Billy Rogell and a pitcher.

The Indians, loaded with outfielders, gave up on Lyn Lary and Skeeter Webb can't hit.

BASEBALL, GRID GAME DON'T MIX

Veteran Scout Warns Diamond Aspirants To Stay Off Gridiron

PHILADELPHIA, April 22.—(AP)—Collegiate aspirants to big league baseball teams should just watch football—not play it.

That's the advice of Patsy O'Rourke, veteran scout for the Philadelphia National league baseball team.

Most football aces are flops in professional baseball because football tightens muscles until they can't hit, O'Rourke said today.

"What better example would you want than Ray Stoviak?" he asked.

Stoviak joined the Phillies after a brilliant football and baseball career at Villanova college but failed to make the grade on the professional diamond.

"Stoviak was as good looking an outfielder as you'd want to see in his junior year at Villanova," O'Rourke said.

"He could do everything, and above all hit. If he had quit college then nothing could have stopped him making good in the big show. That one additional season at halfback was disastrous. He could still field, and throw—but he couldn't hit."

Football players, O'Rourke explained, use their shoulders for charging and blocking.

"That incessant pounding toughens the shoulders and tightens the muscles," he added. "Once those muscles are tightened they can't hit any more.

"Give them a low ball or one waist high and the natural hitters will sock it. But if they've played too much football you'll generally find the shoulder-high pitches too tough to reach."

Beattie Feathers, star Tennessee back who had a trial with Cincinnati, and Sammy Baugh, ace Texas Christian passer given a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals, were cited by O'Rourke as other examples of those hot on the gridiron but cold on the diamond.

MONROE SWAMPS EL DORADO LIONS

an error and stole home for one more Sox run in the second.

Five runners trotted across the plate for Monroe in the third. Hargrove tripled and scored on Hackney's single. Hackney went to second on an error and scored on Hank Taylor's single. Maxfield singled, scoring Taylor. Link tripled, scoring Maxfield, and Conway singled to score Link.

The Sox went scoreless in the fourth, but they came through with six more runs in the fifth. Maxfield was safe on an error. Link and Conway singled, and McClain was issued a base on balls to force in Maxfield. Hargrove singled, scoring Link and Hackney tripled to score Conway, McClain and Hargrove. Pruitt doubled to score Hackney.

One more tally was added by Monroe in the seventh after two were out. Taylor doubled and scored on Maxfield's triple.

The nightmare of Sox runs ended with four more in the eighth. McClain was safe when he forced Conway at second. McClain went to third when Day committed an error on Hargrove's grounder to second and scored as Hackney reached first safely on an error. Pruitt got a base on balls, loading the bases and Hargrove and Hackney scored when Oleks let Jones' drive get through him. On a throw in to catch Hackney at the plate, Pruitt raced for third. Tone, then on the mound for El Dorado, took the throw in and whipped it to third to stop Pruitt, but the throw soared off over Ostenberg's head, way out of reach, and Pruitt scored.

The Lions scored twice in the fourth after Ostenberg and Medak had hit successive singles. Ostenberg scored when Campbell hit into a double play that caught Olson, who had got on with a base on balls, at second. Medak scored on Oleks' single.

The visitors again scored twice in the seventh. Dancisak reached first on a fielder's choice and Pfeifer was safe on Jones' error at first. Ostenberg singled to score Dancisak and Pfeifer.

Bases on balls helped the Lions to their last two runs in the eighth. Oleks, on via a free pass, scored on a single by Tone, after Day, pinch hitting for Gregha, had gotten on by a fielder's choice. Pfeifer got a free pass, loading the bases; and a base on balls to Ostenberg forced in Day with the final Lion run.

SPORTS Chatter

By Geo. K. Lofton

of his professional career has been spent at second base.

A couple of years ago, Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns put in a draft for Lipscomb and got him from the Atlanta Crackers for $6,000. Nig reported to the Browns in the spring, but couldn't quite make the ripple.

The transformed backstop is a discovery of the late Johnny Dobbs, who picked Nig up in North Carolina when he bought the Charlotte club in 1933. A new recruit, Lipscomb was put at second base and went through the Piedmont season there. The fans did not always agree that he should be there, but Dobbs never lost faith. The kid proved one of the best keystone men in the league and batted .265.

Next year, he returned for a great season. On September 9, Dobbs was stricken and died while his team was battling out on the field. He did not live to see the final 1934 averages which showed Lipscomb batted .309 and had a splendid year afield. He moved to Atlanta for 1935 and the Crackers have been nursing him ever since.

Good catchers being scarce as they are, Nig will have no trouble landing a berth if he can turn in a good season behind the bat for the Greenies.

Although he's had six years of pro experience, Nig is just 25 years old and still has plenty of time to make his way back to the top as a receiver.

He has a baseball heritage, for his father was quite a diamond performer a quarter of a century ago, playing for Greenville of the old Carolina association.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—The stock market looked like a deserted orphan today as traders left leading issues to shift apathetically for themselves over a slightly irregular route.

Transfers of less than 200,000 shares were the smallest for any session since June 18, last.

Partly inspiring speculative indifference was the desire of both buyers and sellers to keep commitments light over the week-end when, it was recalled, things have previously happened in Europe that jolted the markets one way or the other.

As one commentator put it, "Stocks will probably doze until they hear Der Fuehrer's vibrant voice." Meaning, of course, Hitler's scheduled speech before the reichstag next Friday replying to the president's peace proposals.

With the choosing up of sides continuing at a feverish pace abroad, most in Wall Street seemed content to maintain a waiting attitude although it was still apparent war tension had eased to some extent as a market influence.

Business news, on the whole, was more favorable than otherwise, but pleasing items on this front were more or less obscured by the overseas picture.

Securities at Amsterdam, only important foreign center open today, were exceptionally quiet and a shade uneven.

Bonds and commodities were mixed. [illegible]

Niles-Bement-Pond added over a point in the curb and Lockheed was [illegible]. Electric Bond and Share and American Cyanamid "B" drifted lower.

SIX FIRMS TOLD TO SUPPLY ARMS

'Educational' Orders Totaling $2,000,000 Given By War Department

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—A war department announcement that six manufacturing firms had been given "educational" orders totaling $2,000,000 underscored administration efforts today to link industry without delay with military preparedness.

Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson said President Roosevelt had approved contracts representing "a modest introduction" to a $34,500,000 program, which congress already has voted, to train factories to turn out munitions.

"Months will be saved," in time of emergency by training the companies now, Johnson said.

Additional trial orders, soon to be placed for such critical items as guns, planes, shells and tanks, will involve possibly 270 plants, he estimated.

The announcement closely followed disclosure that the army was quietly planning to reinforce its military intelligence division, which reports developments abroad and safeguards defense secrets at home.

Offcials said that under legislation asked this week by Secretary Woodring the directing head of the general staff's "G-2" division (intelligence) would be a major or brigadier general instead of a colonel as at present.

The war department's pending $508,000,000 annual appropriation increases the intelligence division's funds by 50 per cent.

The firms receiving the "educational orders" announced today were:

Gas masks, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, O.

New semi-automatic rifles, Winchester Repeating Arms company, New Haven, Conn.

Recoil mechanisms for anti-aircraft guns, R. Hoe and company, New York.

Machining of 75 millimeter shells, S. A. Woods Machine company, Boston.

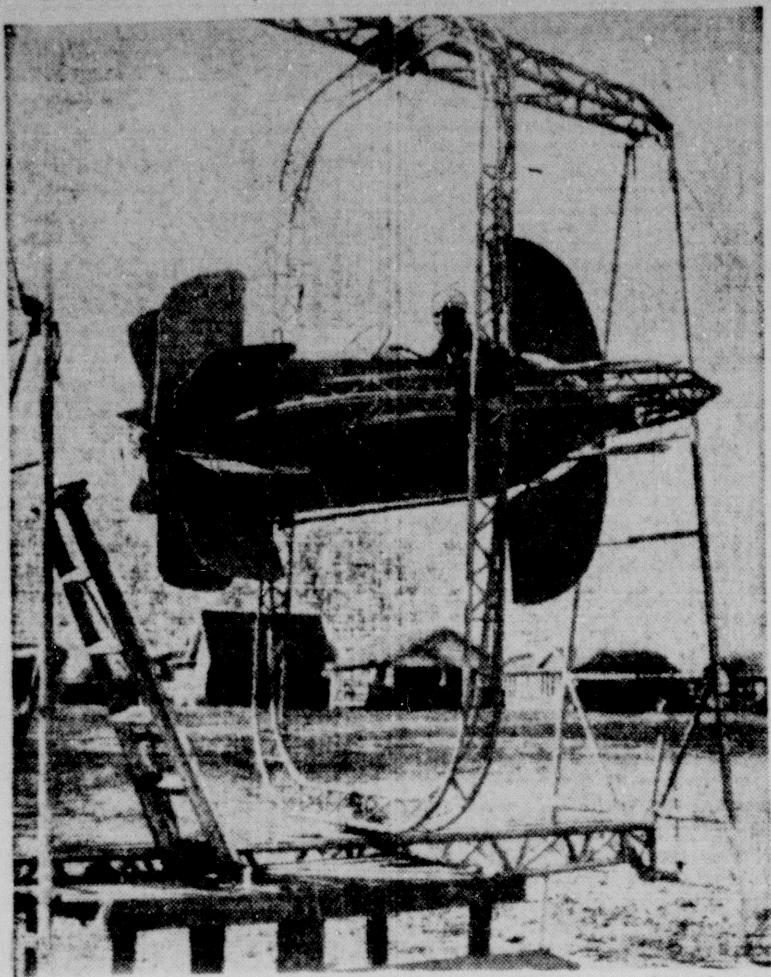
NOW YOU CAN LEARN TO FLY



An unusual mechanism called a "flight trainer" plane, such as has been used by the United States army air corps to train pilots, has been set up at 700 DeSiard street by Henry Aubrey, who will remain several weeks giving demonstrations. The machine is a school of instruction whereby those desirous of learning to fly a plane can obtain this instruction on the ground. A real test of one's ability is shown. There are controls of a real plane—a "stick" and rudder pedals—in short virtually everything that is encountered by the operation of a real plane in its air flight.

DELEGATES ARRIVING AT METHODIST MEET

KANSAS CITY, April 22.—(AP)—The first of the 900 Methodist delegates who will strive to forge three long-separated church factions into a mighty unit of 8,000,000—largest protestant group in the nation—were on hand today at the scene where they hope to make history.

Threat of a court injunction from dissident southern elements to halt the great "uniting conference," scheduled to open Wednesday, appeared definitely removed as early arrivals brought words of optimism.

A laymen's organization in the south at first talked of filing the injunction but later decided to test its case in state courts.

Plank by plank out of the white heat of committee debate, the delegates will adopt a plan of union already outlined and approved by the annual conferences of the three large groups—Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, South, and Methodist Protestant.

The Methodist Protestants broke away in 1828 in a dispute over the power of the bishops. The Methodist Episcopal and M. E., South groups split up over the slavery issue shortly before the Civil war.

Monday there will be a preliminary conference of the church bishops, with the non-bishop Methodist Protestants represented by Dr. James Straughn, of Baltimore.

The conference is certain to continue for many weeks.

RED SOX WHIP A'S

BOSTON, April 22.—(AP)—Woody Rich, 22-year-old rookie right-hander and an important cog in the Red Sox' pennant plans, held the Athletics to six hits today while making his American league debut with a 5-2 victory.

Rich toyed with most of the A's, forcing six of them to ground to him, but Joe Gantenbein, the opposition's freshman lead-off, whaled him for three hits.

The Sockers provided Rich with eight hits and he made two others himself.

SIX FIRMS TOLD TO SUPPLY ARMS

'Educational' Orders Totaling $2,000,000 Given By War Department

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—A war department announcement that six manufacturing firms had been given "educational" orders totaling $2,000,000 underscored administration efforts today to link industry without delay with military preparedness.

Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson said President Roosevelt had approved contracts representing "a modest introduction" to a $34,500,000 program, which congress already has voted, to train factories to turn out munitions.

"Months will be saved," in time of emergency by training the companies now, Johnson said.

Additional trial orders, soon to be placed for such critical items as guns, planes, shells and tanks, will involve possibly 270 plants, he estimated.

The announcement closely followed disclosure that the army was quietly planning to reinforce its military intelligence division, which reports developments abroad and safeguards defense secrets at home.

Officials said that under legislation asked this week by Secretary Woodring the directing head of the general staff's "G-2" division (intelligence) would be a major or brigadier general instead of a colonel as at present.

The war department's pending $508,000,000 annual appropriation increases the intelligence division's funds by 50 per cent.

The firms receiving the "educational orders" announced today were:

Gas masks, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, O.

New semi-automatic rifles, Winchester Repeating Arms company, New Haven, Conn.

Searchlights for anti-aircraft artillery, General Electric company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Recoil mechanisms for anti-aircraft guns, R. Hoe and company, New York.

Machining of 75 millimeter shells, S. A. Woods Machine company, Boston.

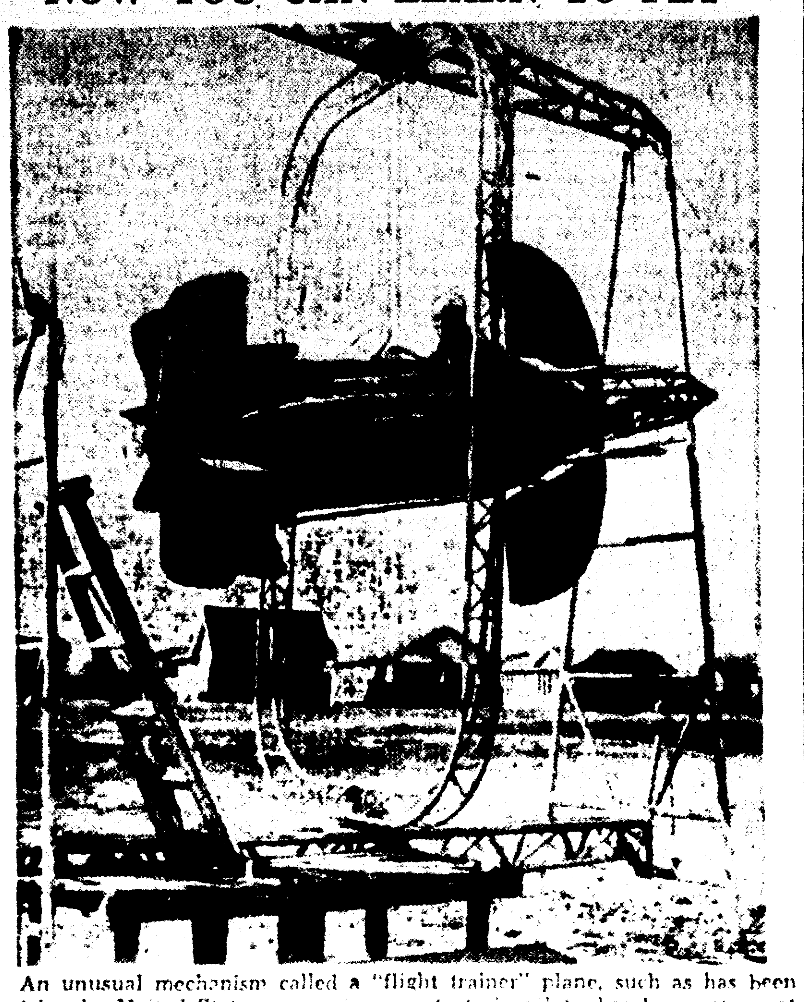
NOW YOU CAN LEARN TO FLY



An unusual mechanism called a "flight trainer" plane, such as has been used by the United States army air corps to train pilots, has been set up at 700 DeSiard street by Henry Aubrey, who will remain several weeks giving demonstrations. The machine is a school of instruction whereby those desirous of learning to fly a plane can obtain this instruction on the ground. A real test of one's ability is shown. There are controls of a real plane—a "stick" and rudder pedals—in short virtually everything that is encountered by the operation of a real plane in its air flight.

DELEGATES ARRIVING AT METHODIST MEET

KANSAS CITY, April 22.—(AP)—The first of the 900 Methodist delegates who will strive to forge three long-separated church factions into a mighty unit of 8,000,000—largest protestant group in the nation—were on hand today at the scene where they hope to make history.

Threat of a court injunction from dissident southern elements to halt the great "uniting conference," scheduled to open Wednesday, appeared definitely removed as early arrivals brought words of optimism.

A laymen's organization in the south at first talked of filing the injunction but later decided to test its case in state courts.

Plank by plank out of the white heat of committee debate, the delegates will adopt a plan of union already outlined and approved by the annual conferences of the three large groups—Methodist Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, South, and Methodist Protestant.

The Methodist Protestants broke away in 1828 in a dispute over the power of the bishops. The Methodist Episcopal and M. E. South groups split up over the slavery issue shortly before the Civil war.

Monday there will be a preliminary conference of the church bishops, with the non-bishop Methodist Protestants represented by Dr. James Straughn, of Baltimore.

The conference is certain to continue for many weeks.

Monroe Once More Proves Itself One Of Most Hospitable Cities In South

Parent-Teachers Meet Outstanding Success

Club Women Continue To Play More Important Part In Affairs Of State And Nation

TRUE hospitality is an intangible thing. It is the elusive quality devoutly to be desired by every hostess. It cannot be attained by means of rare china, gleaming crystal and priceless silver. It may be found in a little bungalow and may be lacking in a mansion. Whatever this elusive thing is we call hospitality, Monroe is certainly past master of it.

The six hundred women who attended the state convention of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association can't be wrong. They unanimously declared Monroe to be one of the most gracious hostess cities of any in the state. They were dined and wined, and entertained on land and on the water—the trip down the Ouachita river being one of highlights of the program. Breakfast parties, luncheons, teas and a banquet—a veritable feast for the gods on the terrace of the Frances hotel, where bright colored gowns created great splashes of color as vivid as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame.

There is a decided contrast between conventions of men and women. No blue haze of smoke hangs over the meetings, flowers are aromatic substitute for cigars, no stentorian voices ring out and compliments, "My, how young you look!" or "what a beautiful gown!" are heard on every side.

What every woman knows who attended this inspirational meeting in Monroe is that leadership is one of the most important factors in the well-being and progress of any organization. She also knows that the most important committee is the nominating committee upon which rests the responsibility for building up an official family which will function with balance and accord. The task is harder in these days when every woman has many interests, each of them a major.

Club women today are studying affairs of government not because it is smart, but because it is intelligent, and they are going to do much more of it during the coming year. Especially alert to events as they happen day by day are members of the Parent-Teacher associations. They realize that as citizens and parents they have an important part to play, and only by banding together and working for one great cause can great things be accomplished.

Clubs play a big part in the life of a woman who doesn't have a creative art that engrosses her. If a woman is musical, if she is an artist or goes in for dramatics, the club that offers these things will attract her. But for the great majority, whose interests lie elsewhere, the P.-T. A. with its wider range is the answer. Its appeal to mothers is especially great. They realize that the future of the country means as much to them as the present—children must face the existing situations of the future.

All of life in Monroe didn't revolve around convention headquarters by any means. There was, for instance, that charming Sunday afternoon adventure last week, when friends, old and young, sat in Marguerite Easterling's handsome, high ceilinged drawing room and listened, enraptured to sweet music of Chopin, Schumann, Beethoven, played by her 11-year-old nephew, Hillyer Speed Lamkin, who invited his friends to attend his first recital.

Marguerite's unerring artistry was reflected in the great cluster of superb calla lilies placed in a tall crystal floor standard near the concert grand piano. On the black marble mantel was massed old-fashioned snow balls—the kind that used to grow in our grandmother's gardens.

The young fry refused to sit sedately in the proffered chairs but watched the performance of their young friend from the stairs where they sat wide-eyed and expectant. Hillyer Speed promised Flood Garrett that he would conclude his program of classics with "Alexander's Rag Time Band." True to his promise, he gave a vigorous rendition with trills aplenty not found in the copy.

Later there was much conversation and everyone congratulated the young musician on his triumph. Hillyer Speed's teacher, Mrs. O. A. Hill, wearing the corsage of gardenias and valley lilies he sent her, was quite radiant. Coffee was poured from silver urns by Hillyer Speed's mother, Layton Lamkin.

With all the politics we have nowadays it's well to know that a few of us take time off for a bit of joy. Travis and Lida Oliver are off for White Sulphur Springs, Va., with their golf clubs the most important part of their luggage. The links at this beauty spot are the most wonderful in the country, we are told. If Lida fails to bring back a golf trophy presented by the executive committee of the National Bankers' association, of which Travis is a past member, it will be the first time. She has captured numerous handsome prizes in the tournaments arranged for the bankers' wives at their annual meetings.

One of the ambitions almost everyone shares with his neighbor is the urge to take a voyage to the South seas, and once there to enjoy the perfume of ilima and white ginger; the music of the surf and the rattle of the calabash in accompaniment to a hula; the soft thrum of ukuleles; the soft, spice-laden sea wind; the chirp of mynah birds; the waving palms and on the horizon the stars of the Southern Cross. Flora Potts will be headed next week toward Diamond Head, standing guard over the Hawaiian Islands. No doubt when the royal Hawaiian band strikes up the strains of "Aloha," Mrs. Potts will experience all the pangs of regret suffered by those who sail for home when vacation time is over.

Several Weddings Are Announced To Take Place During Month Of June

Miss Doris Brown To Marry Hal T. Fowlkes

Daughter Of Commissioner Of Agriculture Wilson And Mrs. Wilson Marries At Amite

June weddings begin to loom up on the not far distant horizon. Several announcements have already been made of approaching weddings to take place during the "month of brides," and others will be announced next month.

Of interest today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Brown of Calhoun of the engagement and approaching marriage of their niece, Miss Doris Brown, to Mr. Hal T. Fowlkes, of Amory, Miss., son of Mrs. J. T. Fowlkes and the late Mrs. Fowlkes.

The wedding will take place early in June.

Weddings have been engaging the interest of society throughout the month of April. Several brilliant events have taken place in nearby communities, including that of Miss Eloise Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Wilson of Baton Rouge, and Mr. Frederick G. Hochenedel, Jr., of Baton Rouge which took place in Amite, La., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Jr., on the thirteenth of April.

The ceremony took place before a white improvised altar in the spacious parlor. White larkspur and Ascension lilies banked the altar for which ferns and palms were the background. Just before the ceremony, while soft music was heard, candles were lighted in the tall seven-branched candelabra at either side.

The bride's brother, Justin Wilson of Crowley sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Richard M. Cooter, sang "Oh Promise Me." The wedding music was played by Mrs. Fitzhugh Lewis of Hammond who rendered the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin for the entrance of the bridal party. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was heard after the ceremony performed by Rev. Dr. Tate Young, rector of Grace Episcopal church in Hammond.

The stairway, descended by the bride and her attendants, was picturesquely arranged with white larkspur and lilies, and the rail was entwined with Southern smilax. Mrs. Kemp was her matron of honor and Helen Kirk was maid of honor. The bride's niece, Pamela Wilson of Crowley, daughter of the Justin Wilsons, was flower girl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant and lovely in a gown of white net with a white lace, bodice and full skirt of cloud-like net. There was a square neckline and puffed sleeves. Bands of the lace were set into the skirt at intervals.

Over this fell a circular veil of illusion, finger-tip length, which was worn over the face until after the ceremony. A cornet of orange blossoms held the veil. She wore an exquisite locket, a miniature of her mother, hand-painted on porcelain and framed in gold. She carried, along with her bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, her great grandmother's wedding handkerchief.

White net gowns for the two attendants also, and these were fashioned with very full skirts, with tight-fitting bodices having square necklines and puffed sleeves. The only note of color at the ceremony was introduced in their bouquets of pastel-hand larkspur, sweet peas, stock, and roses.

The flower girl wore white taffeta in old-fashioned effect and carried a round bouquet of spring flowers.

Mr. Hochenedel had as best man his brother, Mr. A. Muller Hochenedel, and as groomsman the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Guy C. Garrison.

In the dining room white larkspur, sweet peas, and Ascension lilies blossomed in profusion. The bride's table was arranged in white and silver, with an imported lace cloth and the five-tiered wedding cake as the centerpiece. This was encircled by sprays of valley lilies and fern, and the table was lighted with white tapers in silver candlesticks.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a smart sports suit of navy blue gabardine with a chartreuse blouse, hat and gloves of the same bright hue. Her slippers and bag were in navy.

The bride attended the Louisiana State university and was a pledge of the Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Hochenedel, one of the younger business men of Baton Rouge, is a graduate of the university and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Until his marriage he was a member of the Baton Rouge Southern club, bachelor organization.

Mary Virginia Evans Weds John J. Kerst

Winnsboro Baptist Church Is Scene Of Impressive Ceremony Held On 16th Of April

Claiming the interest of friends in this section of the state was the wedding of Miss Mary Virginia Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Evans of Winnsboro, and Mr. John J. Kerst, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kerst of Reading, Pa., Sunday afternoon, April 16, at the Winnsboro Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. Dana Terry, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Woodwardia ferns formed a lush, green background for sheaves of calla lilies banking the chancel rail. An aisle leading to the altar was formed by tall, seven-branched candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers.

During the pre-nuptial concert the candles were lighted by Earl and Howell Brice Evans, brothers of the bride. Mrs. Walter Woods, pianist, and Mr. Louis Westerburg, violinist, played "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms," and accompanied Mrs. Edgar Lowry, who sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride's attendants were Miss Eloise Evans, maid of honor, Mrs. Tinora Mullins, matron of honor, and Jennye Lou Evans, junior bridesmaid. They all wore Empire gowns of orchid colored embroidered organza, with tight-fitting bodices, V neckline and long, full skirts. They carried sheaves of calla lilies, grown especially for the wedding by the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. F. Jeter of Welsh, La.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white embroidered mousseline wedding gown over white satin. It was fashioned along Princess lines, with long, tight-fitting sleeves, puffed at the shoulders and with long full skirt, flaring at the hem line and ending in a long train. A finger tip, circular veil was caught to the head with a halo cap. She carried a bridal bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. For something old she wore a brooch that has been in her mother's family for more than one hundred years. An heirloom locket was also worn.

Mr. J. B. Evans, Jr., served as best man. The ushers were L. Earl Evans and Bobbye Evans of Ruston.

Immediately after the ceremony, in the beautifully decorated home of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Rogers, an informal reception was held for the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerst left for an extended tour through the eastern states and Canada, stopping at points of interest, including Niagara Falls, Toronto, New York City, Reading, Pa., and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Kerst choose for traveling an orchid crepe tailleur with harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Kerst was graduated from the Winnsboro High school.

Mr. Kerst is a graduate of North Carolina State college of Raleigh, N. C., and is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho national fraternity. He is now connected with the United States forest service on flood control survey, and is located at Oxford, Miss.

Dancing Party Is Given

The long winter is practically over insofar as dance students are concerned. Feet tapping the boards hint of annual recitals marking the end of the season and summer vacation just ahead.

Clarice and Goldah Roan's dance studio is a veritable bee-hive of activity these days with dances, created by these talented danseuses, practiced daily by pupils who will appear in the recital next month.

A dancing party in the studio last week broke the monotony of daily practice. Courtesies were extended by the Misses Roan, assisted by Mrs. Harry Williams and Mrs. Steele Williams.

A five-piece orchestra supplied swing music throughout the evening. Several talented pupils gave an exhibition of their skill in the clever show presented during the evening.

During an intermission iced fruit frappe and confections were served the guests, members of the ballroom class.

They were Jerry Juneman, Margaret Vaughan, Dorothy Davis, Gray Wade, "Mug" Curry, Edward New, Evelyn Wade, "Scotty" Young, Dottie Sue Young, Ann Mallet, Jean Spencer, Roye Whittington, Jean Kennedy, Roye Stewart, Wilbur Jean Rogers, Hubert Weatherly, Louis Haynes, Mavis Hernandez, Gladys Darden, Emery Welch, Penelope Darden, Irene Rainbolt, Eugene Darden, Clara Bell Hair, L. E. Monroe Once More Proves Itself One Of Most Hospitable Cities In South

Parent-Teachers Meet Outstanding Success

Club Women Continue To Play More Important Part In Affairs Of State And Nation

TRUE hospitality is an intangible thing. It is the elusive quality devoutly to be desired by every hostess. It cannot be attained by means of rare china, gleaming crystal and priceless silver. It may be found in a little bungalow and may be lacking in a mansion. Whatever this elusive thing is we call hospitality, Monroe is certainly past master of it.

The six hundred women who attended the state convention of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association can't be wrong. They unanimously declared Monroe to be one of the most gracious hostess cities of any in the state. They were dined and wined, and entertained on land and on the water—the trip down the Ouachita river being one of highlights of the program. Breakfast parties, luncheons, teas and a banquet—a veritable feast for the gods on the terrace of the Frances hotel, where bright colored gowns created great splashes of color as vivid as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame.

There is a decided contrast between conventions of men and women. No blue haze of smoke hangs over the meetings, flowers are aromatic substitute for cigars, no stentorian voices ring out and compliments, "My, how young you look!" or "what a beautiful gown!" are heard on every side.

What every woman knows who attended this inspirational meeting in Monroe is that leadership is one of the most important factors in the well-being and progress of any organization. She also knows that the most important committee is the nominating committee upon which rests the responsibility for building up an official family which will function with balance and accord. The task is harder in these days when every woman has many interests, each of them a major.

Club women today are studying affairs of government not because it is smart, but because it is intelligent, and they are going to do much more of it during the coming year. Especially alert to events as they happen day by day are members of the Parent-Teacher associations. They realize that as citizens and parents they have an important part to play, and only by banding together and working for one great cause can great things be accomplished.

Clubs play a big part in the life of a woman who doesn't have a creative art that engrosses her. If a woman is musical, if she is an artist or goes in for dramatics, the club that offers these things will attract her. But for the great majority, whose interests lie elsewhere, the P.-T. A. with its wider range is the answer. Its appeal to mothers is especially great. They realize that the future of the country means as much to them as the present—children must face the existing situations of the future.

All of life in Monroe didn't revolve around convention headquarters by any means. There was, for instance, that charming Sunday afternoon adventure last week, when friends, old and young, sat in Marguerite Kastelling's handsome, high ceilinged drawing room and listened, enraptured to sweet music of Chopin, Schumann, Beethoven, played by her 11-year-old nephew, Hillyer Speed Lamkin, who invited his friends to attend his first recital.

Marguerite's unerring artistry was reflected in the great cluster of superb calla lilies placed in a tall crystal floor standard near the concert grand piano. On the black marble mantel was massed old-fashioned snow balls—the kind that used to grow in our grandmother's gardens.

The young fry refused to sit sedately in the proffered chairs but watched the performance of their young friend from the stairs where they sat wide-eyed and expectant. Hillyer Speed promised Flood Garrett that he would conclude his program of classics with "Alexander's Rag Time Band." True to his promise, he gave a vigorous rendition with trills aplenty not found in the copy.

Later there was much conversation and everyone congratulated the young musician on his triumph. Hillyer Speed's teacher, Mrs. O. A. Hill, wearing the corsage of gardenias and valley lilies he sent her, was quite radiant. Coffee was poured from silver urns by Hillyer Speed's mother, Layton Lamkin.

With all the politics we have nowadays it's well to know that a few of us take time off for a bit of joy. Travis and Lida Oliver are off for White Sulphur Springs, Va., with their golf clubs the most important part of their luggage. The links at this beauty spot are the most wonderful in the country, we are told. If Lida fails to bring back a golf trophy presented by the executive committee of the National Bankers' association, of which Travis is a past member, it will be the first time. She has captured numerous handsome prizes in the tournaments arranged for the bankers' wives at their annual meetings.

One of the ambitions almost everyone shares with his neighbor is the urge to take a voyage to the South seas, and once there to enjoy the perfume of ilima and white ginger; the music of the surf and the rattle of the calabash in accompaniment to a hula; the soft thrum of ukuleles; the soft, spice-laden sea wind; the chirp of mynah birds; the waving palms and on the horizon the stars of the Southern Cross. Flora Potts will be headed next week toward Diamond Head, standing guard over the Hawaiian Islands. No doubt when the royal Hawaiian band strikes up the strains of "Aloha," Mrs. Potts will experience all the pangs of regret suffered by those who sail for home when vacation time is over.

More Than 400 Members And Guests Attend Parent-Teacher Banquet Friday

Mrs. Paul Blanchard Presides At Occasion

Dean C. C. Colvert Serves As Toastmaster; Chief Address Given By Dr. Charles Hyneman

Over 400 members and guests of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association attended the annual banquet at the Hotel Frances, Cherokee terrace, Friday evening, with Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, state president, presiding and Dean C. C. Colvert, Northeast Center, officiating as toastmaster.

The program was opened by the singing of "America" by the assembly, directed by Mrs. G. E. Buddeke, Shreveport, state chairman of music. Miss Mack Fay Hammons was the accompanist.

Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, gave the invocation, which was followed by the presentation of the board members by Mrs. Blanchard.

Featuring the evening's program was the presentation of a life membership in the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, to Miss Myrtle Rodgers, for outstanding work in the organization and for her loyal services as general chairman of the state convention.

An invitation to meet in Lake Charles in 1940 was extended by Mrs. Eric Gebsen, which was accepted at the post-convention board meeting.

Mrs. Warren Mabrey, Cape Girardeau, Mo., secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave the message from the National Congress. According to Mrs. Mabrey, the Parent-Teacher association, has 2,250,000 members in the United States and has accomplished much in parent-education, in the correction of defects in pre-school children and in safety measures.

Dr. Charles Hyneman, of the department of political science, L. S. U., delivered an address with the theme, "Is Democracy Worth Saving?"

Dr. Hyneman said, in part:

"Before we can answer the question "Is Democracy Worth Saving?" we must come to an agreement on the three following points:

"First, we must find out what democracy is; second, we must decide that we want it; third, we must know the price we will have to pay for it.

"Democracy is simply government according to the consent of the governed, who must be aware of what is taking place and know that what they want is being done.

"There are many," according to Dr. Hyneman, "who do not want democracy, but will not come out and admit it. To say that they value it, does not guarantee that they do.

"American people are now facing this question for the first time since the Revolution. We in America have had constantly a very genuine prosperity. Unlike those days, we do not have to go out in the streets and fight, but we are at the point where we do not get out of our economic difficulty so easily. If there comes a time when democracy is on the verge of going down, we will have to choose between it and capitalism.

"Depressions are more serious than they have ever been before, because we have been made more capable of seeing what is going on. Several processes of solution have been offered, but in each there is the argument of whether or not the different classes of people will accept these steps.

"Suggested remedies have been to remove the tax, which handicaps the American businessman, which, of course, those in power cannot see. To get out of this, the businessman must voluntarily lower prices and raise wages, which he cannot do. Another suggestion, calling for much argument, is to take the power away from those in power."

Dr. Hyneman concluded his remarks by advocating the education of the people in intelligent voting, increasing the enthusiasm of women through organization and the wholehearted support of our congressmen.

Central Grammar

The Central Grammar school P.-T. A. elected officers for the coming year at its meeting held in the school auditorium, Wednesday at 3 p.m. They were as follows: Mrs. E. G. Courtney, president, who was re-elected; Mrs. Bertha Huffman, vice-president; Mrs. T. T. Tyler, secretary; Mrs. A. N. Robinson, treasurer. The summer round-up will be held the second week in May.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Dr. F. P. Rizzo, local physicial, who discussed the need for early diagnosis in cases of tuberculosis. Dr. Rizzo is a member of the parish medical society and chairman of the early diagnosis campaign of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association.

He stated that tuberculosis is still one of the major diseases and that up to 1900, it was the cause of most of the deaths. Today it has been superceded by cancer and heart disease. He attributed the increase of heart maladies to the rapid pace at which we are living.

Years ago many people are believed to have died of cancer and it was known that this was the cause of death.

Dr. Rizzo said that it is important that tuberculosis be diagnosed in its earliest stage when it is more easily cured. He said that eight out of 10 cases are far advanced before they are brought to a physician's attention. In the United States, he said, there are 700,000 active cases of tuberculosis, which is especially bad when it is realized that this is largely a preventable disease.

He said that the chief treatment required is to give rest to the lungs. Of course, he said, other parts of the body are affected, but that it is generally thought of as a lung disease.

One treatment is to collapse the lung, which gives it complete rest. This is accomplished in various ways. Until recently the tubercular patient was confined to bed for two or three years. Now it is safe to say that with modern treatment, the patient can be up and about his work in three to six months.

Dr. Rizzo explained various means by which a patient is tested for tuberculosis. One is the tuberculin test of the skin. Then the X-ray is used. The X-ray will diagnose the case in its earliest stages.

The doctor also stated that on May 1, there will be a clinic on wheels where people can be examined free for tuberculosis. In some older children the following symptoms of the disease develop: (a) Lack of appetite. (b) Easily fatigued. (c) Frequent coughing fits. (d) Frequent clearing of the throat.

Most patients of the disease are young, between ages of 20 and 40. Young girls are more apt to have the disease than are boys, and men between the ages of 30 and 50 years.

If one is fearful of having the disease he should see a physician at once, he stated. Persons with low income are more often discovered to have the disease because of insufficient money for proper rest, clothing, food and a good home. The speaker said that it is a duty for those persons in the higher financial groups to help others less fortunate.

A business session was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. Courtney, and reports were submitted and approved. The election of officers was held at the close of the meeting.

During the exchange of vows, Mr. King sang "The Matrimonial Hymn," and the wedding march from Mendelssohn was played for the recessional.

The matron of honor, Mrs. A. R. Williams, of Los Angeles, and the maid of honor, Miss Valerie McIntosh, were becomingly gowned in delphinium blue and white organza, carrying flower fans of white stock, pink sweet peas and blue delphiniums.

Preceding the bride was the little flower girl, Joanna Lipp, wearing a dainty white dotted Swiss frock and strewing rose petals from a long-handled basket. David Douglas McIntosh, Jr., ring bearer, wore a white linen suit and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Marvin Lipp served as groomsman and David McIntosh served his brother as best man.

The bride walked down the white-carpeted aisle on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore an exquisite wedding gown of white marquisette over white taffeta and carried a white ivory prayer book from which fell a cascade of narrow white satin ribbons and orchids.

Following the ceremony, the bride changed her wedding raiment for a handsome tailleur and left with Mr. McIntosh for a honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in Oak Grove.

Several Weddings Are Announced To Take Place During Month Of June

Daughter Of Commissioner Of Agriculture Wilson And Mrs. Wilson Marries At Amite

June weddings begin to loom up on the not far distant horizon. Several announcements have already been made of approaching weddings to take place during the "month of brides," and others will be announced next month.

Of interest today is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. J. Blaine Brown of Calhoun of the engagement and approaching marriage of their niece, Miss Doris Brown, to Mr. Hal T. Fowlkes, of Amory, Miss., son of Mrs. J. T. Fowlkes and the late Mrs. Fowlkes.

The wedding will take place early in June.

Weddings have been engaging the interest of society throughout the month of April. Several brilliant events have taken place in nearby communities, including that of Miss Eloise Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Wilson of Baton Rouge, and Mr. Frederick G. Hochenedel, Jr., of Baton Rouge which took place in Amite, La., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Jr., on the thirteenth of April.

The ceremony took place before a white improvised altar in the spacious parlor. White larkspur and Ascension lilies banked the altar for which ferns and palms were the background. Just before the ceremony, while soft music was heard, candles were lighted in the tall seven-branched candelabra at either side.

The bride's brother, Justin Wilson of Crowley sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Richard M. Cooter, sang "Oh Promise Me." The wedding music was played by Mrs. Fitzhugh Lewis of Hammond who rendered the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin for the entrance of the bridal party. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was heard after the ceremony performed by Rev. Dr. Tate Young, rector of Grace Episcopal church in Hammond.

The stairway, descended by the bride and her attendants, was picturesquely arranged with white larkspur and lilies and the rail was entwined with Southern smilax. Mrs. Kemp was her matron of honor and Helen Kirk was maid of honor. The bride's niece, Patricia Wilson of Crowley, daughter of the Justin Wilsons, was flower girl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant and lovely in a gown of white net with a white lace, bodice and full skirt of cloud-like net. There was a square neckline and puffed sleeves. Bands of the lace were set into the skirt at intervals.

Over this fell a circular veil of illusion, finger-tip length, which was worn over the face until after the ceremony. A cornet of orange blossoms held the veil. She wore an exquisite locket, a miniature of her mother, hand-painted on porcelain and framed in gold. She carried, along with her bridal bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley, her great grandmother's wedding handkerchief.

White net gowns for the two attendants also, and these were fashioned with very full skirts, with tight-fitting bodices having square necklines and puffed sleeves. The only note of color at the ceremony was introduced in their bouquets of pastel-hand larkspur, sweet peas, stock, and roses.

The flower girl wore white taffeta in old-fashioned effect and carried a round bouquet of spring flowers.

Mr. Hochenedel had as best man his brother, Mr. A. Muller Hochenedel, and as groomsman the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Guy C. Garrison.

In the dining room white larkspur, sweet peas, and Ascension lilies blossomed in profusion. The bride's table was arranged in white and silver, with an imported lace cloth and the five-tiered wedding cake as the centerpiece. This was encircled by sprays of valley lilies and fern, and the table was lighted with white tapers in silver candlesticks.

At the reception the bride's mother, who was wearing a gown of rose beige lace with corsage of sweet peas. The bridegroom's mother was wearing lapis blue lace and a similar corsage.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a smart sports [illegible] with [illegible] and gloves of the same [illegible]. Her slippers and bag were [illegible].

The bride attended the Louisiana State university and was a pledge of the Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Hochenedel, one of the younger business men of Baton Rouge, is a graduate of the university and a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Until his marriage he was a member of the Baton Rouge Southern club, bachelor organization.

Woodwardia ferns formed a lush, green background for sheaves of calla lilies banking the chancel rail. An aisle leading to the altar was formed by tall, seven-branched candelabra supporting myriad cathedral tapers.

During the pre-nuptial concert the candles were lighted by Earl and Howell Brice Evans, brothers of the bride. Mrs. Walter Woods, pianist, and Mr. Louis Westerburg, violinist, played "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms," and accompanied Mrs. Elgar Lowry, who sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Dancing Party Is Given

The long winter is practically over insofar as dance students are concerned. Feet tapping the boards hint of annual recitals marking the end of the season and summer vacation just ahead.

Clarice and Goldah Roan's dance studio is a veritable bee-hive of activity these days with dances, created by these talented danseuses, practiced daily by pupils who will appear in the recital next month.

A dancing party in the studio last week broke the monotony of daily practice. Courtesies were extended by the Misses Roan, assisted by Mrs. Harry Williams and Mrs. Steele Williams.

A five-piece orchestra supplied swing music throughout the evening. Several talented pupils gave an exhibition of their skill in the clever show presented during the evening.

During an intermission iced fruit frappe and confections were served the guests, members of the ballroom class. They were Jerry Juneman, Margaret Vaughan, Dorothy Davis, Gray Wade, "Mug" Curry, Edward New, Evelyn Wade, "Scotty" Young, Dottie Sue Young, Ann Mallet, Jean Spencer, Roye Whittington, Jean Kennedy, Roye Stewart, Wilbur Jean Rogers, Hubert Weatherly, Louis Haynes, Mavis Hernandez, Gladys Darden, Emery Welch, Penelope Darden, Irene Rainbolt, Eugene Darden, Clara Bell Hair, L. Department Club Is Organized At Ruston

Step One Of Most Important Taken By Women's Group In This Section In Years

The organization of a department club in Ruston of recent date marks one of the most important events in club circles in many years.

Motivated by a desire for specialized study, and a desire to include women of the parish and surrounding territory who would profit by such an organization, club leaders called an organization meeting when 157 women listened to the proposed constitution and by-laws and signed the constitution for charter membership. Since the organization meeting, by popular demand, initial memberships will be available until June 1.

Earlier in the year, Mrs. Addison Thompson, president of the Ruston Federation of Women's clubs, presented a group from the Woman's Department club of Shreveport, including Mrs. A. J. Thomas, Dr. Katherine French, Mrs. John Shuttleworth, Mrs. Howell Morgan, Mrs. J. P. Hird, and Miss Hattie Schuster, who explained the machinery of a department club, its benefits to the individual, and its influence in the community. The visit of the Shreveport group was of much significance and had a definite influence upon the organization.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Addison Thompson; first vice-president, Mrs. Savory M. Lewis; second vice-president, Mrs. Raymond Heard; recording secretary, Mrs. Hale Shadow; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clyde C. Johnston; treasurer, Mrs. Truett L. Scarborough; auditor, Mrs. Edward Barrett; parliamentarian, Mrs. H. L. Hughes; reporter, Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Jr.

Directors: Mrs. Paul M. Davis, Mrs. Glen Laskey, Mrs. T. L. James, Jr., Mrs. P. K. Smith, Mrs. J. R. Fowler, Mrs. Zollie J. Meadows, Mrs. C. L. Madden of Choudrant, Mrs. Allen Barksdale and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong.

Members of executive committee: Mrs. Addison Thompson, Mrs. Truett L. Scarborough, Mrs. T. L. James, Jr., Mrs. Wyatt Hadley and Mrs. J. H. Barnes.

Mrs. Paul M. Davis had been named chairman of American home; Mrs. H. J. Y. Moss, chairman of public affairs; Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, chairman of fine arts; Mrs. Frank Monroe, chairman of child study; Mrs. Robert Upchurch, chairman of Little Theater.

The following have been named chairmen of committees: Mrs. Edward Barrett, auditing; Mrs. T. L. James, Jr., finance; Mrs. H. L. Hughes, program and lecture; Mrs. E. E. Williams, hospitality; Mrs. Raymond Heard, membership; Mrs. C. E. Faulk, Jr., publicity.

A meeting of the department club in May will conclude the affairs of the new organization for the season, the departments beginning regular programs next October.

Welcome Branch Book Club Meets

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, assisted by Mrs. Henson Coon, entertained with charming informality members of Welcome Branch Book club Wednesday afternoon.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. R. White, a brief business session was presided over by Mrs. G. D. Holland. The club collect was read in unison.

Mrs. Lewis Langford read the report of last meeting and communications. Splendid reports were given on the Fifth district meeting of Federated clubs, held in Oak Ridge, by Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. H. V. C. Collins and Mrs. Zell Smith.

Mrs. Paul H. Herron reviewed in a gay and descriptive manner life as it is lived in the great southwest. She said, in part:

"Go back with me to the early part of the year of 1912. I have a vague recollection of whistles blowing, bells ringing, bands playing and general rejoicing from all sides, for New Mexico had become a state.

"Coming as we did from the agricultural section of Missouri, the dryness but unexpected loveliness of the place was soon home to us. In fact, Roswell, the town often referred to as a typical oasis, was all the home I knew until I went away to school. Roswell is situated in the Pecas valley about 65 miles from a range of the Rocky mountains. Some of the most gorgeous sunsets I have ever seen were there, with the sun going down in a blaze of color behind the mountains. Giant clouds make huge purple shadows on the ground and their shapes change constantly.

"It was a real occasion to go to the White mountains, to the Ruidoso, which means 'noisy water.' This is 7,000 feet elevation. We pass through the Mescolara Indian reservation and the Lincoln national forest. One sees on either side of the road native tepees or hogans which, with the beautiful mountain scenery, offer sights that are never forgotten. Leaving the resort, we go on up to Cloudcraft. It is noted for having a golf course at probably the highest altitude of any place in the world, 9,000 feet above sea level. The first tee is really a breath-taking shot into space. The Indians are fascinating to me. Near the pueblo at Taos, I saw the women washing clothes in a stream, pounding them with a board on a flat stone, saw them walking barefoot, carrying huge baskets on their heads, baking bread in their outdoor ovens and finally going up their ladders and drawing the ladder up after them as of old, to protect themselves from their enemies.

"Near Esponola, which is 30 miles from Santa Fe, I saw the remains of the cliff dwellers, the large communal house of Tyuonyi spread like a horse shoe on the floor of Frijoles canyon.

"Indians of the present day live in much the same manner as their ancestors. They farm, make pottery, baskets, silver, and worship the same spirits in prayer for rain.

"At Santa Fe the old governor's palace, erected in 1610, where Lew Wallace wrote his immortal 'Ben Hur,' is now a museum filled with historical and archaeological relics.

"The oldest mission in America, the church of San Miguel, is still standing. The business district is built around a plaza or square, most of the buildings are aclohe, sun-dried brick.

"About 100 miles from Roswell on down the valley we prepare to visit the Carlsbad caverns. As we went down it soon became too dark to see without lanterns. I understand it is all electrically lighted now."

Mrs. J. D. Petty, in reviewing the book "Starry Adventure," by Mary Austin, said:

"Mary Austin has set this story of a boy's childhood and youth against a brilliant and colorful New Mexican background.

"Gard Sitwell had been, as far back as he could remember, completely under the spell of the beauty of his surroundings—of the sunsets behind the Sangre de Cristo mountains, of the abnormally clear and starry summer nights of New Mexico. Sometimes this beauty produced in him a kind of superstitious awe, at other times the feeling approached religious exaltation."

A charming climax to the afternoon's program was a group of songs, "O Fair New Mexico," by Elizabeth Garrett, and "Giannina Mia" from "The Firefly," by Rudolf Friml, rendered by Mrs. J. Norman Coon with Mrs. E. E. Lawson, piano accompanist.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served a confectionery course to the members present: Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. H. V. C. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. T. Eubanks, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. G. D. Holland, Mrs. Marvyn Johnson, Mrs. Lewis Langford, Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Harry A. Moore, Mrs. B. M. Murphy, Mrs. Stewart Neff, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. F. H. Peterson, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. Joe Ramey, Mrs. F. Dean Selig, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Charles Swain, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. H. E. Tahin, Mrs. Joseph A. Winkler, Jr., Mrs. C. A. Young and Mrs. M. L. Johnson.

Guests present were: Miss Madge Simmons, Mrs. Clarenct Long of Maryland, mother of Mrs. E. E. Lawson, Mrs. Birdie Holmes of Memphis, mother of Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. A. B. Carroll and Mrs. C. D. Greet of Oak Ridge and Mrs. H. H. Harkness.

Federated Clubs Meet At Oak Grove

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of Fifth district, L. F. W. C., presided over the annual convention held in Oak Grove on April 15 with the 23 clubs participating. The presence of Mrs. C. E. Hester, state president, added inspiration to the day's program. Mrs. E. K. Boney, past state president, was also present on this occasion.

The meeting was opened with the assembly singing the national anthem, led by Mr. C. Solon King. The invocation was given by Rev. E. B. Emmerich, pastor of Oak Grove Methodist church. Greetings from the hostess clubs, Woman's Department club and Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove and the Woman's club of Epps, was given by Mrs. A. S. Mayo, president of the Woman's Department club. Response was given by Mrs. Harold Deloney, president of the Junior Gavel club, Monroe.

Mrs. W. McG. Dollarhide of Oak Grove introduced the guest speaker for the morning session, Mr. H. L. McKnight of Ruston, who spoke on "Conservation of Wild Life in Louisiana." He said in part:

"Balancing the budget of the United States treasury is not the budget that needs balancing; it is the economic budget. We have not only wasted our soil but we have wasted our wild life. Twenty-five years ago the last passenger pigeons became exterminated. The ducks are not quite gone yet. Through quail hatcheries, the state hopes to re-stock the quail."

In closing, Mr. McKnight said we can wreck in a day or two what it takes years to build up. In united effort, he said, there is strength. He asked if one were a builder of a wrecker.

During the luncheon hour Mrs. A. D. Tisdale made the awards to the two outstanding clubs of the Fifth district. The outstanding club in the general division was the Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe, Mrs. J. R. White, president. The outstanding club in the cultural division was the Junior Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove, Mrs. Maydie Everett, president. Mrs. Tisdale presented each club with a helpful club women's book, "The Business of Being a Club Woman" by Alice Ames Winter.

Music was furnished and enjoyed during the luncheon hour by prominent Oak Grove musicians.

The highlight of the afternoon session was the address of the state president of L. F. W. C., Mrs. C. E. Hester, who spoke on the subject, "Betterment of Life in Louisiana," urging that club programs be built around this theme for she said this was the ultimate goal for club women. She urged the women to consider resolutions carefully before voting on them; closing with the thought that the federation to which they belonged reached around the world and joined hands with millions of other club women.

An interesting feature of this convention was the display of handiwork and handcraft done under the supervision of adult education with Mrs. Lillian L. O'Connell. Mrs. O'Connell said this work is being carried on in three parishes: West Carroll, East Carroll, and Madison. She also stated that through this work adult education is creating and stimulating a fuller life for man, woman, and child. Men are taught to solve their farm problems and cope intelligently with life situations. Small croton sacks are turned into beautiful patchwork quilts. Instead of just teaching Louisiana how to read and write, Louisiana is being taught how to utilize resources.

Mrs. J. R. White, chairman of press and publicity for Fifth district, presented the awards to the winners in the news writing contest, sponsored in Fifth district by the Monroe News-Star—World Publishing company. First place went to Mrs. B. H. Talbot, Ruston; second place to Mrs. H. V. Mangham, Rayville; third place to Mrs. Addison Thompson, Ruston.

More Than 400 Members And Guests Attend Parent-Teacher Banquet Friday

Mrs. Paul Blanchard Presides At Occasion

Dean C. C. Colvert Serves As Toastmaster; Chief Address Given By Dr. Charles Hyneman

Over 400 members and guests of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association attended the annual banquet at the Hotel Frances, Cherokee terrace, Friday evening, with Mrs. Paul Blanchard, Baton Rouge, state president, presiding and Dean C. C. Colvert, Northeast Center, officiating as toastmaster.

The program was opened by the singing of "America" by the assembly, directed by Mrs. G. E. Buddeke, Shreveport, state chairman of music. Miss Mack Fay Hammons was the accompanist.

Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, gave the invocation, which was followed by the presentation of the board members by Mrs. Blanchard.

Featuring the evening's program was the presentation of a life membership in the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, to Miss Myrtle Rodgers, for outstanding work in the organization and for her loyal services as general chairman of the state convention.

An invitation to meet in Lake Charles in 1940 was extended by Mrs. Eric Gebsen, which was accepted at the post-convention board meeting.

Mrs. Warren Mabrey, Cape Girardeau, Mo., secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, gave the message from the National Congress. According to Mrs. Mabrey, the Parent-Teacher association, has 2,250,000 members in the United States and has accomplished much in parent-education, in the correction of defects in pre-school children and in safety measures.

Dr. Charles Hyneman, of the department of political science, L. S. U., delivered an address with the theme, "Is Democracy Worth Saving?"

Dr. Hyneman said, in part:

"Before we can answer the question "Is Democracy Worth Saving?" we must come to an agreement on the three following points:

"First, we must find out what democracy is; second, we must decide that we want it; third, we must know the price we will have to pay for it.

"Democracy is simply government according to the consent of the governed, who must be aware of what is taking place and know that what they want is being done.

"There are many," according to Dr. Hyneman, "who do not want democracy, but will not come out and admit it. To say that they value it, does not guarantee that they do.

"American people are now facing this question for the first time since the Revolution. We in America have had constantly a very genuine prosperity. Unlike those days, we do not have to go out in the streets and fight, but we are at the point where we do not get out of our economic difficulty so easily. If there comes a time when democracy is on the verge of going down, we will have to choose between it and capitalism.

"Depressions are more serious than they have ever been before, because we have been made more capable of seeing what is going on. Several processes of solution have been offered, but in each there is the argument of whether or not the different classes of people will accept these steps.

"Suggested remedies have been to remove the tax, which handicaps the American businessman, which, of course, those in power cannot see. To get out of this, the businessman must voluntarily lower prices and raise wages, which he cannot do. Another suggestion, calling for much argument, is to take the power away from those in power."

Dr. Hyneman concluded his remarks by advocating the education of the people in intelligent voting, increasing the enthusiasm of women through organization and the wholehearted support of our congressmen.

Central Grammar

The Central Grammar school P.-T. A. elected officers for the coming year at its meeting held in the school auditorium, Wednesday at 3 p.m. They were as follows: Mrs. E. G. Courtney, president, who was re-elected; Mrs. Bertha Huffman, vice-president; Mrs. T. T. Tyler, secretary; Mrs. A. N. Robinson, treasurer. The summer round-up will be held the second week in May.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Dr. F. P. Rizzo, local physicial, who discussed the need for early diagnosis in cases of tuberculosis. Dr. Rizzo is a member of the parish medical society and chairman of the early diagnosis campaign of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association.

He stated that tuberculosis is still one of the major diseases and that up to 1900, it was the cause of most of the deaths. Today it has been superceded by cancer and heart disease. He attributed the increase of heart maladies to the rapid pace at which we are living.

Years ago many people are believed to have died of cancer and it was known that this was the cause of death.

Dr. Rizzo said that it is important that tuberculosis be diagnosed in its earliest stage when it is more easily cured. He said that eight out of 10 cases are far advanced before they are brought to a physician's attention. In the United States, he said, there are 700,000 active cases of tuberculosis, which is especially bad when it is realized that this is largely a preventable disease.

He said that the chief treatment required is to give rest to the lungs. Of course, he said, other parts of the body are affected, but that it is generally thought of as a lung disease.

One treatment is to collapse the lung, which gives it complete rest. This is accomplished in various ways. Until recently the tubercular patient was confined to bed for two or three years. Now it is safe to say that with modern treatment, the patient can be up and about his work in three to six months.

Dr. Rizzo explained various means by which a patient is tested for tuberculosis. One is the tuberculin test of the skin. Then the X-ray is used. The X-ray will diagnose the case in its earliest stages.

The doctor also stated that on May 1, there will be a clinic on wheels where people can be examined free for tuberculosis. In some older children the following symptoms of the disease develop: (a) Lack of appetite (b) Easily fatigued. (c) Frequent coughing fits. (d) Frequent clearing of the throat.

Most patients of the disease are young, between ages of 20 and 40. Young girls are more apt to have the disease than are boys, and men between the ages of 30 and 50 years.

If one is fearful of having the disease he should see a physician at once, he stated. Persons with low income are more often discovered to have the disease because of insufficient money for proper rest, clothing, food and a good home. The speaker said that it is a duty for those persons in the higher financial groups to help others less fortunate.

A business session was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. Courtney and reports were submitted and approved. The election of officers was held at the close of the meeting.

Department Club Is Organized At Ruston

Step One Of Most Important Taken By Women's Group In This Section In Years

The organization of a department club in Ruston of recent date marks one of the most important events in club circles in many years.

Motivated by a desire for specialized study, and a desire to include women of the parish and surrounding territory who would profit by such an organization, club leaders called an organization meeting when 137 women listened to the proposed constitution and by-laws and signed the constitution for charter membership. Since the organization meeting, by popular demand, initial memberships will be available until June 1.

Earlier in the year, Mrs. Addison Thompson, president of the Ruston Federation of Women's clubs, presented a group from the Woman's Department club of Shreveport, including Mrs. A. J. Thomas, Dr. Katherine French, Mrs. John Shuttleworth, Mrs. Howell Morgan, Mrs. J. P. Hurd, and Miss Hattie Schuster, who explained the machinery of a department club, its benefits to the individual, and its influence in the community. The visit of the Shreveport group was of much significance and had a definite influence upon the organization.

Members of [illegible] committee: Mrs. Addison Thompson, Mrs. Truett L. Scarborough, Mrs. T. L. James, Jr., Mrs. Wyatt H[illegible] and Mrs. J. H. Barnes.

Mrs. Paul M. Davis had been named chairman of American home; Mrs. H. J. Y. Moss, chairman of public affairs; Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, chairman of fine arts; Mrs. Frank Monroe, chairman of child study; Mrs. Robert Upchurch, chairman of Little Theater.

Welcome Branch Book Club Meets

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, assisted by Mrs. Henson Coon, entertained with charming informality members of Welcome Branch Book club Wednesday afternoon.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. R. White, a brief business session was presided over by Mrs. G. D. Holland. The club collect was read in unison.

Mrs. Paul H. Herron reviewed in a gay and descriptive manner life as it is lived in the great southwest. She said, in part:

"Go back with me to the early part of the year of 1912. I have a vague recollection of whistles blowing, bells ringing, bands playing and general rejoicing from all sides, for New Mexico had become a state.

"Coming as we did from the agricultural section of Missouri, the dryness but unexpected loveliness of the place was soon home to us. In fact, Roswell, the town often referred to as a typical oasis, was all the home I knew until I went away to school. Roswell is situated in the Pecas valley about 65 miles from a range of the Rocky mountains. Some of the most gorgeous sunsets I have ever seen were there, with the sun going down in a blaze of color behind the mountains. Giant clouds make huge purple shadows on the ground and their shapes change constantly.

"It was a real occasion to go to the White mountains, to the Ruidoso, which means 'noisy water.' This is 7,000 feet elevation. We pass through the Mescalero Indian reservation and the Lincoln national forest. One sees on either side of the road native tepees or hogans which, with the beautiful mountain scenery, offer sights that are never forgotten. Leaving the resort, we go on up to Cloudcroft. It is noted for having a golf course at probably the highest altitude of any place in the world, 9,000 feet above sea level. The first tee is really a breath-taking shot into space. The Indians are fascinating to me. Near the pueblo at Taos, I saw the women washing clothes in a stream, pounding them with a board on a flat stone, saw them walking barefoot, carrying huge baskets on their heads, baking bread in their outdoor ovens and finally going up their ladders and drawing the ladder up after them as of old, to protect themselves from their enemies.

"Near Esponola, which is 30 miles from Santa Fe, I saw the remains of the cliff dwellers, the large communal house of Tyuonyi spread like a horse shoe on the floor of Frijoles canyon.

"Indians of the present day live in much the same manner as their ancestors. They farm, make pottery, baskets, silver, and worship the same spirits in prayer for rain.

"At Santa Fe the old governor's palace, erected in 1610, where Lew Wallace wrote his immortal 'Ben Hur,' is now a museum filled with historical and archaeological relics.

"The oldest mission in America, the church of San Miguel, is still standing. The business district is built around a plaza or square, most of the buildings are adobe, sun-dried brick.

"About 100 miles from Roswell on down the valley we prepare to visit the Carlsbad caverns. As we went down it soon became too dark to see without lanterns. I understand it is all electrically lighted now."

Mrs. J. D. Petty, in reviewing the book "Starry Adventure," by Mary Austin, said:

"Mary Austin has set this story of a boy's childhood and youth against a brilliant and colorful New Mexican background.

"Gard Sitwell had been, as far back as he could remember, completely under the spell of the beauty of his surroundings—of the sunsets behind the Sangre de Cristo mountains, of the abnormally clear and starry summer nights of New Mexico. Sometimes this beauty produced in him a kind of superstitious awe, at other times the feeling approached religious exaltation."

A charming climax to the afternoon's program was a group of songs, "O Fair New Mexico," by Elizabeth Garrett, and "Giannina Mia" from "The Firefly," by Rudolf Friml, rendered by Mrs. J. Norman Coon with Mrs. E. E. Lawson, piano accompanist.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served a confectionery course to the members present: Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. H. V. C. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. C. H. Dunaway, Mrs. J. T. Eubanks, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. M. R. Hershey, Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. G. D. Federated Clubs Meet At Oak Grove

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, president of Fifth district, L. F. W. C., presided over the annual convention held in Oak Grove on April 15 with the 23 clubs participating. The presence of Mrs. C. E. Hester, state president, added inspiration to the day's program. Mrs. E. K. Boney, past state president, was also present on this occasion.

The meeting was opened with the assembly singing the national anthem, led by Mr. C. Solon King. The invocation was given by Rev. E. B. Emmerich, pastor of Oak Grove Methodist church. Greetings from the hostess clubs, Woman's Department club and Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove and the Woman's club of Epps, was given by Mrs. A. S. Mayo, president of the Woman's Department club. Response was given by Mrs. Harold Deloney, president of the Junior Gavel club, Monroe.

Mrs. W. McG. Dollarhide of Oak Grove introduced the guest speaker for the morning session, Mr. H. L. McKnight of Ruston, who spoke on "Conservation of Wild Life in Louisiana." He said in part:

"Balancing the budget of the United States treasury is not the budget that needs balancing; it is the economic budget. We have not only wasted our soil but we have wasted our wild life. Twenty-five years ago the last passenger pigeons became exterminated. The ducks are not quite gone yet. Through quail hatcheries, the state hopes to re-stock the quail."

In closing, Mr. McKnight said we can wreck in a day or two what it takes years to build up. In united effort, he said, there is strength. He asked if one were a builder or a wrecker.

During the luncheon hour Mrs. A. D. Tisdale made the awards to the two outstanding clubs of the Fifth district. The outstanding club in the general division was the Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe, Mrs. J. R. White, president. The outstanding club in the cultural division was the Junior Cosmopolitan club of Oak Grove, Mrs. Maydie Everett, president. Mrs. Tisdale presented each club with a helpful club women's book, "The Business of Being a Club Woman" by Alice Ames Winter.

Music was furnished and enjoyed during the luncheon hour by prominent Oak Grove musicians.

The highlight of the afternoon session was the address of the state president of L. F. W. C., Mrs. C. E. Hester, who spoke on the subject, "Betterment of Life in Louisiana," urging that club programs be built around this theme for she said this was the ultimate goal for club women. She urged the women to consider resolutions carefully before voting on them; closing with the thought that the federation to which they belonged reached around the world and joined hands with millions of other club women.

An interesting feature of this convention was the display of handiwork and handcraft done under the supervision of adult education with Mrs. Lillian L. O'Connell. Mrs. O'Connell said this work is being carried on in three parishes: West Carroll, East Carroll, and Madison. She also stated that through this work adult education is creating and stimulating a fuller life for man, woman, and child. Men are taught to solve their farm problems and cope intelligently with life situations. Small croton sacks are turned into beautiful patchwork quilts. Instead of just teaching Louisiana how to read and write, Louisiana is being taught how to utilize resources.

Mrs. J. R. White, chairman of press and publicity for Fifth district, presented the awards to the winners in the news writing contest, sponsored in Fifth district by the Monroe News-Star—World Publishing company. 'Made For Each Other' To Open At Paramount Today

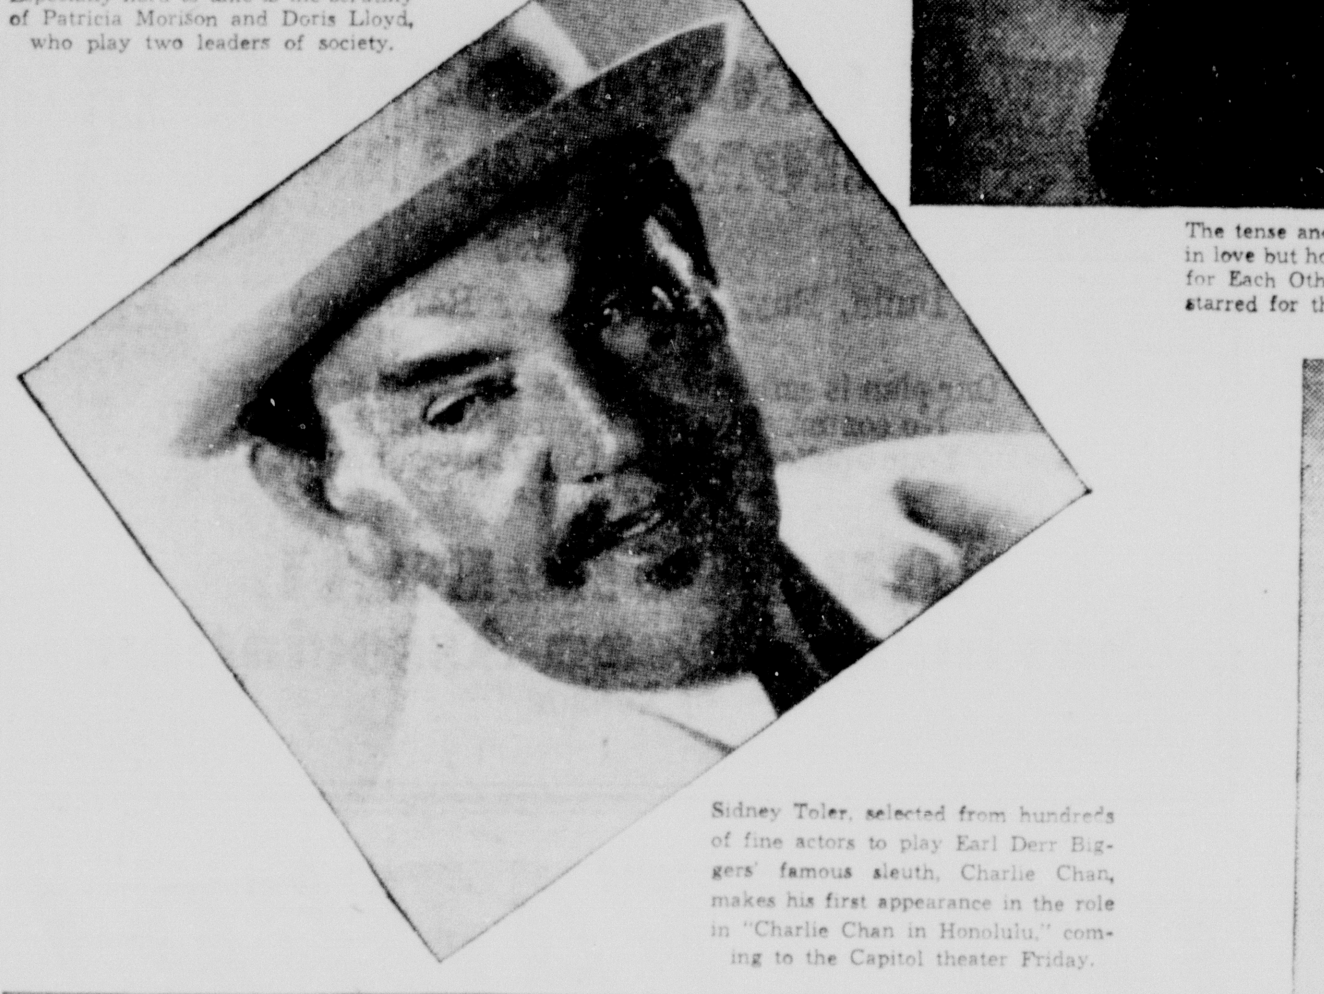
With the fate of his native Missouri on his shoulders, Bob Burns has an uneasy time of it in London in his new picture, "I'm From Missouri," the midnight show attraction playing next Saturday at the Paramount theater. Especially hard to take is the scrutiny of Patricia Morison and Doris Lloyd, who play two leaders of society.

The tense and thrilling story of Jane and John Mason, an average, modern-day couple, deeply in love but hounded by opposing economic conditions, is unfolded in the new film drama, "Made for Each Other," which opens a three-day engagement today at the Paramount theater. Co-starred for the first time, and as a romantic team, Carole Lombard and James Stewart play principal roles.

It's just a pause in the whirlwind action of Paramount's "Ambush" which plays Tuesday at the Capitol theater, for Gladys Swarthout and Lloyd Nolan. They're involved in a $98,000 robbery, trapped by bank bandits, chased by police in a cross-state pursuit before they meet in a romantic wind-up.



Sidney Toler, selected from hundreds of fine actors to play Earl Derr Biggers' famous sleuth, Charlie Chan, makes his first appearance in the role in "Charlie Chan in Honolulu," coming to the Capitol theater Friday.

Playing today and Monday at the Capitol theater "The Arizona Wildcat," starring Jane Withers with Leo Carrillo. And when Jane comes to town the bad men run for cover.

He's no angel, James Cagney, as "The Oklahoma Kid," follows up his award-winning performance in "Angels With Dirty Faces," with an equally great portrayal of one of the west's most famed characters. "The Oklahoma Kid" opens Thursday at the Paramount theater.

Lombard And Stewart In Film Drama

Gripping Story Of Modern-Day Couple Makes Thrilling Picture

LOVELY Carole Lombard and popular James Stewart make their debut as a new romantic team in David O. Selznick's "Made For Each Other," a modern-day drama of young married love which begins an engagement at the Paramount theater today. Supporting this new starring duo is a large and imposing cast of notable players headed by Lucile Watson, Charles Coburn, Ruth Weston, Donald Briggs and Eddie Quillan. The cast in its speaking parts alone numbers 86, at least 40 to 50 higher than the ordinary feature.

"Made For Each Other," filmed from the screen play written by Jo Swerling, is the poignant story of John and Jane Mason, a young married couple, whose counterparts may be found almost anywhere in the world, a couple struggling to overcome opposing economic forces, their lives complicated by the presence of a good-intentioned but misguided mother-in-law. All the joys, the tragedies, the problems, comedy and romance of young married love are woven into the story.

Miss Lombard, star of the screen's most successful comedies, plays the role of Jane Mason—providing fans with big news. For, this role is Miss Lombard's first serious and dramatic one in years, and she portrays a girl into whose life comes a balance of happiness and tragedy. With James Stewart, one of the screen's most popular heroes, playing Miss Lombard's lawyer-husband, Selznick introduces a new film starring team.

For a story of this scope, touching as it does upon many facets of life, it was necessary to gather one of the largest casts ever assembled at any studio and to hand-pick a director of the fame and caliber of John Cromwell who directed "Algiers," an early hit of the new film season. "Made For Each Other" is being released through United Artists.

Such a scholarship will pay the holder $30 a month for a period of nine months, or a total of $270. In addition, exemptions are made on payment of all fees except the diploma fee. This type of scholarship differs from other awards in that no work is required of the recipient.

C. M. T. C. ROLLS TO BE FILLED SHORTLY

Superintendent E. L. Neville of the city schools, who is Ouachita representative of the C. M. T. C., is urging that all youths who desire to enroll for the summer camp do so at once. All enrollments should be in during the present month, he said. Blanks can be had at his office. The quota for Ouachita parish is limited to 18 and it is expected that it will be filled shortly.

The government pays all necessary expenses and youth who enroll will have an enjoyable and profitable outing, the superintendent said.

NELLIE JO ADCOCK IS CO-EDITOR OF PAPER

Nellie Jo Adcock, former outstanding Northeast Center student, was recently named co-editor of the "Pedagogue," which is a six-page bulletin edited by students in the teachers' college of Louisiana State university.

The bulletin made its first appearance last week and will be published monthly.

Miss Adcock has been elected secretary-treasurer of the L. S. U. teachers college, commerce division, in recognition of her excellent work performed in the commerce school.

'The Arizona Wildcat' To Start Today

Jane Withers Heads Excellent Cast Of Feature Film At Capitol

JANE WITHERS brings her own brand of law and disorder to the west in "The Arizona Wildcat," 20th Century-Fox production which opens today at the Capitol theater, and it's Jane's brand of fun and excitement at its best. This is just about the best Jane Withers picture the popular young star had ever made.

Here is the type of picture Jane does best and the kind of role her fans are eager to see her in. What with gold missing from the mine, the stage coach stuck up, a whole town shot up and the sheriff in cahoots with the crooks, there is enough action for a dozen pictures—and Jane's right in the middle of it. There's so much going on in "The Arizona Wildcat" that you'll miss something if you even blink your eyes.

Leo Carrillo, one of the screen's great character actors, plays a prominent part in the film and gets as much enjoyment out of his role as the audience does. He is seen as Jane's adopted daddy and between them they make things hot for the bandits operating in the town.

The story opens with a stage coach, drawn by two runaway horses, racing up the main street of Mineville, Ariz. When it is brought to a halt, the bullet-riddled bodies of the driver and two guards offer mute testimony that the coach has been held up and robbed of the gold it was carrying. The sheriff (Henry Wilcoxon) rides off with his deputies in search of the criminals.

From that point on there isn't a minute's let-down. Jane and Carrillo get a hunch that the sheriff himself is in cahoots with the bandits, and of course they take it upon themselves to track down the culprits and restore law and order to the town.

In addition to brilliant performances by Jane Withers and Leo Carrillo, an excellent supporting cast, featuring Pauline Moore, William Henry, Henry Wilcoxon, Douglas Fowley and Etienne Girardot contributes splendid performances. The film was directed by Herbert I. Leeds with John Stone associate producer. The screen play by Barry Trivers and Jerry Cady was written from an original idea by Frances Hyland and Albert Ray.

STATE BOARD TO HOLD MEET HERE

Tax Appeals Group Will Meet Monday At Courthouse To Hear Cases

The state board of tax appeals will meet in Monroe Monday for the purpose of hearing cases involving a number of local citizens.

In attendance will be Victor Canfield of Lake Charles and J. B. Thornhill of Monroe, members of the board, Eugene A. Conway, Jr., secretary-clerk of the board, and Miss Mable Ferret, reporter.

The income tax division of the department of revenue will be represented by A. Leon Hebert, attorney, and Mr. P. A. Bartmess. Emile Bienvenu of New Orleans, chairman of the board, will not be present due to illness.

The meetings will be held at the parish courthouse.

This will be the second meeting held by the board in Monroe, the first having been held last fall.

The board of tax appeals was created in 1934 by act 21 of the state legislature for the purpose of hearing and deciding appeals made by income taxpayers from assessments of taxes made against them by the collector of revenue. It is in no way connected with the department of revenue, but is an independent agency of the executive branch of the state government. It is composed of three members appointed by the governor.

The principal office and domicile of the board are in the state capitol at Baton Rouge but frequent hearings are held at various cities in the state with a view to securing reasonable opportunity to taxpayers to appear before it with as little inconvenience and expense as is practicable.

Hearings before the board are open to the public and are conducted in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by it, and in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in courts of this state.

After a case has been decided by the board, either party, if dissatisfied with the decision, can appeal to the district court and from that court direct to the state supreme court.

The board handles nothing but matters relating to income taxes and since its organization cases have been filed with it involving approximately $300,000.

JACKSON PARISH MAKES PLANS FOR 5TH FOLK SCHOOL

JONESBORO, La., April 22.—(Special)—At a meeting of a group of interested citizens in the office of Superintendent W. H. McLauren of the Jackson parish schools, plans were perfected for the holding of the fifth Jackson Parish Folk school.

Miss Mary Mimms of the state university staff came to the parish five years ago and launched this worthwhile institution and since that date it has grown in interest and achievement.

Webb Swanner, principal of the Quitman High school, presided at the meeting. Heretofore, the school occupied three days of work, but owing to the fact that Miss Mimms has so much of her time given to other such schools over the state, it was thought best to reduce the term to only two days, July 5 and 6.

The meetings will be held in the high school building and each community is scheduled to furnish its part of the program in each of the eight departments of the school.

The following officers were chosen to serve at this time: president, Webb Swanner; secretary, Miss Mary Vernon; superintendent of the agricultural department, Neil Dry; assistant, Charley Moss; fine arts department, Miss Mary Elizabeth Abel; assistant, Miss Louise Gray; civic education, J. O. Tarbalet; assistant, J. W. DeMoss; home making department, Mrs. J. W. DeMoss; nursery department, Mrs. V. L. Brumfield; kindergarten department, Mrs. Leslie Roberts; intermediate department (boys), N. L. Ewing; intermediate department (girls), Mrs. Jack Fallon; junior department (boys), W. C. Rundell; junior department (girls), Mrs. J. R. Early; publicity chairman, C. T. Woodard, parish supervisor of schools.

'Made For Each Other' To Open At Paramount Today

With the [illegible] of his native Missouri on his shoulders, Bob Burns has an uneasy time of it in London in his new picture, "I'm From Missouri," the midnight show attraction playing next Saturday at the Paramount theater. Especially hard to take is the scrutiny of Patricia Morison and Doris Lloyd, who play two leaders of society.

The tense and thrilling story of Jane and John Mason, an average, modern-day couple, deeply in love but hounded by opposing economic conditions, is unfolded in the new film drama, "Made for Each Other," which opens a three-day engagement today at the Paramount theater. Co-starred for the first time, and as a romantic team, Carole Lombard and James Stewart play principal roles.

It's just a pause in the whirlwind action of Paramount's "Ambush" which plays Tuesday at the Capitol theater for Gladys Swarthout and Lloyd Nolan. They're involved in a $[illegible] robbery, trapped by bank bandits, chased by police in a cross-state pursuit before they meet in a romantic wind-up.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Paulette Goddard form a charming new romantic team in "The Young in Heart," playing Thursday at the Capitol theater. Janet Gaynor stars with them in the gay comedy romance.

'The Arizona Wildcat' To Start Today

Jane Withers Heads Excellent Cast Of Feature Film At Capitol

JANE WITHERS brings her own brand of law and disorder to the west in "The Arizona Wildcat," 20th Century-Fox production which opens today at the Capitol theater, and it's Jane's brand of fun and excitement at its best. This is just about the best Jane Withers picture the popular young star had ever made.

Here is the type of picture Jane does best and the kind of role her fans are eager to see her in. What with gold missing from the mine, the stage coach stuck up, a whole town shot up and the sheriff in cahoots with the crooks, there is enough action for a dozen pictures and Jane's right in the middle of it. There's so much going on in "The Arizona Wildcat" that you'll miss something if you even blink your eyes.

Leo Carrillo, one of the screen's great character actors, plays a prominent part in the film and gets as much enjoyment out of his role as the audience does. He is seen as Jane's adopted daddy and between them they make things hot for the bandits operating in the town.

The story opens with a stage coach, drawn by two runaway horses, racing up the main street of Mineville, Ariz. When it is brought to a halt, the bullet-riddled bodies of the driver and two guards offer mute testimony that the coach has been held up and robbed of the gold it was carrying. The sheriff (Henry Wilcoxon) rides off with his deputies in search of the criminals.

From that point on there isn't a minute's let-down. Jane and Carrillo get a hunch that the sheriff himself is in cahoots with the bandits, and of course they take it upon themselves to track down the culprits and restore law and order to the town.

In addition to brilliant performances by Jane Withers and Leo Carrillo, an excellent supporting cast, featuring Pauline Moore, William Henry, Henry Wilcoxon, Douglas Fowley and Etienne Girardot contributes splendid performances. The film was directed by Herbert I. Leeds with John Stone associate producer. The screen play by Barry Trivers and Jerry Cady was written from an original idea by Frances Hyland and Albert Ray.

ARCADIA YOUTH HEADS FRATERNITY AT TECH

RUSTON, La., April 22—(Special)—Maurice Ursery, senior from Arcadia, has been re-elected to lead the Theta Kappa Nu fraternity for the 1939-40 session. Ursery will graduate next year, it is said.

The newly-elected officers are: Ursery, archon; Phil Myers, Marion, Indiana, scribe; Billy Fourche, Shreveport, treasurer; Jack Terrill, Ruston, oracle; Phil Bridendahl, Alexandria, captain of the guard; James Russel, Monroe, chaplain; H. D. Jones, Jr., Arcadia, deputy archon; Billy Stodghill, Ruston, assistant treasurer.

Interfraternity council representatives for the fraternity will be Ursery, Terrill and Stodghill.

The fraternity will hold its annual dance on Saturday, May 13, Ursery has announced.

City streets, according to a recent survey, carry about 50 per cent of the nation's motor traffic, 33 per cent on state highways, and 17 per cent over country and township roads.

STATE BOARD TO HOLD MEET HERE

Tax Appeals Group Will Meet Monday At Courthouse To Hear Cases

The state board of tax appeals will meet in Monroe Monday for the purpose of hearing cases involving a number of local citizens.

In attendance will be Victor Canfield of Lake Charles and J. B. Thornhill of Monroe, members of the board, Eugene A. Conway, Jr., secretary-clerk of the board, and Miss Mable Ferret, reporter.

The income tax division of the department of revenue will be represented by A. Leon Hebert, attorney, and Mr. P. A. Bartmess. Emile Bienvenu of New Orleans, chairman of the board, will not be present due to illness.

The meetings will be held at the parish courthouse.

This will be the second meeting held by the board in Monroe, the first having been held last fall.

The board of tax appeals was created in 1934 by act 21 of the state legislature for the purpose of hearing and deciding appeals made by income taxpayers from assessments of taxes made against them by the collector of revenue. It is in no way connected with the department of revenue, but is an independent agency of the executive branch of the state government. It is composed of three members appointed by the governor.

The principal office and domicile of the board are in the state capitol at Baton Rouge but frequent hearings are held at various cities in the state with a view to securing reasonable opportunity to taxpayers to appear before it with as little inconvenience and expense as is practicable.

Hearings before the board are open to the public and are conducted in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by it, and in accordance with the rules of evidence applicable in courts of this state.

After a case has been decided by the board, either party, if dissatisfied with the decision, can appeal to the district court and from that court direct to the state supreme court.

The board handles nothing but matters relating to income taxes and since its organization cases have been filed with it involving approximately $300,000.

PLANS 'AGRI' DAY

Among those assisting in making plans for the first Agriculture day at the Louisiana Tech farm is Russell Burke (above) of Ruston, a junior in the department of agriculture. Burke is in charge of publicity for the occasion, which will be held on April 29.

JACKSON PARISH MAKES PLANS FOR 5TH FOLK SCHOOL

JONESBORO, La., April 22.—(Special)—At a meeting of a group of interested citizens in the office of Superintendent W. H. McLauren of the Jackson parish schools, plans were perfected for the holding of the fifth Jackson Parish Folk school.

Miss Mary Mimms of the state university staff came to the parish five years ago and launched this worthwhile institution and since that date it has grown in interest and achievement.

Webb Swanner, principal of the Quitman High school, presided at the meeting. Heretofore, the school occupied three days of work, but owing to the fact that Miss Mimms has so much of her time given to other such schools over the state, it was thought best to reduce the term to only two days, July 5 and 6.

The meetings will be held in the high school building and each community is scheduled to furnish its part of the program in each of the eight departments of the school.

The following officers were chosen to serve at this time: president, Webb Swanner; secretary, Miss Mary Vernon; superintendent of the agricultural department, Neil Dry; assistant, Charley Moss; fine arts department Miss Mary Elizabeth Abel; assistant, Miss Louise Gray; civic education, J. O. Tarbalet; assistant, J. W. DeMoss; home making department, Mrs. J. W. DeMoss; nursery department, Mrs. V. L. Brumfield; kindergarten department, Mrs. Leslie Roberts; intermediate department (boys), N. L. Ewing; intermediate department (girls), Mrs. Jack Fallon; junior department (boys), W. C. Rundell; junior department (girls), Mrs. J. R. Early; publicity chairman, C. T. Woodard, parish supervisor of schools.

BERNICE SENIORS WILL PRESENT PLAY TUESDAY

BERNICE, La., April 22.—(Special)—Seniors of Bernice High school will present their class play, "Baby Steps Out," Tuesday night at the high school auditorium.

DOSS TO PREACH

TALLULAH, La., April 22.—(Special)—Rev. W. L. Doss, presiding elder of the Monroe district of the Methodist church, will preach at the Methodist church here Sunday morning and in the afternoon will conduct the quarterly conference.

MUSIC PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN

The assembly program at Northeast Center Monday at 10:30 a.m. open to the public, will be musical in nature, stated W. R. Hammond, program chairman.

THROUGH THE TREES TARZAN FLEW WITH LINDA, WHILE THE DREADFUL LINGOOS SWEPT AROUND HIM.
HE TRIED TO FILTER THROUGH THE SWARM, AND HE HAD ALMOST SUCCEEDED WHEN ONE OF THE HALF-MEN DIVED RECKLESSLY UPON HIM AND TOPPLED HIM FROM A BOUGH.
AS HE FELL, TARZAN HUGGED LINDA CLOSE, TO SHIELD HER FROM THE SCRAPING BRANCHES.
WHEN THEY STRUCK THE GROUND, LINGOOS PILED UPON THEM AND TOOK THEM PRISONER.
AND NOW MARSADA EMERGED FROM THE FOREST, WHERE HE HAD HIDDEN DURING THE BATTLE.
"THESE ARE MY CREATURES," HE BOASTED, INDICATING THE LINGOOS, "AND THEY DO MY BIDDING."
IGNORING TARZAN, HE PUT AN ARM AROUND LINDA, AND GLOATED: "NOW YOU ARE UNDER MY COMMAND."
LINDA STRUGGLED, BUT THE RUFFIAN ONLY DREW HER CLOSER. A RARE ANGER ROSE IN THE HEART OF TARZAN.
HE WRENCHED LOOSE FROM HIS CAPTORS, CLUTCHED MARSADA, AND HURLED HIM TO THE GROUND.
BUT THE LINGOOS QUICKLY SEIZED HIM AGAIN.
MARSADA LOOKED UP AT LINDA AND SCOWLED: "YOUR APISH BOY FRIEND WON'T COME BETWEEN US AGAIN FOR SOON HE SHALL DIE!"
